Agriculture alive at two big fairs

Fun, food, and prizes at Solanco

By KENDACE BORRY

QUARRYVILLE - Solanco Community Fair opened to slightly cloudy skies that soon brightened as crowds of people attended and competed in the different contests this past week. A special highlight of the fair was the arrival and tour of Kent D. Shelhamer, Pa. Secretary of Agriculture, the evening of September 14.

Unrecognized by some of the wandering fair crowd, Shelhamer toured the grounds of the Quarryville fairgrounds, inspecting the exhibits and examining the livestock. After sampling the fair's offerings for supper, along with fair officials, Donald Trimble and James Kreider, Shelhamer visited every tent and building to be sure to see all the fair offered. Ending at the baseball field, where the Solanco Fair Olympics were in progress. Shelhamer briefly addressed the crowd, mainly mentioning the Lancaster County agriculture and its success.

In the farm crop division of the fair, Judge John Yokum, superintendent of the Penn State Research Center, Landisville, Pa. gave an estimate on crops after inspecting the entrees. He thought the corn quality is down this year with insect damage and drought and heat effects evident in the ears. The tips of the ears of corn were not filled out. Also the corn moisture seemed to be higher than last year.

Yokum also said the later cuttings of hay looked good and that he expects there to be a good crop of tobacco.

One highlight of the fair was a new addition to the competition—the Solanco

York Fair had 3500 animals

YORK - Nearly 3500 animals and countless entries of vegetables and fruits attracted visitors by the thousands to the York Fair, which concludes its activities today. The 9-day Fair was considered to be another big success, with capacity crowds touring the spacious grounds every day. Not even a few drops of rain, some chilly air, and an overcast sky took away from the competitive and festive mood of the big attraction.

This year's livestock entries numbered 1616. Poultry and small animals accounted for nearly 1800 more lively and noisy creatures.

In the Horticulture Building, pumpkins weighing up to 114 pounds amazed young and old visitors alike.

Thursday afternoon's visitors and participants of the York Fair had an opportunity to get a glimpse of the Commonwealth's Agriculture Secretary, Kent Shelhamer. He was accompanied by Executive Deputy Agriculture Secretary Neil Buss, recently appointed Deputy Secretary Frank Bertovich, and Don Lanius, vice president of the York Inter-State Fair.

Although it would be difficult to pick and list highlights of the many activities and events which were a part of this year's York Fair, one might make mention of the famous Clydesdales, which performed several times earlier during the week.

Results and features on many of the activities of the York Fair can be found in this week's issue of Lancaster Farming.

Loan rates raised, new wheat options explained

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The U.S. Department of Agriculture has raised the national loan rates for feed grains (barley, corn, oats, rye and sorghum). The increases are effective immediately.

Below are the new Pennsylvania loan rates applicable to 1977 crops:

Barley	$1.60 (Bushel)
Corn	2.19 (Bushel)
Oats	1.16 (Bushel)
Rye	1.78 (Bushel)
Sorghum	1.91 (Bushel)
Wheat	2.23 (Bushel)
Soybeans	3.43 (Bushel)

According to Acting Secretary of Agriculture John C. White, the action was taken in response to the "severe cost-price squeeze that is now adversely affecting many farmers." The raises are identical to those stipulated in the proposed 1977 farm bill currently before the Congress.

USDA's commodity loan program is administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) through its county offices. Producers who have already put their 1977-crop feed grain under loan can obtain an additional disbursement, based on the announced increase, by contacting their county ASCS office.

In related developments, the ASC offices are encouraging wheat farmers to carefully consider the 1978 Wheat Program options prior to completing 1978 planting of wheat.

The 1977 agriculture bill has not been passed by Congress or signed into law by the President, as of September 9, but is expected to become law soon. The 1978 Wheat Program is a part of the 1977 Farm Bill.

Briefly, the provisions of Dairy farmer named agriculture deputy

HARRISBURG - Frank Bertovich, of Bentleyville, Washington County, has been appointed Deputy Secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, it was announced Monday by Agriculture Secretary Kent D. Shelhamer.

Bertovich was sworn into office on September 6 by Secretary of the Commonwealth C. Delores Tucker at ceremonies in the Agriculture Building.

Shelhamer said that he is "extermely pleased" with the appointment of Bertovich, citing the new Deputy's experience in work with farmers and farm organizations.

"We have now completed the job of finding the right men to help lead the Department in coming years," Shelhamer said. "For the first time since I became Secretary, we are fully staffed and can get down to working together to meet the problems that are

Lancaster Grain

Friday, Sept. 16, 1977

These prices are made up of the average prices quoted by a number of participating area feed and grain concerns. It should be noted, however, that not every dealer or broker handles each commodity. All prices are per bushel except ear corn and soybean meal which are per ton.

The average prices quoted Friday, Sept. 9 are as follows:

	Bid+	Offered+
Ear corn	44.90	53.38
Shelled Corn	1.82	1.97
Barley	1.63	1.84
Oats
Local	1.20	1.40
Western	1.48	1.65
Wheat
Millers	2.16	2.34
Soybeans	4.75	——
Soybean Meal		194.50

+Bid is the price the dealer will buy from the farmer delivered to the mill. Offered is the price the dealer will sell for at his mill.

From calf to cow, we formulate feeds and feeding programs with your profit in mind.

Are you in the dairy business to stay?

Are you ready to devote an hour or so of your time planning for a more profitable future?

If your answer to both questions is yes, you owe it to yourself to read what we have to say.

Unlike many other feed companies, we develop custom feeding programs for each individual dairy.

It all starts with a Pennfield man reviewing your total operation with you. Your goals. Your records. The health and overall condition of your milking cows and young stock. Your management practices. Your roughage feeding program. And other factors that have an effect on your profit potential.

We also conduct laboratory analysis of the roughages you feed to determine their nutrient content.

With the aid of computers, we then design a balanced feeding program specifically tailored to your operation and goals—a program that can improve your profits by reducing expenses, increasing production, or both.

For example, while using a Pennfield customized feeding program, 30 herds this past year averaged 1,688 lbs. more milk and 64 lbs. more fat per cow than the previous year.

There is no cost—or obligation—for this unique service. But you must take the first step by writing or phoning us. Do it today.

THE OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC

SEPT. 19-25, 1977

Say goodbye to summer this week.

Fall begins Sept 22 at 10 30 P M Dan'l Boone headed west this week in 1773 First quarter of the moon Sept 20 Woodchucks hibernate now Average length of days for the week, 12 hours, 9 minutes Oklahoma land rush started Sept 22, 1891 If south wind prevails this week, autumn will be warm Joy and sorrow are next door neighbors

Ask the Old Farmer: In several family diaries dating back seventy or more years, mention is made several times of a person's receiving a "Philippine" gift Do you know what that could have been? E F, Shreveport, La
Sounds like a soldier's reference to an epidemic

Home Hints: To iron heavily starched pieces — such as crochet work that has a tendency to scorch easily — place them between two sheets of aluminum foil to iron You will not be bothered with the iron sticking, and it cuts ironing time in half

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECASTS

New England: Sunny, warm with scattered showers to start, then heavy rain and cold through Friday, showers south, fair north for week's end

Greater New York — New Jersey: Heavy rain and cool through Thursday, remainder of week sunny

Middle Atlantic Coastal: Rainy and mild through Wednesday, rest of week sunny

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: Rainy and warm through Thursday, mild with showers north for week's end

Florida: Rain throughout the week

Upstate N.Y. — Toronto & Montreal: Cloudy, rain and colder through Thursday, week's end clear and warm

Greater Ohio Valley: Warm with thundershowers through Tuesday, mild and clear at midweek, expect clear, hot weekend

ITHACO, Inc., the pioneer American company in the development of ultra-sonic instruments for use in the agricultural industry is proud to announce that it has appointed Jet-Age Swine Breeders as your area dealer for SCANOPROBE and SCANOPREG.

SCANOPREG is an automatic swine pregnancy tester that is simple to use. If the red light goes on, she is open. When the green light goes on and the horn sounds, she is pregnant. SCANOPREG helps you cull out feed wasting open sows and gilts. SCANOPREG helps detect breeding problems such as infertile boars.

SCANOPROBE is the multipurpose management tool also used for pregnancy testing plus much more. SCANOPROBE measures backfat and muscle depth, an important factor in selecting breeding stock. This is the ideal tool for selecting replacement gilts and boars.

SCANOPREG and SCANOPROBE have these features:
- Operates all day on one all-night charge.
- Impact resistant, tough, weatherproof case can be disinfected.
- Accessories include rechargeable battery, battery charger, oil bottle, concise easy-to-read operator's guide all in a handy carry case.
- Warranted free of any defects in material and workmanship for two years.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

BY DIETER KRIEG, EDITOR

It's a fair time of year

People who live in towns and cities often think of a fair as a place with rides, nightly shows, and an otherwise carnival atmosphere Little do they realize that it was the farming community that gave birth to the country fair. While it's true that agriculture has been pretty much displaced at many fairs, it's still the main attraction at many others. And that's what it's all about as far as the farmer is concerned.

Fairs give the farmer a chance to show his produce, handiwork and breeding stock Fairs give him a chance to compete with his neighbor while simultaneously seeing what everyone else has and vice versa It's been going on for years

Equipment dealers and other agribusinesses participate in order to make a good impression and a possbile future sale. Like the farmer, they want to show off their wares. Farmers take it all in, knowing that it is all an important and mutually beneficial part of the program

Not to be forgotten are the opportunities for fellowship Oftentimes the country fair is the only place two people meet in a year's time. Old friendships are renewed and new ones established. The cycle has been going on through generations It's a beautiful part of life on the farm and country fairs

Depending on whether you're preparing an animal for the all important steps through the show ring, or strolling leisurely through the fairgrounds, the fair is both tense with excitement and nervous anticipation as well as carefree and relaxing Whatever the case, it's enjoyable Hectic at times, but nevertheless enjoyable

Fairs are a part of lates Summer and early Fall And despite the fact that rain occasionally disrupts some of the activities, one normally associates fairs with perfect Autumn days. Blue skies, with pillowy clouds scattered about and radiant sunshine all around is the usuall "fair" weather. Days at the fair are usually crystal clear since gently breezes swept away the haziness of mid-Summer. At least that's how we most often remember them. That too is part of the pleasantry of the country fair.

I congratulate all those who annually undertake the responsibilities of organizing and running the many activities at our country fairs. Long may they live everywhere They're a tradition we should jealously protect

Your chance to sound off

Farmers from all over the country will have the opportunity on Oct. 4 to tell national and regional news media representatives how they assess the current farm economy. And it won't cost them a dime.

The agriculture Council of America, a group which concerns itself with better communications between farmers and consumers, is sponsoring this unique opportunity to allow your opinions to be heard It won't cost the caller a cent You can sound off by calling a toll-free number (800-424-9881) on the date mentioned between noon and 4 p.m.

It seems as though this opportunity should not be overlooked, especially with so many farm prices being as low as they are. Grains, in particular, are a real price problem right now. You may want to tell the representatives of city newspapers about it.

For more details on the program, please turn to page 103 of this issue. A story entitled "U.S. farm economy to be explored" will tell you more about ACA's toll-free call-in

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Farmer blames unfair prices

Editor, Lancaster Farming:

Your editorial about farmers selling their land for non-agricultural purposes leads me to write this letter and express my opinion on this matter. The biggest reason farmers sell their land is because they are not paid fairly for their products. The fact that farmers are paid too little actually helps the homeowner buy the homes which leads to more houses being built. With cheap food they have more money to spend on other goods. (Houses on lots that are much bigger than they need be, motorcycles for kids, and other luxuries). If people had to spend more money on food, they would not have the money to buy so many luxuries. You showed what could be done by group action on stopping the landfill on the Barley farm. A group action by the farmers would raise the prices of their products. Collective bargaining nationwide, the way the National Farmers Organization suggests, is the way to help farmers and their neighbors.

Sincerely,
Leland Stanford

BLESSINGS OR WOES?

Lesson for September 18, 1977

Background Scripture:
Luke 6: 12-26;
Romans 8:18-39.
Devotional Reading:
Romans 5:1-11.

The Beatitudes of Jesus as found in both Matthew and Luke are known and loved throughout the world. Even believers of other religions have often heard these great words and respected them. But of the four "woes" that immediately follow the four beatitudes in Luke, people know little or nothing.

One reason might be that there are no matching "woes" in the Matthew versions, only in Luke. But the most likely reason is that people can much more easily identify with the Beatitudes than the "woes." It is human nature to be more attracted to promises of future prosperity, satisfaction, happiness, and approval than predictions of poverty, hunger, unhappiness and rejection. Of course the Beatitudes appeal to us much more!

Already consoled

Yet, when we read the Beatitudes and woes in Luke 6, the so-called Sermon on the Plain, good common sense tells us that, for the most part, the woes are much more relevant to our present conditions than the Beatitudes. For example, although there are multitudes of poor people in the world, few people who read this column have ever known real poverty. Few have ever known true hunger - not the kind we feel when we deny ourselves a second helping or a rich desert, but the kind that accompanies one to bed with any empty stomach. Few of us have ever been hated, excluded, reviled or cast out because of our adherence to the Christian faith. So, for the most part, we can hardly appreciate the promises of "the kingdom of God," of being "satisfied" of hunger, of experiencing ultimate laughter, of being vindicated in what the world judges to be humiliating discipleship. One can hardly come back from a place they've never been!

The woes of middle class

But the "woes" that immediately follow the Beatitudes seem to fit our situation in life much more readily. Most of us would hardly think of ourselves as "rich," yet in the standards of the day in which Jesus spoke these words we would, most of us, be considered quite rich in material things. Today we might admit to being "middle class" or even "affluent," but let's not quibble: Jesus would have called us rich!

"Woe to you that are full now," warns Jesus, "for you shall hunger" (6:25). How many of my readers do not have enough and more - perhaps much more - than enough food? And, at least in terms of our religious affiliation, don't "men speak well" of us, isn't our religious persuasion largely accepted? It is perhaps only in the category of mourning and weeping that we may not qualify for the "woes" Jesus pronounces and even that is questionable in light of the continuous and abject misery of those of whom Jesus spoke.

For the poor of Jesus' day the Sermon on the Plain was a ringing assurance of future blessing. But what might it be for us?

TO SOIL TEST-DON'T GUESS

Fall is a good time to be learning lime and fertilizer needs for next spring. It is a poor management practice to wait until fertilizer deficiencies show up before trying to find the trouble. A complete soil test should reveal not only the fertilizer needs but also how much lime is needed. All requirements should be satisfied before a maximum yield can be harvested. The taking of soil samples this fall before the ground freezes, and having them tested, will give each farmer a chance to place his fertilizer orders early. Also, quicker testing service can be experienced by avoiding the spring rush. Soil test envelopes are available at any Penn State Extension Office in the state.

TO BEWARE OF FROSTED CROPS

The cooler weather earlier in the week reminds us that Jack Frost will soon be making his appearance in many parts of the state. Frosted sudan grass, or one of the sudan-sorghum hybrids, should be handled carefully because of the danger of prussic acid poisoning of livestock. After a killing frost, these crops should not be fed in a fresh condition for at least a week to 10 days. After that time and after they are dried, they may be grazed or green-chopped. The frosted crop may be made into hay or into silage and allowed to cure for at least 30 days and then be safe to be fed. Legumes such as alfalfa or clover should not be grazed when covered with frost; they may cause severe bloating problems. After the frost has melted and the plants are dry, they may be grazed normally.

TO PREPARE CORN CRIBS

With the amount of old corn on the farms this fall, there could be a storage problem for the new crop. In most cases it is best not to store new corn on top of old corn in a crib or bin; grain insects that may be in the old corn can easily damage the new crop also, in addition, the storage bin or crib should be rodent - proofed in order to protect the grain quality. Extra storage cribs or bins may be needed on some farms. The temporary storage of either ear corn or shelled corn on piles on the barn floor presents problems from heating and from serious rodent infestation.

TO CONSIDER HIGH-MOISTURE CORN

In recent years many dairy and beef cattle producers have gone to high-moisture ground ear corn or shelled corn. This ensiled corn is very palatible to livestock and enables the producer to harvest earlier, reduce rodent problems, eliminates corn drying costs, and permits mechanization of harvesting and feeding the corn crop. However, there is the need and expense of another silo. Ear corn should be harvested and ensiled when 30 to 35 per cent moisture; shelled corn is preserved best when 25 to 30 per cent moisture. A Penn State publication on high-moisture corn is available for additional details.

*Morrison's Analysis

Notice that in almost every nutrient specification, Stretch is superior to roughages or other roughage substitutes.

FEEDING

Stretch can be used in many ways. A thumb rule is that 1 lb. Stretch replaces 1½ lbs. hay, 2½ lbs. hay crop silage, 3 lbs. corn silage.

Stretch can replace oats in a grist ration. Being a pellet, it aids in flowability in bulk handling facilities. Stretch contains molasses, thereby increasing the molasses content of the total grist without adding to "stickiness".

BEACON STRETCH IS A PELLET - Available in bag or bulk.

MEDICINE AND MANAGEMENT

By CARL TROOP, VMD

A closer look at the udder

There are many parts of the dairy cow which are important or even essential to functioning as an economically profitable animal. These parts are determined to have desired characteristics to be of optimum profit (broad strong muzzle for adequate foraging of food, wide girth for plenty of room for strong heart and lungs, strong legs and feet for good locomotion, etc.). But when it boils right down to it the money maker is that four compartment pouch she carries between her hing legs. It, too, has certain desirable characteristics that every dairyman looks for in a profitable animal. But profit is measured not only in how much a cow can milk in a day or a year, but even more so in how long she can keep it up. Many very promising cows are lost because of mastitis or problems within the milk producing and storing areas of the udder itself. But many are also lost because of damage to the structures that are responsible for holding the udder in place, the framework or foundation.

The base or top of the udder is attached to the bottom of the pelvis by means of a well developed suspensory apparatus, a strong plate of tendinous tissue. This suspensory apparatus consists of four sheets of tissue, two of which are in the midline of the udder and descend from the base to the bottom of the udder. The two sides of the udder are separated as well as supported or held together by this double layer of strong tendon.

The other two layers extend around the outside of the udder and downward underneath the skin.

The layer in the middle of the udder is referred to as the median suspensory ligament and is responsible for most of the support of the udder. It keeps the tissue in the center of the udder pulled upward for well defined halving, it keeps the meat of the udder held toward the center so the teats are not pointing out toward the side. And hopefully it maintains the whole udder suspended at an adequate height for ease of milking and avoidance of injury.

For some unfortunate cows (and their unfortunate owners) they inherit a weak suspensory apparatus and as first calf heifers their udders are already pendulous with teats pointing in all directions, already difficult to milk. The other more fortunate cows are born with a strong suspensory apparatus, and, with a little luck can live a very long and profitable life. Unfortunately these too can go awry.

Blood comes into the udder via arteries, is collected by a circle of veins at the base and is drained by three major veins. The lymph vessels are numerous in the udder, and, as with the veins, are responsible for draining fluid and wastes from the tissues of the udder.

As a first calf heifer comes near calving the new udder tissue is being manufactured at a fantastic rate. Blood and lymph vessels have a problem keeping up with the rapidly expanding udder thus excess fluid is not adequately removed from the tissue and swelling results. Usually the more udder and milk producing tissue being made, the more swelling, sometimes extending as far forward as the brisket. This is the first critical period for the udder as much stress is put on the supporting ligaments at this time. The milk in the udder is not the main source of the swelling or pressure, and pre-milking is usually discouraged.

In most cows the next few calvings are not as bad as the first for damage to the suspensory apparatus. Much of the udder tissue has been formed and circulation is usually adequate to handle the excess. But depending on the initial strength of the suspensory apparatus and the stress to which it has been put at each calving, time does take its toll. A little stretching each year and the circulation has more of a job in removing fluid and more udder, resulting in more swelling. More swelling results in more strain and stretching of the ligaments, poorer circulation, more swelling, and more stretching. Once a certain point is reached the circulation has been compromised beyond the point of no return. The cow may be in perfect conformation and health otherwise, but the old "broken down udder" is no longer of use to her or to you. Then it is too late. The time to take care of the suspensory apparatus is at each calving. Keep the cows from being excessively fat and watch the udders for excess swelling which appears to be adding excess pressure to the supporting ligaments. Questions as to how much is too much and what to do about it can easily be consulted with your veterinarian. And in choosing replacements, use as one of your criteria how well the suspensory apparatus of the dam has held up under years of calving, then take good care of hers from the first lactation, not after it is too late.

MUNCY - CHIEF HYBRIDS MUNCY, PENNSYLVANIA 17756

Herr wins Solanco tractor driving

QUARRYVILLE - This year's grand champion of the 4-H, FFA, and open class tractor driving contest at the Southern Lancaster County Community Fair was Gordon Herr, Quarryville R2. Herr, who has participated in tractor driving contests two times previous to this, taking the championship in 1975, won the title with the low score of 20. His downfall came when he was one inch off at the wagon. According to tractor driving officials, Herr's score was about 280 points lower than the average for the day at 300 to 350 points.

Second place in the open contest went to William Krantz, Quarryville R1, and third to Mark Young, Peach Bottom.

In the FFA division, first place winner was Wayne Brian, Christiana R1. Second went to Dwayne Piefer, Kirkwood R1, and third to Les Hershey, Kirkwood R1.

Simple fly trap discovered

BELTSVILLE, Md. - Wooden pyramids, painted white, can be used to trap face flies, according to scientists of USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

The pests can transmit pinkeye and an eyeworm and they annoy cattle, causing them to stop grazing and gather in groups. At present, there is no economical means of ridding cattle of these pests. At the Beltsville Agricultlrural Research Center, here, entomologist Lawrence G. Pickens and animal scientist Richard W. Miller have devisied a simple, effective trap for these pests. The trap is constructed of 29 by 39 inch wooden triangles joined at the top to form a pyramid. The pyramid is painted with white latex paint and covered with clear plastic. A sticky substance is spread on the plastic to trap the face flies when they land. Face fly numbers have been reduced as much as 70 per cent in some pastures where the traps have been used.

The scientists have found that the shape and color of the trap is such that it reflects light at the proper angle and wavelengths to attract face flies. The traps are placed on steel fence posts about 3 feet off the ground. Various heights for the traps are being studied because, when placed nearer the ground, the pyramids also attract stable flies.

Traps are placed near areas where cattle congregate, such as loafing spots and watering troughs. About one trap per seven head of cattle seems to be effective. Further research is planned to determine if this number is adequate for all situations.

Plans are being made to test the traps on a large number of commercial farms to evaluate the effectiveness of the traps under field conditions. The scientists are also investigating methods of treating the traps with pesticides. Pesticides would eliminate the need to change the plastic and the tacky substance every few days.

YORK - Open class sheep judging went on all day long at the York Fair on Monday, beginning at 8:30 a.m. and running until nearly 11 p.m. In that time, 11 breeds were judged and 22 champion ewes and rams chosen.

CHEVIOTS

In the Cheviot breed Lynn and Renee Harris, Stillwater, Pa., took the champion ewe with their yearling animal. The Harrises, who are avid sheep showmen, have taken this same animal to the Troy Fair, Hughsville Fair, and the Eastern Regional Cheviot show where she has taken the grand championship titles there, as well.

The champion ram of the Cheviot breed went to John Arrell, Jr., of Lincoln University with a yearling that had been the champion at Allentown, Goshen and Kimberton Fairs.

In this competition, the Harrises also took ram lamb, reserve champion ram, two ram lambs, ewe, ewe lamb, reserve champion ewe, two yearling ewes, two ewe lambs, and pen of lambs. That left only the ram class and the champion to Arrell.

CORRIEDALES

Vaughn Myers' FFA project went all the way to the top in the Corriedale competition last Monday at the York Fair. Myers, a 17-year-old from Bedford R3, has showed his ewe lamb to other breed champion honors as well. At the Bedford County Fair the animal took the top honors as well as at the Indiana, Cambria, Fulton, and Clearfield County Fairs.

Emit Mellott, Needmore R1, had the champion ram of the Corriedale breed. Mellott and Myers take the same show circuit where Mellotts animals have earned the grand champion rosettes at nine different shows this season.

In Monday's competition he had nine first placings in the various Corriedale classes and two seconds. He also showed two other breeds of sheep.

Myers showed the first place ram, first place ewe lamb, and reserve champion ewe.

DORSETS

Kenneth Moore from Nichols, N.Y., swept the Dorset competition with both the champion ram and champion ewe of that breed. Both animals were lambs.

Moore's other winnings in the Dorset competition included first and third yearling ram, first and fourth ram lamb, second pair of ram lambs, second and fourth yearling ewe, second pair yearling ewe,

Cliff Stiles wins York Jersey show

Clifford Stiles is shown with five winners. They are: Tammy, 5; Skipper, 6; and Tina, 8, his children. The two larger champs are his grand and reserve grand champion Jerseys.

YORK - Clifford Stiles and his family captured most of the honors at the York Fair's Open Jersey Show on Wednesday night. The Maryland family won junior, senior, and grand championship titles, as well as numerous first places in various classes.

Stiles, of Westminster, Md., is a well-known contender for top Jersey honors at the York Inter-State Fair and other such events in the area. One of his animals was judged best Maryland breed cow at the Timonium State Fair earlier this month and he was grand champion here at York a year ago. Among his other honors, Stiles also had the best three females owned and bred by the exhibitor for both junior and senior classes, best aged cow, and junior get of sire. The Stile's family has a total of 70 Jerseys at their farm, which is located near the Mason-Dixon line, below Littlestown.

The only championship ribbon which eluded Stiles was the one for reserve junior champion, which was won by Mildred Seeds of Chester County.

Contending for the ribbons along with Seeds and Stiles were Mike and Joey Welsh of East Berlin, both of whom captured first places with their calves. Bruce Heller had a junior yearling which stood first, followed by George Stiles of Boonesboro, Md. and Wendy McCleary of Stewartstown. Heller also had the first-place dry 4-year old, beating an entry from Kevin Stiles. Kevin was first with his milking 3-year old, followed by one owned by Mildred Seeds. The top 4-year old was exhibited by George Stiles.

$10.09 given for August milk

New York, N.Y. - Dairy farmers supplying milk plants regulated under the New York-New Jersey marketing orders during August will be paid on the basis of a uniform price of $10.09 per hundred pounds or 21.7 cents per quart. Market Administrator Thomas A. Wilson, who announced August's price, also stated that the uniform farm price was $9.63 per hundredweight in July 1977 and $10.22 per hundredweight in August 1976. The uniform price is a marketwide weighted average of the value of farm milk used for fluid and manufactured dairy products.

The seasonal incentive fund (Louisville Plan) returned a total of $2,852,847.20 or $.356 per hundredweight to the dairy farmer's uniform price for August. This fund was generated by reducing the uniform price paid producers during the high production spring months.

The total amount of milk received from the 18,697 dairy farmers supplying the New York-New Jersey Marketing Area was 800,994,514 pounds during August 1977. This was more than 43.7 million pounds above last year. The gross value to dairy farmers for milk deliveries was $80,938,654.41. Mr. Wilson explained that this included differentials required to be paid to dairy farmers but not voluntary premiums or deductions authorized by the farmer.

Regulated milk dealers (handlers) utilized 365,319,328 pounds or 45.6 per cent of the total amount of milk for Class 1. The Class 1 milk is used for fluid products such as homogenized, flavored, low-test and skim milks. For August 1977, handlers paid $11.00 per hundredweight, or 23.6 cents per quart, for the milk used in Class 1 products compared with $10.72 a year ago.

The balance of the milk, 54.4 per cent, was used to manufacture Class II products including butter, cheese, ice cream and yogurt. For this milk the handlers paid $8.74 per hundredweight.

The uniform price is based on milk containing 3.5 per cent butterfat. For August 1977, a differential of 11.6 cents was applied to the price for each one-tenth of one per cent that the milk tested above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

All prices quoted are for milk received within the 201-210 mile zone from New York City.

SRBC meets

MECHANICSBURG - The Susquehanna River Basin Commission approved requests for groundwater withdrawals for municipal supply use by the Borough Authorities of Mt. Joy and East Petersburg, Pa. The decision approving the projects, proposed to meet present and future growth needs, includes several monitoring requirements and a provision for establishing and maintaining water conservation measures. The Commission is placing emphasis on water conservation as an important practice and a strategy to help meet present and future water supply needs, especially during drought.

In approving the Mt. Joy project, Commissioner Thomas Webster, the Federal Alternate representing Secretary Cecil Andrus, U.S. Department of Interior, complimented the Borough Authority for the initiative already shown in its development of a water conservation program before being required to do so either by water shortage conditions or agency regulatory measure.

The next meeting of the Commission will be held October 13, 1977 at 1:00 p.m. at the Penn Harris Motor Inn located in Camp Hill, Pa.

Twin Valley Farms takes Polled Hereford champ

By JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Reporter

YORK, Pa. - An aged Hereford bull, owned by Twin Valley Farms, Breezewood, won the grand champion bull awards during the 1977 Pennsylvania Polled Hereford Summer Show, held September 11 at the York Fair.

Reserve champion bull honors were taken by an early Summer yearling bull, exhibited by Spring Bottom Farm, Fairfield, and JDH Polled Herefords, Dover.

The champion heifer banner went to Huckleberry Hall Farms, Smithsburg, Md.; Gail Snyder of New Tripoli exhibited the reserve champion heifer.

About 50 animals paraded before Judge Sam Wylie, a beef breeder from Nottingham. Mr. and Mrs. John Hausner managed the show, sponsored jointly by the state Polled Hereford Association and the York Fair.

First place in the Junior Heifer Calf class was Flat Stone Lick Farm, Marianna. Fro-Man Farm, Kennett Square, won the second and third places.

Winter Heifer Calf class was won by Spring Bottom Farms, Fairfield, with JDH Polled Herefords placing second.

Schochary Ridge Farm, New Tripoli, was first in the Senior Heifer Calf class. Second was JDH Polled Herefords, Dover; third, Laurel Ridge Farms, Ledgedale; fourth, Twin Valley Farms, Breezewood; fifth, Richard Maniscalco, Kennett Square; sixth, Bill Derr, Kennett Square.

The Late Summer Yearling Heifer first place went to JDH Polled Herefords, Dover. Second was Jeffrey B. Golden, York Springs, and third was Patty Lou Maniscalco, Kennett Square.

First year 4-H'er takes Solanco beef show title

By JOANNE SPAHR

QUARRYVILLE - 4-H'ers and FFA members competed against each other for the grand champion baby beef of the Solanco Fair on Thursday evening with a 13-year-old first year 4-H member walking away with the coveted title.

Brett Holzhauer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holzhauer, Holtwood R1, exhibited a 1025 pound Angus/Chianina crossbred to the champion of the 4-H show and the eventual grand champion overall.

In the reserve champion slot for the entire show was a 1085 pound Angus/Simmental crossbred shown by Bryan Groff, 16, the son of Donald L. Groff, Peach Bottom R1. Groff, a member of the Solanco FFA, showed beef for the first time this year.

Judge Henry Gruber, head of livestock procurement for Arbogast and Bastian, Inc., Allentown, praised the champion for being "a little trimmer, a little neater looking, and a more stylish calf" then the reserve champion.

Holzhauer, a member of the 4-H Red Rose Beef and Sheep Club, plans on taking his champion, purchased from Fred Frey, Quarryville, to Farm Show, Groff's FFA champion and reserve champion of show, which was sold in Friday's sale, was "not a cheap" animal, he commented. Rather than starting with an average quality animal, he went to top quality, which he felt helped him win the FFA title. The crossbred was purchased at the Octorara Farm Club Calf sale.

The reserve champion of the FFA show went to Sam Long, Peach Bottom R1 for his lightweight crossbred.

In the 4-H show, the reserve champion was Bill Coyne, Quarryville R2, with an Angus.

Complete results of the show follow:

Auto Service Tips

More and more, automobile owners are trying the do-it-yourself routine — changing oil, filters, etc. You can save money — but you can injure yourself if caution is not exercised. Always wear protective covering for hands and arms when working around a hot engine, such as changing oil filters or spark plugs. Never use gasoline for any cleaning purpose.

YORK - Three York County families dominated the 4-H swine show at the York Fair this week, with each winning its share of ribbons.

Coming out on top in the Chester White breed was Brian Bankert of Hanover. He had the champion as well as reserve champion after having won January gilt, February gilt, and senior sow honors. Contending for the top ribbon in those respective classes were Michele Bankert, Hanover; and Melissa Trostle, Red Lion; Each of them also had a first, with Melissa's win coming in the March gilt class, and Michelle winning with her April gilt.

In Duroc competition, Harold Mummert and Michele Bankert exhibited the champion and reserve champion, respectively. Mummert, of Seven Valleys, placed first with his January gilt and third with a March and April gilt. Miss Bankert had the first place gilt for February and April. Brian captured a first with his March gilt. a second for January gilts, and a third for February gilts.

Michele Bankert, or "Shelley," as she is often called, came away with all the honors in the Hampshire classes. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Bankert, Red Lion.

Steve Trostle of Red Lion won all the honors with his spotted gilts, and then went on to win both champion and reserve champion ribbons. Michele Bankert of Red Lion had a second-place junior yearling sow in the contest.

In the 4-H Yorkshire show, it was Michele Bankert of Red Lion again who placed at the top of the show. She won with a February gilt. The reserve champion belonged to Jeff Wilson of New Freedom, who showed a senior sow. Beverly Brown of Delta came away with a first place in the January gilt class, Michele Bankert of Red Lion placed second. The young girl from Red Lion came back with first-place victories in the February and March gilt classes. The best April gilt was shown by Ron Wilson of New Freedom.

John and Harold Mummert of Seven Valleys and Michele Bankert of Red Lion competed strongly inthe Landrace judging, with each capturing several blue ribbons. When it was all over, however, it was Harold Mummert who had the grand champion, and Miss Bankert the reserve. Harold won with a January gilt, while Michele had a junior yearling sow win the honors. In other gilt classes, John and Harold traded back and forth with their first places while the other captured seconds. Michele had the third and fourth place animals in the April gilt classes.

In fitting and showing, Melissa Trostle of Red Lion won champion honors in fitting, while Brian Bankert topped the field in showmanship. Melissa is the 10-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Trostle of Red Lion. She says she learned her fitting duties from her father and brother, Steve, who incidentally was the reserve champion fitter at the show. Asked how to go about fitting a pig for the show, the young lady unhesitatatingly stated: "The first thing is to make sure the pig is clean. Then you take a hold of the tail and remove all the hair except for a little on the tip. Then you remove the extra long hiars from the legs and body of the pig - as many as you can - and then you begin to practice with it so it gets used to you and you get used to it. Then you're ready to go into the ring."

A member of the Ore Valley 4-H Club, Melissa is a fifth grader at Dallastown Area Ore Valley Elementary School.

Her competitors in the under 11 age group were Brian Bankert and Michele Bankert of Red Lion, who placed second and third, respectively, in that division. Her older brother was first in the 12 to 14 age bracket, beating Michele Bankert of Hanover and Mike McClain of Stewartstown. John Mummert won the senior division fitting contest, with Kevin De Palmer of Spring Grove placing second and Beverly Brown of Delta, third.

Brian Bankert, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodger Bankert, Hanover, won the big title in showmanship after having won it in the under 11 age group. Melissa Trostle placed second and Michele Bankert of Red Lion was third in that contest. The 12 to 14 age group winner was Steve Trostle followed in order by Michele Bankert of Red Lion, Harold Mummbert, and Mike McClain. The senior title went to John Mummert followed by Kevin DePalmer and Beverly Brown.

Colored dairy breeds open Solanco Fair

By KENDACE BORRY

QUARRYVILLE—After the threat of a shower, the colored breeds dairy classes of the Solanco Fair Dairy Show were held under sunny skies with judges John Smith, York County Extension Agent, and Mrs. Joan Rubble, Chester County Holstein breeder, examining the four breeds and picking the champions.

In the Guernsey division, Hollow View Farms, Quarryville, showed the open grand champion, the open reserve champion, the junior and junior reserve champion. The Champion animal, shown by Mrs. Scott Wolff, was a four year old Guernsey, that had also been named champion last year at the Solanco Fair. The cow, Hollow View F Hilda, was also the dam of the junior Guernsey champion at the fair.

William Arrowsmith, of Peachbottom R1, showed his four year old animal to the championship in the open classes in the Jersey division. Also a repeat champion from the fair last year, the cow, Surville Maple Lawn Sharon, was one of several the Arrowsmith family exhibited.

Jacqueline Kreider, a junior at Pequea Valley High School, showed the Brown Swiss champion. The Kinzer R1 resident showed her junior calf as a 4-H member and this is her ;first championship.

In the Ayrshire division, Karen Schmuch, Peachbottom R2, showed a six year old cow, Pine Lane Pride's Buttons, to championship. This 4-H animal will be going to state competition as it was chosen breed champion at the district level.

Complete results of the show follow:

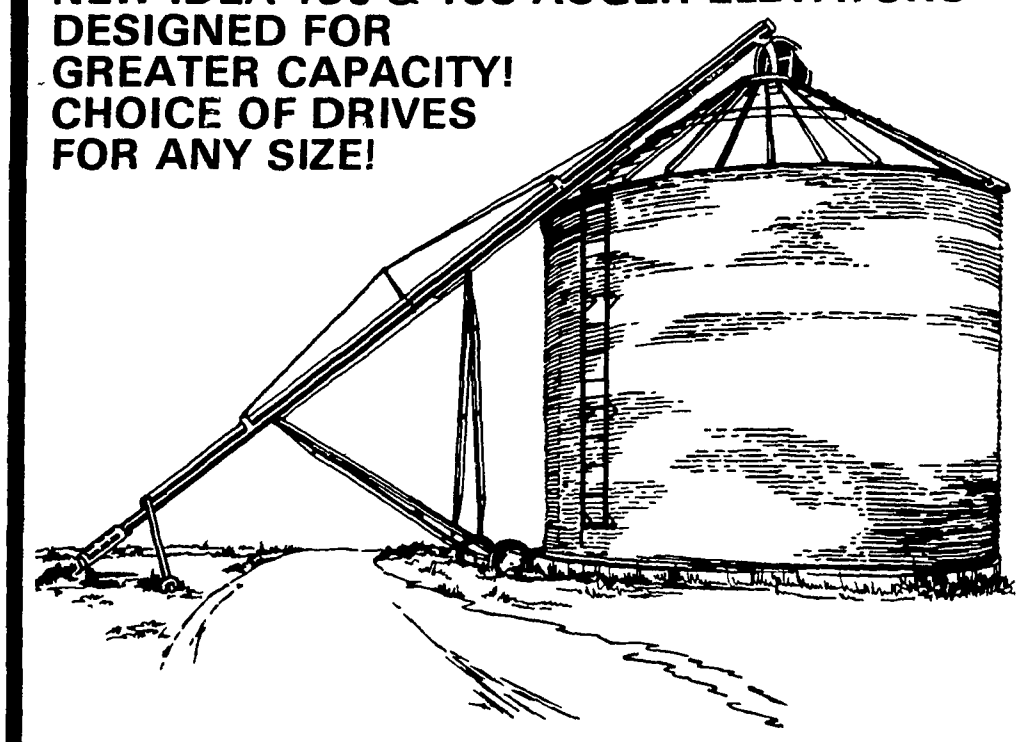
MOVE SHELLED CORN OR SMALL GRAIN FAST!

NEW IDEA 196 & 198 AUGER ELEVATORS DESIGNED FOR GREATER CAPACITY! CHOICE OF DRIVES FOR ANY SIZE!



You'll like New Idea's all-purpose auger elevator with the big capacity for high-or-low-moisture corn, milo, oats, wheat, barley, soybeans and other free flowing grain. Choose from 27 to 60 foot lengths. You'll get delivery heights from 17 to 41 feet at a 45 degree operating angle.

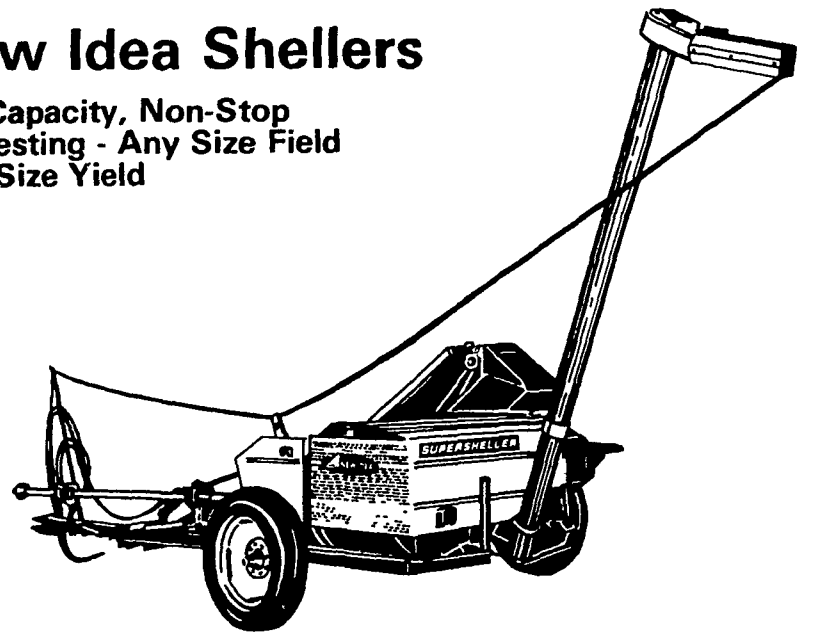
Choose from PTO, electric motor or gasoline engine drive. The winch raises the elevator quickly, and a positive friction brake allows complete lowering control.

A-frame track is trussed and crossbraced for maximum stability. Safety intake guard allows maximum flow of material into auger-receiving area. Safe and easy for one man to maneuver.

SUPERPICKER... FLEXIBILITY TO MEET HARVESTING NEEDS

New Idea Shellers

Big Capacity, Non-Stop Harvesting - Any Size Field Any Size Yield



Superpicker gives you more than great performance for the price . . . it gives you flexibility at an extremely modest cost. With the interchangeable husking beds and shelling mechanisms, you can harvest your corn to meet market conditions of the moment. Shell for sale, or pick and crib your corn for later sale or feed.

first and second ewe lamb, first pair ewe lambs, first pen of four, first breeder's young flock, first get of sire, and first flock.

Just the previous week, Moore had the grand champion ewe and the reserve champion ram at the New York State Fair, and was the premier exhibitor at that fair with both Dorset and Rambouillet breeds. Moore shows four breeds, all totaled.

Other first placings in the Dorset competition went to Dr. and Mrs. Robert Herr, Narvon, Pa. They took first in two ram lambs, ewe, and two yearling ewes. They also had the reserve champion ewe and reserve champion ram.

HAMPSHIRES

Familiar faces from Lancaster County, the Clyde Brubaker family, Harrisburg Pike, Lancaster, swept the Hampshire competition, taking the champion ram and ewe with a set of twins. Sarah Lynn, the Brubaker's 17-year-old daughter took a second class–pair of ewe lambs–with another set of twins.

Other winnings for the Brubakers included first yearling ram, first ram lamb, first pair of ram lambs, second pair of ewe lambs, reserve champion ewe, first pen of lambs, the bill include wheat target prices of $3 per bushel for 1978. The wheat price support rate is established nationally at $2.25 per bushel. The difference between the target price and the loan rate is 75 cents per bushel. If the 1978 wheat average market price is $2.25 per bushel or lower, deficiency payments of 75 cents per bushel will be made to wheat growers who comply with the program.

To obtain 1978 Wheat Program benefits, a producer will be required to set aside an acreage of cropland equal to 20 per cent of the 1978 wheat acreage for harvest as grain. Set-aside acres may not be harvested in 1978. The set-aside requirement is necessary to reduce total wheat and other grain production.

The 1978 program will be voluntary and provide at least three options to wheat growers.

Option No. 1 – Reducing 1978 wheat acreage by 20 per cent and making 1978 set-aside. Wheat growers who reduce 1978 acreage by 20 per cent below their 1977 wheat acreage will be eligible for payments on 100 per cent of their 1978 wheat acreage. Example: 1977 wheat acreage may have been 20 acres. A 20 per cent reduction would allow 16 acres of wheat in 1978. If the farm has an ASCS established normal yield of 30 bushels per acre, his payment would be (16 acres x 30 bushels x estimated $.75) $360. To earn the payment, the producer would set aside 3.2 acres of cropland (16 acres x 20 per cent). The payment for making the set aside and complying with the program amounts to $112.50 per acre of set aside.

Option No. 2 -- No reduction in 1978 wheat acreage, but making a set aside equal to 20 per cent of the wheat acreage planted.

Wheat producers who make no reduction in 1978 wheat acres may set aside cropland equal to 20 per cent of their 1978 wheat acreage and earn program payments on not less than 80 per cent of the farm wheat acreage.

Example: 1978 wheat acres (20 Acres) x 80 per cent x ASCS yield (30 bushels) x estimated payment ($.75 per bushel) equals $360. Set-aside acres will be 20 per cent x 20 acres of wheat or four acres. Earnings for the set-aside acres would be ($360. divided by four acres) $90 per acre.

Under options No. 1 and No. 2, a crop base will be established for each farm. Total crops in 1978 will be reduced by the acreage set aside. Producers who make the set-aside will be eligible for payments, price support loans and disaster benefits.

Option No. 3 – Wheat producers may choose not to participate; however, nonparticipating wheat producers will not be eligible for payments, price support loans or disaster protection.

According to ASC personnel, it is anticipated that farmers will enroll in the Wheat Program in early 1978. However, producers may wish to consider the options available prior to planting.

Those producers who have not certified 1977 crop acreages should do so at the ASCS office immediately. ASCS personnel will assist producers in understanding the 1978 Wheat Program.

Dairy farmer

facing our farmers and rural communities.

Bertovich said that he looks on this new assignment as "a challenge, but one that is worthwhile. I hope that I can lend some advice and support to make the Department's programs a success." He said he thouht that the job would enable him to use some of his knowledge of the farm situation to the farmers' benefit.

A native of Washington County, Bertovich graduated from Bentleyville High School in 1932 and the Penn State Commercial College in 1934, with a major in accounting and economics.

He worked on the family dairy farm in Washington County since graduation from High School, and from 1940 to 1973, served as Bentleyville's postmaster and clerk. The Bertovich farm consists of 320 acres with 138 head of cattle and a milk bottling plant.

He served the Washington County Farmers Association and the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association in many capacities in the past 15 years, most recently as a director of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association. He is currently president of the Pennsylvania Farmers' Milk Jugging Association Inc.

Bertovich has been actively involved in his community, as borough treaturer for 22 years and recently as borough councilman, a post he was elected to in 1975. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus.

Bertovich and his wife, the former Helen Alexander, have three children and five grandchildren.

HOLD THE LINE ON SPENDING

It's a fact - farm prices are severely depressed while farming costs continue to rise. A discouraging problem, but not really a new one for the American Farmer. He has had to weather this sort of thing before. Basically, this meant pulling in his neck and holding the line on spending.

SEEM SEED FARMS Division of SEEDWAY recognizes this problem and wants to help . . .

STOP RISING COSTS

UNTIL NOVEMBER 15, 1977 THE PRICE OF EASTLAND HYBRID CORN WILL REMAIN THE SAME AS IT HAS BEEN SINCE 1975!

EASTLAND HYBRIDS have always been strong in the field yet moderately priced. Now, more than ever before, is the time to give them a try. If you are already familiar with the EASTLAND HYBRIDS, hold the line on spending and use more!

Kingway Holsteins repeat as champs

YORK - For at least the second year in a row, Paul King's Kingway Holsteins were judged best at the York Fair. The York County Holstein breeder and his family garnered both grand and reserve grand champion honors, as well as numerous first place ribbons. Among their blue ribbons are those for 3 or 4 year old dry cow, 3 year olds, 4 year olds, junior get, best three females, senior get, dairy herd, and dame and daughter pair.

King, a dairyman from near Delta in southern York County, bred his grand champion cow, a daughter of Mookown Optimist. His reserve champ is sired by Atlas.

Tom Boyer, Thomasville, showed a stylish and tall senior yearling to the top as junior champion of the show. The reserve junior champion honor went to Bupplynn Farms of Seven Valleys.

heifer. The same two heifers went on to win the grand and reserve champion heifer placings as well.

Senior champion heifer was exhibited by Huckleberry Hall Farm, and the reserve animal shown by Schochary Ridge Farm.

Fro-Man Farm, Kennett Square, won the junior bull class, and the early Summer yearling bull class was won by Spring Bottom Farm, Fairfield, and JDH Polled Herefords, Dover.

In the late junior yearling bull category, Scottland Farms of Gettysburg capped top placing. Second was Schochary Ridge Farm, New Tripoli; third, Flat Stone Lick Farm, Marianna; fourth, Spring Bottom Farms, Fairfield.

Adams Land and Cattle Company, New Oxford, exhibited the winning late two-year old bull.

Twin Valley Farms, Breezewood, stood on top in the early two-year-old bull class, followed by Flatstone Lick Farms, Marianna, second, and third to a joint-ownership exhibit by Scottland Farms, Spring Bottom Farms and JHD Polled Herefords.

Champion bull calf award went to Fro-Man Farm, Kennett Square.

Spring Bottom Farm and JHD Polled Herefords exhibited the junior champion bull, which also went on to be named reserve grand champion bull. Reserve junior champion was taken by Scottland Farms of Gettysburg.

The senior and grand champion bull was shown by Twin Valley Farms, Breezewood. Reserve placing went to Flatstone Lick Farm, Marianna.

Drought can cause nitrate poisoning

NEWARK, Del. - Dry weather has cut into crop production in many areas of the country. It is also causing potential nitrate poisoning of livestock in some of these drought-affected areas.

Livestock develop nitrate poisoning from eating forages, usually corn and sorghums, that are high in nitrates. Nitrate poisoning can cut livestock performance and is often fatal Nitrates may accumulate in plants during hot, dry weather, but not all drought conditions cause high nitrate levels. There must be moisture for plants to absorb soil nitrates. Plants that survive a drought may suddenly accumulate high nitrate levels following a rain.

By the use of good management, livestock producers can eliminate or minimize nitrate poisoning in livestock.

Extension livestock specialists at the University of Delaware, suggest that farmers should do the following:

1. Harvest forages as silage if possible. Forages that are high in nitrates normally lose 40 to 60 per cent of their nitrates during fermentation.

2. Allow crops to fully mature before harvesting for silage.

3. Freshly-filled silos should not be capped for two or three weeks to allow silo gases to escape. These gases are toxic to humans.

4. Green chopped forages, suspected of containing high levels of nitrates, should not be allowed to stand overnight in a wagon before feeding. They will heat and develop even higher nitrate levels.

5. Feed a balanced ration.

6. Include in livestock feed an iodized salt containing organic iodides.

7. Avoid feeding damp hay, straw, or fodder that is suspected of being high in nitrates.

If pastures are suspected high in nitrates, they should be analyzed before allowing animals to graze. Even if tests prove negative, one should graze cautiously with a few animals first.

With proper feed management, livestock producers can cut the risks associated with feeding high nitrate forages.

Grain crops forecast

HARRISBURG - Pennsylvania's 1977 grain corn production is forecast at 101.2 million bushels based on September 1 conditions, announced the Crop Reporting Service. Yield prospects improved during August and as of September 1 yield is forecast at 88 bushels, still two bushels below 1976. The production forecase is two per cent below last year.

Production of oats is expected to be 16.5 million bushels, above last month's estimate but ten per cent below last yield. Yield is estimated at 47 bushels compared to 50 bushels last year.

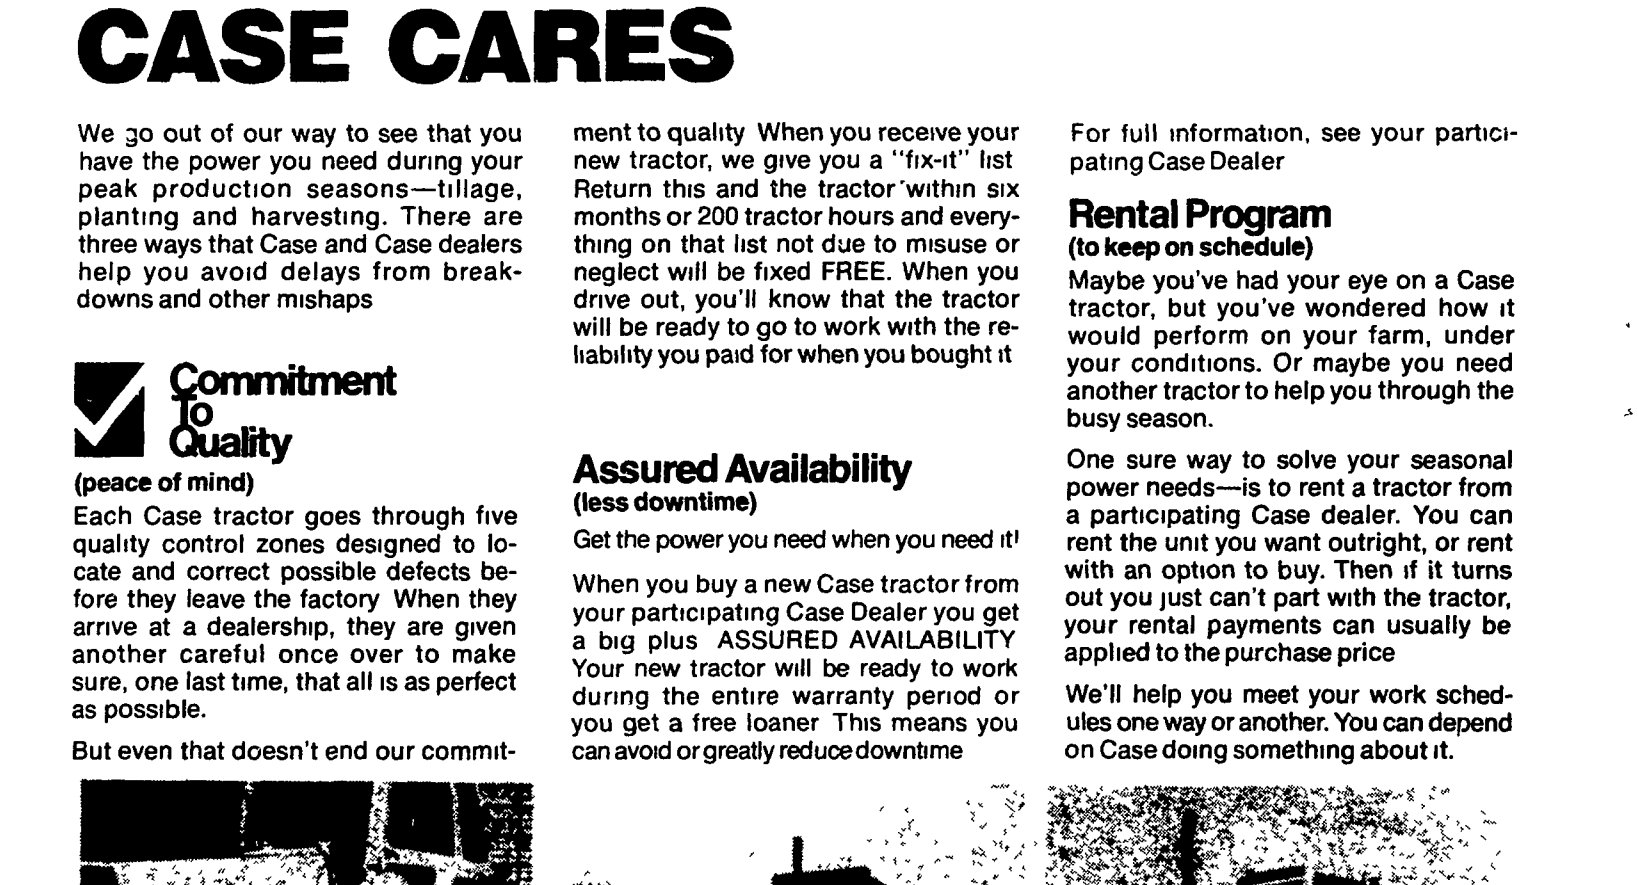
Pennsylvania tobacco production is estimated at 23.7 million pounds, just slightly above 1976. Acres for harvest at 13,000 are down 500, but the yield estimate of 1,820 pounds is 70 pounds over a year earlier.

The state's grape crop is forecast at 30,000 tons based on September 1 conditions. This is 48 per cent below the record crop of 58,000 tons in 1976. U.S. grape production is estimated at 4,199,720 tons, down two per cent from last year.

U.S. corn production is forecast at a record 6,229 million bushels based on conditions as of September 1, up two per cent from the August 1 forecast and fractionally above 1976.

Soybean reproduction, forecast at 1,644 million bushels, is up three per cent from a month earlier and 30 per cent above last year.

All tobacco production forecast at 1,839 million pounds is 14 per cent below 1976 but two per cent above last month. Flue-cured types are down 21 per cent from last year and burley down six per cent



CASE CARES

We go out of our way to see that you have the power you need during your peak production seasons—tillage, planting and harvesting. There are three ways that Case and Case dealers help you avoid delays from breakdowns and other mishaps

Commitment To Quality
(peace of mind)

Each Case tractor goes through five quality control zones designed to locate and correct possible defects before they leave the factory When they arrive at a dealership, they are given another careful once over to make sure, one last time, that all is as perfect as possible.

But even that doesn't end our commitment to quality When you receive your new tractor, we give you a "fix-it" list Return this and the tractor within six months or 200 tractor hours and everything on that list not due to misuse or neglect will be fixed FREE. When you drive out, you'll know that the tractor will be ready to go to work with the reliability you paid for when you bought it

Assured Availability
(less downtime)

Get the power you need when you need it!

When you buy a new Case tractor from your participating Case Dealer you get a big plus ASSURED AVAILABILITY Your new tractor will be ready to work during the entire warranty period or you get a free loaner This means you can avoid or greatly reduce downtime

For full information, see your participating Case Dealer

Rental Program
(to keep on schedule)

Maybe you've had your eye on a Case tractor, but you've wondered how it would perform on your farm, under your conditions. Or maybe you need another tractor to help you through the busy season.

One sure way to solve your seasonal power needs—is to rent a tractor from a participating Case dealer. You can rent the unit you want outright, or rent with an option to buy. Then if it turns out you just can't part with the tractor, your rental payments can usually be applied to the purchase price second breeders young flock, first get of sire, and first flock.

We'll help you meet your work schedules one way or another. You can depend on Case doing something about it.

Sarah Lynn took first place pair of yearling ewes, first and sixth ewe lambs, first and third yearling ewes, first breeders young flock, and second and third ewe lambs.

Previously, Sarah Lynn had used the champion ewe to win the Junior Ladies Lead Line at the Maryland State Fair.

MERINO

Truman Calvert, from Spraggs, Pa. owned the animals that walked away with the champion rosettes in the Merino breed competition. Shown by the Harold Harpster family, Boalsburg, Pa., Calverts animals took: first place ram lamb, first pair of ram lambs, first and second yearling ewe, first pair of yearling ewes, first and third ewe lambs, first pen of lambs, first breeder's young flock, first get of sire, first flock, and second yearling ram.

Other first placings went to Bradford Roberson, East Berlin, Pa. in the yearling ram class. Roberson also had reserve champion ram.

SOUTHDOWN

Michele Bankert, Red Lion R3, swept the Southdown competition at the York Fair. She took every class and showed the both grand champion ewe and grand champion ram. Michele, age 11, is the daughter of Preston Bankert.

KMMC is sold on promotion

EDITOR'S NOTE: KMMC - The Keystone Milk Marketing Council, Inc., submitted the following report on its activities during the month of August. The organization is headquartered at 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, and is composed of prominent Pennsylvanians who are closely connected to the Commonwealth's dairy industry.

HARRISBURG - Dairymen all over the United States are attending local fairs, district Black and White shows, and some even showing cattle at the well known Pennsylvania All American at Harrisburg. Other dairymen are consigning cattle to sales, hoping to get top dollar for their animals. All of this involves promotion - telling people about what they have for sale. These sales are, in most cases, only a small percentage of their total milk sales, but usually more effort and involvement goes into the cattle sales than the more lucrative milk sales.

We at Keystone and your local dairy princess committee offer you an opportunity to become involved in milk promotion. Contact one of us and see what you can do to help start merchandising more fluid milk and therefore earn more income from your milk sales.

We know we offer probably the best food bargain any consumer can buy, but unfortunately for us everyone is after the consumer's dollar and you must be constantly in front of the consumer for a proportionate share of that dollar.

August brought a continuation of Keystone Milk Marketing Council activities. The Council in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, had an exhibit at Ag Progress Days near State College. At the exhibit, the Pennsylvania dairy princess and several county princesses distributed milk samples and milk leaflets to the thousands of people on hand for the annual educational event.

Peggy Staub, Pennsylvania dairy princess, completed her last month of honorary employment with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture for milk promotional activities across the state.

During the month of August, Peggy had seven shopping mall and in-store promotions, participated in two county fairs, spoke to a service club, and participated in two special events.

Giving this special opportunity to promote milk, Peggy has been privileged to travel across the Commonwealth, communicating with thousands of consumers about the goodness of milk.

Solanco market hog champ goes to Phillips

By JOANNE SPAHR

QUARRYVILLE - A pair of mediumweight hogs noted for their trimness and uniformity walked away with the grand champion rosettes of the open class market hog show of the Solanco Fair last Thursday. Greg Phillips, 16, the son of Arthur Phillips, Peach Bottom R1, showed that champion pair of crossbreds which were part of his FFA project at Solanco High School this year. Although in his third year of FFA, this is Phillips' first hog show.

Judge John Henkel, Willow Glen Yorkshire Farm, Strasburg, praised the animals, saying, "They're really trim. They would do well in any show. They also had very good length of side." Henkel also like the uniformity of the pair.

To get his animals into this condition, Phillips self-fed the animals, and for about one week before the show, [illegible] on the feed and [illegible]ed them steadily. Breeder of the champion pen of two was Charles Murphy, Drumore.

In Thursday's show, Phillips took another win when he was named second place fitter.

The reserve champion pen of two market hogs were heavyweights shown by Morris Young, the son of Ray M. Young, Peach Bottom R1. The crossbred animals were bred by Carl Martin, Peach Bottom R1.

Young, 16, a Solanco student who has been showing hogs for about seven years, said he really didn't have to do too much to the heavyweights to get them ready for the show. Apparently, there was more to Young's fitting ability then he realized, because Judge Henkel named Young champion fitter of the show.

Champion showman went to Nelson Breneman, and reserve champion showman went to Vickie Warfel, Quarryville, R1. Richard Merers, swine herdsman for Willow Glen Farm, was judge of the showmanship contest.

All totaled, 36 animals were entered by 13 exhibitors. And, of all the FFA members who participated, all but two were from Solanco.

Results from the show were as follows:

Babcock tells of new B300V

by KENDACE BORRY

STRASBURG - Bruce M. Babcock, president and chief executive officer of Babcock Poultry Farms, Inc., was the keynote speaker at a dinner and program September 15 held at The Historic Strasburg Restaurant, Strasburg. Approximately 180 poultry farmers, egg producers, and allied industry men attended to hear and see Babcock reintroduce the B-300V chicken to the Pa. marketplace.

Babcock remarked about the progressiveness of Lancaster County and Pennsylvania people in the poultry business. Mentioning the new Babcock B-300V chicken, he promised good results and hoped poultry farmers would try it. He also stated that even though the Lititz Babcock hatchery had been closed down, the Ithica, N.Y. field service was still available for now and perhaps in the future the Lititz plant would open again.

The evening also included a talk by Dr. Andrew Wyett, vice-president for research at the Babcock Poultry Farm, Ithica, N.Y. and a slide presentation on the Babcock story.

Wyett gave a short history of the research done for Babcock birds. Speaking of the new B-300V, he mentioned that the bird had a strengthened egg shell, and of varieties tested, including some competitive birds, the new chicken had the highest performance index, making it the most profitable. He also stated that the chicken had some improvements over liability over birds offered in the past.

Bruce M. Babcock

The slide presentation told of the 42 year old operation and gave a brief historical sketch of its growth and research mentioning the advantages of the Babcock bird B-300V.

After the meeting, questions were answered and information pertaining to the B-300V was given out. David Delaney, Babcock spokesman for the Lititz area, told anyone interested in the new bird should contact him for further data.

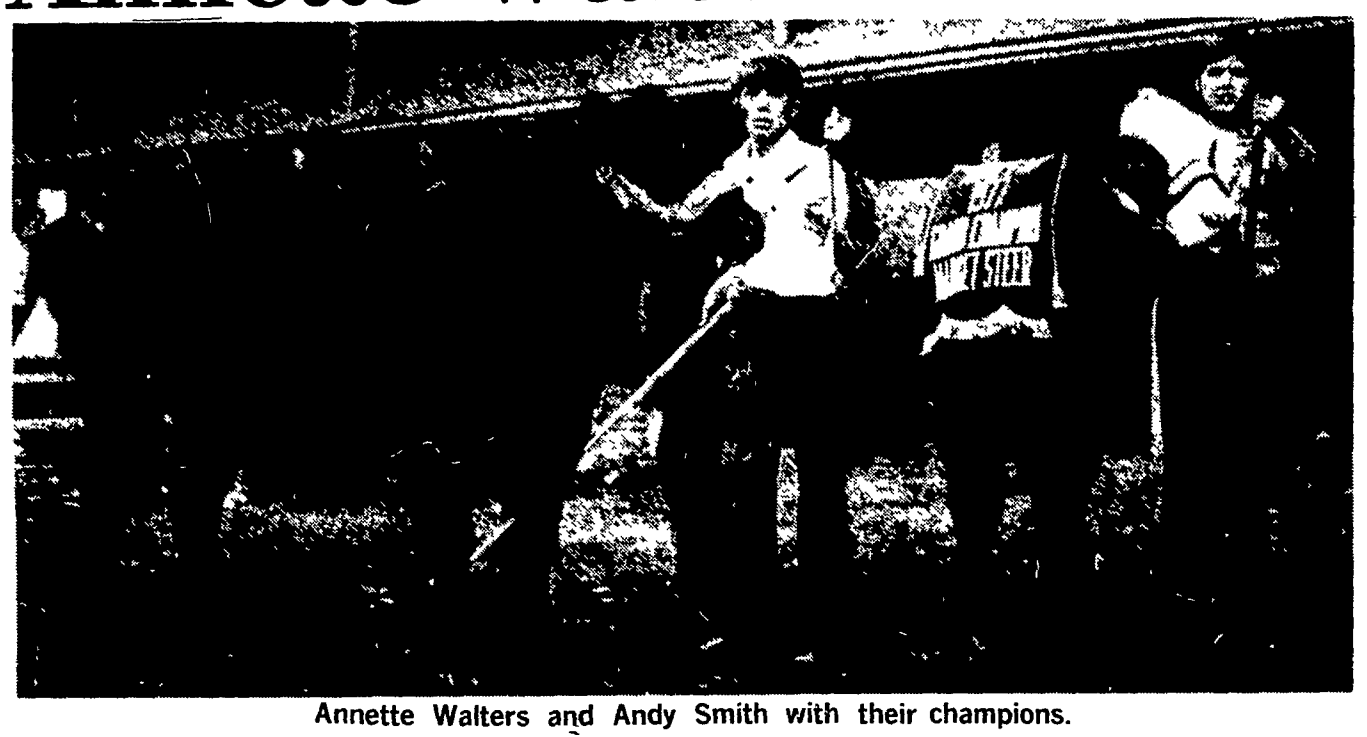
Annette Walter shows champion steer



Annette Walters and Andy Smith with their champions.

YORK - Annette Walter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Walter, Airville, showed the grand champion 4-H steer at the York Fair this week. The animal was a 1085 pound crossbred, judged by official Sam Wiley as "a most complete steer in that he was very evenly conditioned in his finish and extremely meaty from end to end."

The reserve champion banner went to Andy Smith, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Smith, Jacobus. His winning entry was also the champion Angus shown at the show.

Anntte, 13, is a newcomer to the champion circle for baby beef shows, although she has been a member of the York County 4-H Beef Club since age 9. Aside from her steer projects, she's also active with dairy heifers and a horse.

Andy Smith's prize winner, "Amos," is the second reserve champion the young man has shown in three years. He considers jogging the steer as one of the better ways to get him into proper condition. Miss Walter found a unique way to accomplish the same thing: letting him run loose with the dairy cows. Both animals will be offered for sale at the 4-H Roundup later this Fall.

Sam Wylie, a well-known cattleman who was national champion junior Angus showman in 1967, says he tried to judge the show by sticking with the more moderate frame size; thicker meatier cattle with natural fleshing ability. He was looking for animals which would have a yield grade of 2 or 3, and explained that this is what the industry is turning to nationwide. "Oxier type cattle are being discrimnated against," he stated, adding that the cattle which fall into the 1050 and 1250 pound bracket are usually turned up as champions. Wylie is presently involved in breeding purebred Angus cattle from a practical and functional point of view.

Follwing is a list of weight classes, according to how Wylie placed them at the York Fair.

Champion Holstein at Solanco belongs to Welk

By JOANNE SPAHR

QUARRYVILLE – They kept it all in the family last Thursday. when Paul Welk of Welk-Crest Farm, Peach Bottom R1, beat the five-year winning streak of his cousin Maurice Welk, Quarryville R2, in the open Holstein show at the Southern Lancaster County Community Fair. Paul Welk walked away with the grand champion and senior champion of the show. Maurice Welk, however, didn't slip too far behind in his winnings, coming up with the reserve grand champion and reserve senior champion.

Paul Welk's six-year-old daughter of Simpon Farm Tidy Gent, classified "88 Very Good" swayed the judging in her direction with her udder, judged best udder of the show. Judge John Smith, York County Extension agent, remarked about her dairy character.

Up to this point the champion Rock Hall Tidy Diane has a production record of 17,825 pounds of milk and 727 pounds of fat. She was bred by Homer B. Readinger, Fleetwood, Pa.

According to Welk, who hasn't shown animals in 12 years since 4-H, his aged cow was never shown before. She wouldn't have been shown this year, either, if it hadn't been for the urging of Welk's son.

"We didn't think we could get her to lead, but we worked about three weeks and were finally able to," Welk explained. Welk will probably continue his showing in the upcoming years.

The reserve grand champion animal, Smithland Headliner Penny, a three-year-old with a two-year-old production record of over 16,000 pounds of milk and 575 butterfat and a projected record of 20,000 of milk as a three-year-old, was recently purchased by her owner Maurice Welk. Welk recently started a whole new herd following a dispersal sale on June 3. The animal's sire was Skokie Headliner Chip.

Junior champion for the open show went to Edgefield Farms, Quarryville R2, Amos, Kenneth, and Richard Rutt, with a senior yearling, and reserve junior champion went to a junior calf shown by Nancy Akers, 13, the daughter of Curtis Akers, Quarryville R1. Miss Akers' calf was also the champion of the junior division show.

Rutt's senior yearling is a daughter of Round Oak Rag Apple Elevation. She is due in January and is out of a dam with a production record of 22,000 pounds of milk, 860 pounds of butterfat.

Miss Akers' junior calf, Solanco Acres Jet Stream Peggy, a daughter of Arlinda Jet Stream, is Miss Akers' 4-H project for the Lancaster County 4-H Holstein Dairy Club. The animal was bred by Curtis Akers and raised by Nancy since a calf. Along with her champion winnings, Miss Akers was also the champion showman of the junior show.

In the junior division show, Douglas Hershberger, Quarryville R4, showed his junior yearling to the reserve grand champion title. "Zion Meadows Astra Mattie," is a Paclamar Astronaut daughter bred by Brian J. Osborne, Md. Hershberger, 14, and Miss Akers both belong to the same 4-H club, where Hershberger is a six year member.

All tolled, 57 animals were entered in the shows with the following results:

WHAT'S NEW

A specially-designed communications device connecting a weather research aircraft with a satellite 22,[illegible] miles (35,400 kilometers) [illegible]ace is ready to provide near instantaneous information about the growth and movement of hurricanes in the Carribean and South Atlantic.

The device, in effect, is an airborne data collection platform which utilizes the data collection capabilities of NOAA's GOES-2 satellite. A somewhat similar piece of equipment, still in the research stage, is in daily use aboard a Pan American 747 as it flies along the airline's world-wide routes.

Even though there had been no Atlantic hurricanes until the end of August, the device has been tested under actual flight conditions during reconnaisance of a tropical depression. Plans are to install similar transmitting devices in NOAA's two other research aircraft - both P-3 planes - next year.

Red Lion FFA dominates hog show

YORK - FFA members from Red Lion dominated the breeding swine shows at the York Fair, winning four out of five breed championships, and four reserve ribbons.

Greg Innerst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Innerst, Red Lion, won the Berkshire class, while Don Kilgore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Kilgore, Airville, took the reserve ribbon.

In the Hampshire breed show, it was Wayne Bankert, another Red Lion boy, who took the honors. He had both the champion and reserve champion, and then went on to be grand champion showman of the entire show. He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Bankert.

The winner in Spotted Polands was Jeff Rexroth, also a Red Lion FFA'er, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Rexroth, Airville. He had both champions in the event.

Yorkshire winner Mark Rahman is from the Kennard-Dale FFA chapter, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rahman. Reserve champion of that breed belonged to Wayne Bankert.

The limelight returned to Red Lion when the champion fror other breeds was picked. The winning animal was a Duroc and belonged to Tom Innerst, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Innerst, Red Lion. The rreserve honor went to David Shue, who exhibited a Chester White. Shue goes to South Western High School.

In FFA market hog competition, two South-Western High School boys captured the big honors. David Shue led a 240 pounder into the ring to win as champion, while schoolmate Brian Utz won the reserve banner with a 255 pounder.

Outlets Outlets Outlets Outlets

(Let the buyer beware)

By LYNN HERSHEY
Delaware Extension Service

Are you familiar with the tragic tale of the lemmings? They are tiny, appealing animals who periodically begin a mysterious mass migration, and eventually rush headlong over the cliffs into the sea.

The reason remains a mystery, but my theory is that the head lemming shouts "Discount! Discount!" and all the other lemmings hurry after him without a second thought.

People do seem to react like lemmings when they get wind of a bargain. And the bargain basement of the 70's has turned out to be the outlet store. Entire city blocks may be devoted to them-sometimes entire cities.

There is even a paperback book listing outlets from coast to coast. You could plan the itinerary for your entire vacation around it.

There are three absolute musts for successful outlet shopping. The first is plenty of cash.You can easily go broke saving all that money. (Often personal checks are not accepted.)

The second is wits. Do not go witless into an outlet store. If there's ever a time when you need all your marbles, it's in a 20-acre warehouse crammed with bargains wall to wall.

The third is the endurance of a marathon runner. I doubt if even O. J. Simpson could take a full day of shopping the outlets.

I considered myself an old hand at bargain shopping until a recent visit to a nearby city renowned for its outlet stores. In spite of firm resolutions to the contrary, I got carried away by the mass hysteria and came home with only one true bargain, plus one clinker, and also a pair of red shoes that go with nothing in my closet.

The clinker was a blouse. When I went to try it on I discovered that the store had a community dressing room the size of my kitchen. About a thousand women of every possible shape were straining to see themselves in three or four small mirrors.

So like a coward, I tried on the bargain blouse over the blouse I was wearing, decided it was a perfect fit, and bought it.

Yes, it's a perfect fit all right, as long as I always wear another blouse under it to take up some of the slack.

Extension clothing specialists point out that some factory outlets don't have any dressing rooms at all, not even a community one. So if you buy a garment you haven't tried on, you may be stuck with a lemon, because as a general rule outlets won't accept returns.

Even packaged items such as hosiery and undergarments may list the wrong size.

You must always watch out for flaws.- Sometimes they're so tiny as to be nonexistent. Other times you might be able to repair the damage if you're handy with a needle. But the reason for the markdown may be serious: stripes going in four directions (or plaids going in ten), a stab wound in the leg, blueberry juice on the bodice, a sleeve with the elbow in front. These are not flaws, they're disasters, and there's not much you can do about them.

Personally I've decided that shopping the outlets is more of a challenge than an economy. Take my red shoes for example. They are beautiful and I love them. But wearing them is out of the question until I get a dress that does them justice. So I'm already planning another trip to the outlet, to see what I can find that will match.

And that's no way to save money.

LANCASTER - Let the buyer beware.

This is the consensus of several typical weekday shoppers interviewed recently at a variety of factory outlet stores in the area.

Lancaster Farming spent a day roaming from one outlet to another asking questions and getting comments from the busloads of bargain hunters who made their way to the outlets from all over - from New York, New Jersey, and other surrounding states. In these individual's minds, coming directly to the factories which make brand-name merchandise is such a financially attractive prospect that long distance bus rides are no hindrance.

With public school now in session, the outlet stores Lancaster Farming visited during a weekday, were primarily busy with a lot of small groups. These groups frequently consisted of a mother, perhaps two children - an infant and a toddler - and either a father (usually very quiet) or, more often than not, a grandmother, or a friend of the mother.

The list of products available in the area through direct buying at the manufacturing site is limitless. Included in the list are clothes, underwear, and outer wear for all ages, sizes, and tastes. For those who sew their own clothes, fabric and trim stores abound. Other stores specialize in items with which to stock the pantry, freezer, or refrigerator. Pottery on which to serve the food is also available. Still other outlets provide supplies for redecorating - carpets, wallpaper, and paint, draperies, linens, and furniture. Yet other stores offer items for leisure activities and gift giving including candy, books, and musical instruments to name only a few.

With all these commodities right here close at hand and at "factory outlet prices", why don't the retail stores go broke? One customer replied, "I'd rather watch for sales at the Mall stores than come here come here and sort through the seconds (items with imperfections) or pay these inflated prices New York City people think are reductions!" Many people interviewed, however, said they bought "some" things only at outlet stores. It appears to be a matter of experience and personal taste what each person will choose.

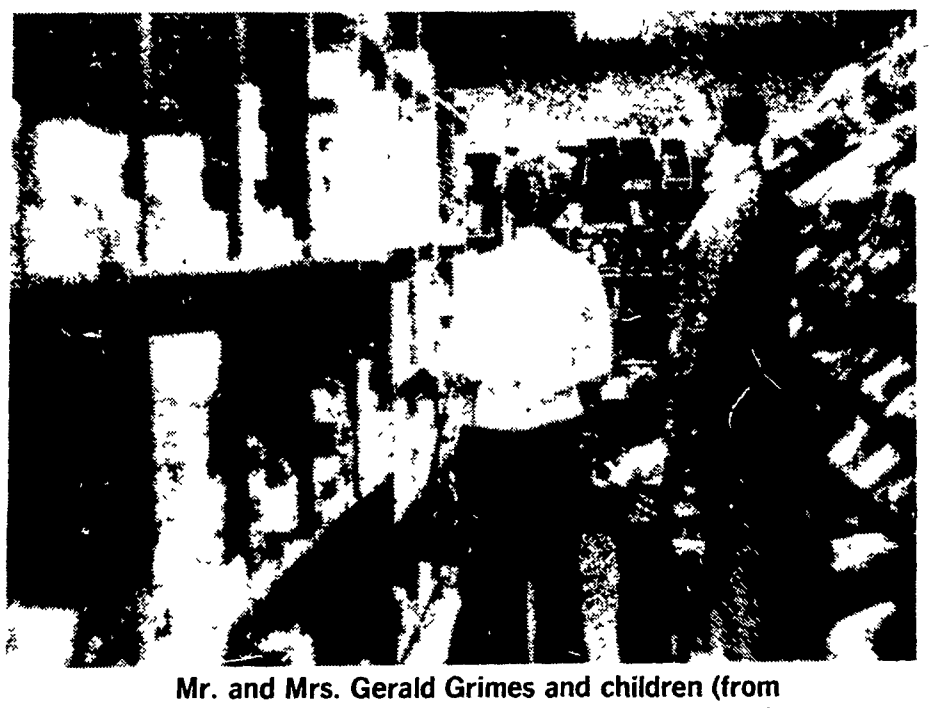
Outlet stores varied in location, atmosphere, product quality and price as much as an old country store differed from modern supermarkets. Many outlets are in basements - some clean and brightly-lit and some rather dreary and over-stuffed with bins and shelves of badly damaged goods.

Most outlet stores allow customers to search for themselves for bargains. However, one outlet asked - or rather, demanded - that the customer stay away from the merchandise and patiently take a number to await a turn. Once the clerk did call the customer's number, however, she took care to find the desired product and assure a proper fit.

One particular outlet was at the edge of town in a back alley inside a very small, inconspicuous building. But this store proved to have the highest priced garments surveyed during the day's study.

The last stop, a children's clothing outlet, turned out to be a department store-sized, gigantic sales room complete with carpeting, ample lighting, especially attractive displays of merchandise, piped in music, advertisements and interviews with shoppers, and a special play area for children.

These stores with all their variety only proves that outlet shopping requires that the customer know what she wants, what she wants to pay, and which places to go to get what she wants.



Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Grimes and children (from Philadelphia) stopped to take a noontime break during the day's outlet shopping trip. Mrs. Grimes says it's his idea to do this type of shopping.

Earl Sweigart, salesperson for 30 years at a shoe outlet says the outlet stores are all different. Some have bargains and some don't. He cautions that, recently, a lot of the stores now cater to tour groups and prices have gone up.

Sweigart explained that the company he works for started making shoes in 1901 and opened an outlet in the forties. They continue to provide genuine leather shoes for school children and adults at a reduction of as much as 50 per cent. This store accepts checks and will make exchanges and refunds (not common practices in outlet businesses). Sweigart advised Lancaster Farming readers who are potential outlet shoppers to beware of poor quality and high prices. One further suggestion he offered was to shop with someone who has been to a store before. They can assist in finding the out-of-the-way locations and give advice on the best places for real bargains.

At another outlet location, a young family from Philadelphia was taking a noonday break in the shade of the parking lot.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Grimes had made a few purchases for their children, age four and one, and were ready to move on to another store. Mrs. Grimes explained that they made this trip and one similar to it last year by her husband's request.

Grimes is a truck driver for a large department store chain and started coming to these factories for store pick-ups and noticed the signs for outlet buying. Mrs. Grimes said, "This is his vacation time and this trip is his piece of cake! He really likes to come and help watch the children while I shop. I wouldn't come by myself though," she added.

She found that some stores have bad seconds and others "aren't that bad. You have to know the store," she said.

General comments tend to support outlet buying, but most shoppers interviewed agreed that it takes palnning to buy only what they need, and a lot of time to judge quality and price. Again, let the buyer beware.

My Thoughts.....

And welcome to them

By JOANNE SPAHR
Assistant Editor

I have one thought on my mind right now - no rain Ya-hoo. What do you know, no rain during a Fair week. Must be a first

Oh, it may have drizzled here and there, but that's nothing compared to my first encounter with Fairs last year. That time a semi-hurricane went through and took such a liking to me that it ended up tagging along right beside me wherever I went for weeks.

I think I stood in more hog tents with mud up to my knees than anyone in the history of ag journalism. And, if I wasn't standing in mud, I was slipping around in it as I sloshed my way between dairy, sheep, and beef tents.

But, I wasn't the only one that noticed the foul weather. The hogs got a crash course in swimming, and one whole tent of beef cattle in Chester County nearly got a "large charge" out of the whole thing when a tent blew down on them with all of the electric cords hanging precariously near the water.

And, nearly every fair-goer besides myself had wet feet muddy pants, and stringy hair. We all looked alike - a fraternity of wet-heads, wilted clothes, and muddy shoes and socks.

But, we got through. And, this year promises to be bright and sunny. Cross your fingers.

It was hard to believe, but last week school began for another year. And, with school comes the advent of "after school snacks" for those hungry boys and girls who don't like the cafeteria food that just isn't like "Mom makes."

To satisfy appetities after school, almost anything will do, but the most preferred snack is often times a sweet one, and many times an empty calorie, non-nutritious type.

Therefore, this week "Home on the Range" is featuring "Nutritious Snacks" which are good for your children but delicious as well.

Several of them feature peanut butter, an excellent protein food.

WHEAT GERM BROWNIES

½ cup butter
¾ cup honey
½ cup brown sugar
4 eggs
2 cups wheat germ
1 cup powdered milk
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup coconut
1 cup nuts

Melt butter in large sauce pan. Add honey, brown sugar, and eggs. Fold in wheat germ, powdered milk, baking powder, coconut, and nuts. Bake in 13 by 9 inch greased cake pan. Bake at 325 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Cool, and cut into pieces.

HINKELSTEINS
(Oat sticks)

3 cups whole wheat flour
2-½ cups oat flour
½ cup soy flour
2 teaspoons salt
2 cups chopped dates
¾ cups coconut
½ cup sesame seeds
½ cup sunflower seeds
½ cup chopped nuts
½ cup oil
4½ tablespoons honey or 5 tablespoons molasses
1-1/8 cup milk

Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. Combine wheat flour, oat flour, soy flour, salt, chopped dates, coconut, sesame seeds, sunflower seeds, and chopped nuts in large bowl. Stir thoroughly, making sure dates are coated with flour mixture. Then add oil, honey, or molasses, and milk. Mix well. Divide into two greased 10 by 15 inch jelly roll pans. Pat firmly and evenly. Cut into one by 3 inch pieces with pizza cutter. Bake 15 to 20 minutes or until browned. Remove sticks around the edges if they brown before center is done. These have an excellent keeping quality. Makes about 100.

COOL FUDGE CUPS

2 (3 oz.) boxes instant chocolate pudding
4 cups milk
1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened
3 tablespoons malt powder
Popsicle sticks (about 16 to 20)
3-½ oz. plastic cups (about 16-20)

Remove ice cream from freezer, unwrap and place in a bowl, cutting into large chunks and stirring until softened. In a separate bowl, beat pudding with milk for two minutes. Stir in softened ice cream and malt powder. Blend well. Fill plastic cups and partially freeze; insert stick in middle of each cup. Freeze completely.

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
3 tablespoons honey
1¼ cups pineapple juice (unsweetened)
2 tablespoons concentrated orange juice
1 cup unsweetened canned pineapple chunks, drained (optional)
2 medium oranges, peeled and separated
1 banana, sliced

Soften gelatin in cold water. Warm gelatin mixture and honey until dissolved. Add juices, cool until almost set. Add fruit, chill until set. Also, plain apple slices, (cut crosswise instead of lengthwise) with a slice of cheese sandwiched between them is a good healthy snack.

Never let it be said that you're too old to learn

I have been working with horses for 12 years and I still can't believe same of the ridiculous things I try to pull

Just last week I decided it was time to move the old mare from the lower to the upper pasture To save time and make my life simple, when I let her out of the meadow gate, I didn't bother with a halter or lead-rope but just hopped on her bareback to let the old horse plod up the hill. I had done it hundreds of times before and it usually took all her energy to get up the slope in first gear.

That night was different. No sooner were my legs across her back before she streamlined off at a full gallop--in the wrong direction. Hanging onto a fistful of mane, I vaguely wondered what had caused this sudden exertion, as she charged down the fence line, tore halfway around the pond, and sideswiped a willow tree.

Then it was a quick rollback on her heels (now why can't she do that when I want her to?), and we were thundering back the way we came Two more close brushes with trees and I realized that we seemed to be dead-aimed for a substantially grown mulberry tree that loomed in our path

It was then that I doubted the sanity of the horse I was sure some cog in the wheels of her brain must have sprung loose to cause this suicide action

Preparing for the worse, I pulled my right leg up and made ready to abandon mount as the tree came closer. However, while I was still clinging on, looking for a soft spot to fall, she suddenly swerved left, scraping by the tree obstruction in her way

This erratic motion of hers resulted in my right leg swinging over the horse and my knee joint connecting with a solid locust fence post which the horse happened to be passing My arms quickly gave up the struggle to remain with the front half of the horse, and I was left behind.

For a few moments I hung suspended, one leg thoroughly entwined in the fence, the rest of me dangling wrong-end-up before I slid to a heap on the ground, and started to count bruises

When I finally got up, it was to head to the barn for a halter and leadrope

Live and learn.

On being a farm wife

—And other hazards

By JOYCE BUPP

It's all over.

The office desk is covered with registration papers, signs, and scribbled up, wrinkled, and smudged show catalogs.

Three sets of dirty jeans are piled on the toy chest, half covering a dusty pair of boots and one mate to a pair of soggy, mud-caked sneakers.

I'm tackling the cleaning out of our large picnic cooler. On the bottom of it is a quart of melted-ice water, liberally laced with a handful of cookie crumbs, and dust that flew from a passing bale of hay. Who wants this slightly stale roll wrapped around the last remaining slices of ham and cheese? Down the drain goes a three-day-old lukewarm cup of "iced tea" remaining in the bottom of the thermos jug.

The trash can is running over with milkshake cups, straws and bags from a fast food restaurant where we stopped to grab supper last night.

Our cattle truck, gas tank almost dry, begs to be relieved of its burden of accumulated straw, gravel, and manure. If the next driver is lucky, someone will have disposed of the two empty beet pulp bags and three sweatshirts lying on the seat.

Down in the depths of the dusty showbox, halters are wrapped (maybe) and stashed between a cargo of bent nails, a premium book and the staplegun. A bottle of washing liquid has spilled, coating neighboring items with a sticky, slimy coating. And fished from one section is a crumpled, half-eaten box of crackers, soggy on the bottomside and tasting faintly of mineral oil. Her kitty, kitty, kitty....

Will there be an end to the pile of laundry on the basement floor. And whose stray blue shirt is this? I've never seen it before.

Glitter has fallen from the fly-specked cattle name signs and litters the kitchen floor like some errant snowstorm that has blown through the house.

The heifers have literally run back to their pens, just glad to be home.

Goodbye, county fair. It was nice visiting with you for a week. Thank goodness you only come once a year.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Co. Society 6

A tour of Goodwill Industries, Lancaster, was recently taken by members of Lancaster County Farm Women Society 6. The facilities of the institution were toured and the work of the place discussed.

After the tour, members met for a business meeting. It was decided to give money normally spent for refreshments on the trip home towards the work of Goodwill Industries.

Lancaster Co. Society 21

On September 8, Lancaster County Farm Women Society 21 met at the home of Mrs. Samuel Groff, Peach Bottom, for the program "Back to School Night." School teacher, Mrs. Charles Tindall, Sr., Peach Bottom, led the program which consisted of enacting a day at school. Reading, arithmetic, music, and recess were included in the program.

A business meeting was held in the form of a PTA meeting with president, Mrs. Robert Rohrer in charge. It was decided to send money to the Farm Women Societies of the Johnstown area.

Refreshments were brown bag lunches each member brought and exchanged.

Next meeting will be a Lancaster County tour Day scheduled for October 13.

October 20, a craft night is planned at the home of Mrs. William Arrowsmith, Peach Bottom.

Lancaster Co. Society 25

Lancaster County Farm Women Society 25 recently met at Historic Strasburg for a banquet dinner. Twenty-two members were present and husbands were invited.

Program for the evening were slides of the West shown by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hudson.

The next meeting will be October 8 at the home of Mrs. Ada Rice, Millersville, Pa.

Mills have always been one of the centers or hubs of community activity. Recently, I visited the Rome Mill, also known as Compass Mill, which was built in 1757 by the Moravian Brethren. It is located east of Lititz in Lancaster County and was recently opened as a tourist attraction. It had been a combination grist and saw mill. Milling was profitable in the early days, as in 1777 the profits made by this mill were $2500.

One outstanding feature of the mill is the five ton water wheel which stands a high 22 feet in the center of the building. With three sets of millstones it could produce 25 barrels of flour daily.

In researching this property, I was surprised to learn that my great, great uncle A. W. Shober owned the property in 1883.

When Philip went to Canada with other 4-H youth last month, he had a very nice family to live with there. He tells us that it was on Sunday that he worked the hardest. It seems that his host was a part-time farmer and had to work the land on the sabbath.

They have very flat marshy land which needs tile to drain it for farming. So, a bridge had to be built in order to get into a field to make hay. They put a lot of ground over a very large pipe and it was hard work.

He had an unusual experience of showing a goat at the Huntington Fair. It seems the family had two animals in the same class and so he was pressed into service. And, his animal won first prize-a red ribbon. Yes, he tells me that in Canada a blue ribbon is given for 2nd place.

It was a real learning experience.

Winners named for York Fair 4-H dairy shows

YORK - Joey, Tommy and Gary Welsh of East Berlin, Cindy Rutter of York, Darryl Rohrbaugh of New Freedom, Suzy Queitzsch of New Freedom, Beverly Brown of Delta and Patty Greek of Delta were the big winners in the 4-H dairy shows at the York Fair on Wednesday.

Joey Welsh exhibited the grand champion Ayrshire, while brothers Tommy and Gary exhibited the junior and senior champion Brown Swiss, respectively. Marvin Krone of Glen Rock had the reserve junior champion of the Brown Swiss breed, while Greg Fantom of Delta had the reserve senior and reserve grand champion.

In the Guernsey show, which was a bit more competitive than the events for other colored breeds, Cindy Rutter of York exhibited a senior yearling which won the junior champion honor. Darryl Rohrbaugh was proud owner of the reserve junior champion, but had an even more victorious moment when his 2-year old daughter of Deep Lake Flash Hannibal was chosen as senior and grand champion. The young man, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rohrbaugh, also won the FFA and Open Guernsey shows with the same animal. Earlier this month he had the champion at the Southcentral 4-H dairy show in Harrisburg.

Barbara Kilgore and Joey Welsh were champion fitter and reserve champion fitter, respectively, of the 4-H dairy shows at the York Fair.

Brian Lehman showed the reserve senior and reserve grand champion. For more details on the 4-H Guernsey show, please refer to an article elsewhere in this newspaper, headlined "Rohrbaugh wins York Guernsey shows."

Suzy Quietzsch beat the competition in the Jersey show with her senior yearling. She also had a first-place junior calf. Other first-place winners in the contest were Mike and Joey Welsh of East Berlin, and Wendy McCleary of Stewartstown.

The Holstein show was, as usual, the biggest event of the dairy contests, with nearly 60 animals entering the ring this year.

We offer detailed placings of the classes.

HORIZONTAL CAGE FEEDER

There's no need for a feed mixing wheel in the hopper because Northco's core auger continually mixes the feed along the entire feed line. That means Northco's Cage Feeder helps insure that all your birds get the same ration. The cage feeder drive unit uses simple sprockets and chain. Simple design means reduced wear, fewer mechanical problems and longer equipment life.

TIPS ON RECYCLING PATTERNS

As the price of commercial patterns continues to rise, don't make the mistake of using your favorite pattern only one time.

Many patterns will produce a different fashion look simply by making them in different fabrics. For example, a simple dress pattern can be made in striped fabric with a matching pastel collar for summer; light-weight wool for winter; and silk, velvet or velveteen for evening wear.

One thing to keep in mind when recycling patterns is that fabrics react differently to the same pattern. Some fabrics will have more stretch than others and may require a closer fit. Extra fabric will be required for striped and napped designs.

Get more mileage from a shirt pattern by adjusting its length. Make it hip length to wear over pants, cut below the knee for a dress or tunic, or floor length for a caftan or sleep shirt. Create a shirt-tail effect by leaving slits on the sides and rounding the edges.

Pattern details can make a difference in the look of a garment. The use of buttons or toggles, braid, trim or piping can change the look of a garment. Cutting certain pattern pieces on the bias or using bound buttonholes or machine-made buttonholes in contrasting thread can produce a different fashion look.

The more experienced home sewer can create new fashions by combining pattern pieces for several patterns. When this is done, be sure the patterns are the same size and, preferably, the same brand. This will elminate unnecessary alterations, since many patterns have more ease than others. Don't combine pattern pieces from patterns that are designed for stretch knits with those designed for woven fabrics.

Pockets, collars and sleeves are the easiest pieces to interchange. When using collars and sleeves from another pattern, be sure to compare the new sleeve and collar pattern with the original pattern pieces. Some sleeves and collars may look similar, but there may be differences in the shape of the armhole and neckline. If there are drastic differences between the corresponding pieces, they shouldn't be used.

Patch pockets don't create a problem, but give consideration to the size of the pocket in relation to the area of the garment where it will be placed. Pockets that are too large or too small look awkward. Before stitching the pocket, pin it in place to check the proportions.

With a little imagination, it's possible to create new fashions as the seasons change without spending a lot of money for new patterns.

UPDATE ON FLUORESCENT LIGHTS

Fluorescent lights, first introduced in 1938, now are available in deluxe fluorescent tubes which enhance flesh tones and all colors in the home. Fluorescent tubes are more efficient than incandescent lamp bulbs.

Duluxe fluorescent tubes come in two types. Deluxe cool white complements "cool" colors such as blue or green, and is most nearly like daylight.

Installed under kitchen cabinets, deluxe fluorescent tubes provide nearly shadow-free lighting for food preparation. Over and beside the bathroom mirror, fluorescent tubes help give skin a healthy glow and provide ample lighting for applying makeup or shaving. To prevent glare and harsh shadows, shield the tubes with a plastic or glass diffuser.

In living, dining, family, or bedrooms, fluorescent lights installed in valances or soffits provide general illumination which can be supplemented with incandescents for reading or decorative accents. By adding a dimming device, fluorescent lighting can be even more flexible.

Deluxe fluorescent tubes may not be stocked by all variety or department stores but they are available at lighting speciality stores or you can order them from electric supply stores.

Fluorescent tubes are more expensive than incadescent lamp bulbs. But fluorescents provide three times as much light as incandescents for the same wattage and last 10 to 20 times longer. With normal usage, fluorescent lights last five or six years.

A Hydro-Heater Franklin will cut your fuel costs...
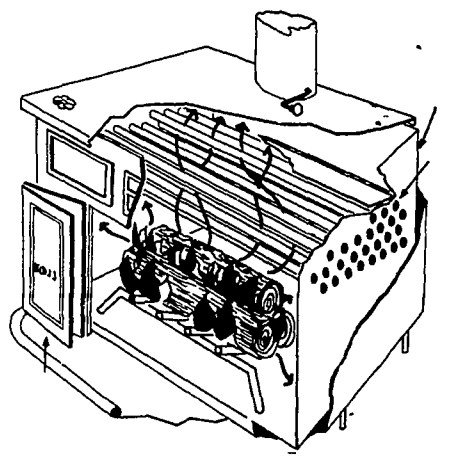
Can heat your whole house, even when it's zero outside!



A 1¼" water jacket surrounds the fire on back, sides and bottom. This allows you to place the Hydro-Heater Franklin within 6" of any wall or partition, because the outside temperature never exceeds 210°.

Directional flow tubing captures the heat that is normally lost up the flue. 65% of the heat collected in Hydro-Heater is absorbed by the tubing section. This heat is then transferred to your existing heating system.

AVAILABLE ARE HOT WATER HEAT EXCHANGERS FOR DOMESTIC HOT WATER SYSTEMS.

Also Available Are Fireplace Units

A Hydro-Heater Franklin gives you a 300 to 500 per cent increase in heat output over normal Franklin-type stoves. In fact, you get a 175,000 BTU output with a Hydro-Heater Franklin! And with a Hydro-Heater, you don't put up with the "freeze or fry" situation experienced with ordinary Franklin-type stoves. That's because Hydro-Heater transfers its heat to your existing home heating system to warm every room in your house. Why settle for just any conventional wood-burning stove when you can have a beautiful, efficient Hydro-Heater Franklin.

HART - THE NEW WHEAT

Hart Wheat is a new variety, a high yielder, and a medium early type. It has very good straw, medium short in length and is a bearded wheat. The 1977 crop had a high test weight per bushel and averaged a 15 per cent increase in yield over Redcoat Wheat. Hart can be combined a few days ahead of Redcoat and is moderately resistant to Hessian Fly. Hart responds to fertilizer and management much like Redcoat. It is a wheat that you should check out.

'Incredible edible egg' will keep on rolling

PARK RIDGE, Ill. - The Incredible Edible Egg will keep on rolling in 1978 based on the budget approved by the American Egg Board at its meeting in Chicago last week.

Continued television advertising, increased cholesterol research, expanded state and regional cooperative funding, a strong Consumer Eduction program and a Disneyland egg restaurant are all part of next year's progam, acording to John P. Wallace, AEB chairman.

In the area of advertising, the Board approved the continuation of television advertising in the top 20 markets, where about 46 per cent of the nation's population is centered. This will be augmented with daytime network television plus ads in top women's magazines.

Cholesterol research was considered of extreme long range importance to the industry. A budget of $500,000 for cholesterol research was approved by the Board, an increase of almost 40 per cent over the $370,000 being spent in 1977. A special Scientific Review Panel made up of several of the nation's most respected scientists will review the applications for grants from AEB funds. The Board also approved $100,000 for the important new product development research program.

Based on the success of the state and regional cooperative programs in 1977, the Board voted increased funds in these areas for 1978. The Board expressed the belief that the activities on the state and regional level are vital to the success of the industry's program. Increased funds were also made available for the development of merchandising materials to be used by state and regional organizations.

The Board tenatively approved a proposal to sponsor an American Egg House at Disneyland. This special egg restaurant would have a complete egg menu as well as egg educational materials, egg cooking demonstrations and other promotional activities.

Also approved were special promotional and advertising programs for the food service industry and retail food stores.

Export development funds were also budgeted to study freight rates as well as to participate in trade fairs and other activities to determine the potential for export of eggs to various other countries of the world.

Many other significant programs were included in the 1978 budget, which is subject to approval of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The Board also was informed of the sales measurements used to track the 1977 AEB advertising program. For the first 24 weeks of 1977, egg sales were up approximately four per cent in retail store studies in the top 20 markets where AEB advertising is heaviest. In the stores studied outside the top 20 where AEB advertising is light, egg sales declined approximately one per cent, a net difference of approximately five per cent.

Awareness of AEB's advertising slogan continued to increase, as did favorable attitudes towards eggs mentioned in AEB's commercial message.

"The research seems to indicate that our 1977 program is having an impact on market," Wallace said. "We believe the 1978 program will build on that strong base. Even without an increase in funds available to meet the rising costs caused by inflation, we are confident that we can keep up the momentum we have generated."

It's lambing time for Dorsets

By KENDACE BORRY

NARVON - Although most breeds of sheep normally lamb in the winter and early spring months, the Dorset sheep can lamb at any time of the year and most breeders favor the late Summer and early Fall months for lambing. From the beginning of September until the middle of October, on many Dorset sheep farms, young lambs will be appearing.

Such is the case on the farm owned and run by Dr. Robert Herr and his family, Narvon, R2. The first lambs were born on September 2, and the crop of little ones has been steadily increasing since that date. According to Dr. Herr, the last ewes are due to lamb around the beginning of October.

The Herrs prefer having their lambing season now because of the season of nice weather. The lambs can be dropped in the pasture, and cold weather worries can be forgotten. Also, the fact that the calendar year for sheep runs from September 1 to September 1, in showing ages, gives the Dorset sheep born in September, the advantage in age, growth, and maturity over lambs born in the late winter and early spring.

In preparing for the lambing season, the Herrs shear their sheep around March 15 and put the ram in the flock April 15.

After a lamb is born, the Herrs have developed their own system to insure that the lamb has a healthy chance at life. First, they try to be there when the lamb is born to dry the lamb off and clean it up. Secondly, they treat the navel of the lamb with iodine, to prevent infection, and they give the lamb ½ teaspoon of teramyacin (water soluable), to further protect it. Third, they milk the ewe out and try to get an ounce of colestrum into the stomach of the lamb.

The Herrs dock their lambs when they are five days old, using a system with a rubber band. The rubber band is placed around the lamb's tail, for two or three days, depending on the season, and then the tail is cut off. A tetanus shot is given to the lamb when it is docked.

The lambs are given creep feed from the time they are born, and the mix used for the lambs is the same as that given to the ewes when they are fed. Herr and his wife, Betty, mentioned that the only times that the ewes are fed grain is when the lambs are beside them and when they are flushed in the spring, after being sheared.

The formula for the feed that the Herrs use for their sheep is as follows:

300 lb. bran
800 lb. crimped oats
400 lb. corn chop
150 lb. molasses
18 lb. minerals
18 lb. salt

The Herrs also tatoo ears of their lambs rather than tagging them for they believe this is a more permanent way of marking the animals. They also worm their animals six times a year, and give them shots for enterotexemia, or over-eating disease. When the lambs are one month of age, they are given a shot to protect against the deficiency of vitamin E. Some parts of Pa. are extremely deficient in Vitamin E and selenium, a mineral that works with Vitamin E, the Herrs stated. Signs that a lamb has this disease is a slow-moving, stiff animal, and the condition is sometimes called "stiff lamb disease."

The Herrs like Dorsets because they claim they are fast-growing, and an average person can handle them when they are full grown. They refer to the Dorsets' fine disposition, few lambing problems, and state that the Dorset is a good cross for other breeds of sheep. They also think they are more reasonably priced then some other breeds of sheep and that makes it easier for some people to get into the sheep business.

This little number 19 was a friendly fearless fellow, not afraid of anything or anybody, as long as his mother was within sight.

The Herr family, including the children, Elizabeth, now a pre-vet major at Penn State; Christian, 15; Barbara, 14, and Margaret 9; all help with the sheep, and show the animals. Barbara very recently had the reserve champion open lamb at the York Fair, and Christian had the champion pen of lambs at the 1977 Keystone Livestock Exposition, while Barbara had the champion pen of lambs at the 1977 Pa. State Farm Show.

Meanwhile, the new crop of Dorset lambs can be seen enjoying the late summer weather and scampering over the hills and pastures.

BOAR PANELS

A new Boar Pen Adjusta-Panel with heavy duty ends has been announced by Caswell Manufacturing Co. The panel can be adjusted to any length between its shortest length and six inches longer. The heavy duty ends are available either with sleeves for hanging the panel or without sleeves if bolting is preferred. The minimum lengths of the panels range from five feet 0" to 16½ inches. Overall height when mounted 2" off the floor is 50". Panels are constructed of rugged 14-gauge structural steel tubing.

Milk prices under review

Order 4 hearing slated

PHILADELPHIA - The U.S. Department of Agriculture will hold a public hearing here on Oct. 4 to consider amending pricing, pooling, and diversion provisions in the Middle Atlantic federal milk marketing order. The hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Franklin Motor Inn, Ben Franklin Parkway at 22nd St., Philadelphia.

Herbert L. Forest, dairy official with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS), said the hearing is being held because U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, in the Abbotts Dairies case, directed that consideration be given to the method of computing Class I prices under the order. USDA invited proposals on Class I pricing and any other provisions of the order.

The major cooperative associations supplying the market have proposed that present Class I pricing provisions be continued, Forest said. Abbotts Dairies has proposed a bracketed pricing system be adopted. Under this proposal, Forest said, Class I prices would change within predetermined ranges.

For example, the price could change in amounts of 20 cents per hundredweight, or whatever other amount evidence shows appropriate. A handler organization proposed that the Class I price differential be reduced at least $1.00 per hundredweight. The present differential is $2.78 per hundredweight.

Other proposals that will be considered would change provisions for pooling distributing plants and change provisions for diverting milk to nonpool plants.

USDA will evaluate the hearing evidence and decide whether any changes in the order should be recommended.

Copies of the hearing notice detailing the proposals may be obtained from Market Administrator Joseph D. Shine, 300 North Lee Street, No. 320, Alexandria, Va. 22313; or from the Dairy Division, AMS, USDA, Washington, D C. 20250.

Horticulture Show set for Sept. 24-25

UNIVERSITY PARK - Preparations are going strong for the 64th Annual Horticulture Show set for September 24 and 25 in the Ice Pavilion at Penn State. "Gardening with an International Flair," the show's title, will take visitors through four international settings providing ideas to incorporate into home gardens of Pennsylvania. The event will be underway Sept. 24 from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Sept. 25 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. There is no charge for admission.

Spanish, English, Oriental, and Western European gardens will be featured. An elaborate Spanish home scene will contain a balcony, patio, and a fountain. An abundance of shrubbery and colorful flowers will add to the flamboyance of this display.

A simple English cottage will be presented. The main landscaping will be concentrated in a backyard patio scene with shade trees and rose bushes. Also included in the appeal of this exhibit will be a border of rhododendrons and dwarf conifers and a pathway highlighted with azaleas and other shrubbery.

An Oriental garden perhaps will be the most unusual of the show. The landscaping will incorporate the three basic elements of stone, water, and plant material. Other features will be a rock and sand garden and a Japanese water basin used in traditional tea ceremonies.

A Western European garden will be designed by a committee headed by Eugene Schramm of Pittsburgh. They plan to display street house, front yard gardens. And elsewhere, Pi Alpha Xi, honorary fraternity in floriculture and ornamental horticulture, will present an herb garden.

The Horticulture Show, which attracts 20,000 visitors each year, comes at the time of the Maryland-Penn State football game.

This year's introduction-dedication area is headed by Randy Soergal of Wexford. Traditionally, the show is dedicated to an individual who has made an outstanding contribution to horticulture and "The Hort Show" at Penn State. The persons' identity will be revealed at the opening of the show the morning of September 24.

Before leaving the show, visitors may want to shop in the sales area. Plants on sale will include ferns, tropical and potted plants, succulents, cacti, and carnivorous plants such as the Venus fly trap.

Junior Cooking Edition

Harvest time is upon us so to use all those pumpkins, tomatoes, peaches, and apples, this week's column has some recipes that should taste good to your tummy. Keep cooking!

APPLE CRISP

4 cups sliced cooking apples (4 to 6 medium sized)
1 tablespoon lemon juice
⅓ cup sifted enriched flour
1 cup oatmeal
½ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅓ cup melted butter or margarine

Place apples in greased shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Combine dry ingredients, add melted butter, mixing until crumbly. Sprinkle crumb mixture on top of apples. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 30 minutes or until apples are tender. Serve warm or cold with milk or cream. Makes six servings. If apples are tart, sweeten slightly.

Solanco Fair sheep show held

By KENDACE BORRY

QUARRYVILLE - Competition in seven sheep breeds, market lambs, fitting, and showing classes was held at the Solanco Fair in Quarryville on the afternoon of September 14. Judge for the event was Mark Gould, recently hired as vocational agriculture teacher for the Solanco School District, and formerly from Augusta, Maine.

In the fitting and showing classes, Deb Lau was chosen champion fitter. She is a fifth year 4-H member from Red Lion, R4, who showed an Oxford to be the champion of its breed.

The champion showman was Jon Janney, Brodbecks, R1, also a five year member of 4-H. The 4-Her also showed an Oxford named reserve champion of its breed.

In the Corriedale breed, two brothers took top honors. Blaine Grove, 14, of Red Lion, was named champion with his ewe lamb and his Bryan Grove showed an aged ewe to the reserve championship.

Barbara Herr, Narvon R2, showed two of her sheep to the top two honors. Her yearling ewe, recently named reserve champion at the York Fair and champion at Kimberton Fair, was again shown to be champion. The 14 year old girl's ewe lamb was named reserve champion.

The Hampshire yearling ewe shown by Thomas Muller, Delta R2, was named champion of that breed. This ewe was also named champion 4-H ewe at Dallastown Fair and York Fair, also taking championship honors in the open class at Dallastown.

Robert Ambler, Cochranville, R1, showed his aged ewe to the reserve champion Hampshire position.

Fred Keys, 16, of Cochranville R1, took his yearling ewe to be named champion. Reserve champion of the breed was Linda Ebaugh, Delta, R2, who exhibited an ewe lamb.

A sheep shown for Michele Bankert, Red Lion, was named champion of the Southdowns, while Gerald Rohrer, Quarryville, R1, showed the reserve champion.

In the Suffolk division, Nancy and Billy MacCauley, a brother and sister from Atglen, R1, took top honors. Nancy's yearling ewe was named champion while Billy showed his ewe lamb to reserve honors.

$1200 is top price at Penna. Jersey sale

By JOANNE SPAHR

LANCASTER - "Duchess Betty", a five-year-old daughter of Nancy's Sleeping Advancer, commanded the highest price at the Pennsylvania State Jersey Sale on September 10 at the Guernsey Sale Pavilion, Lancaster. At $1200, the animal, classified "Very Good" with a four-year-old production record of 11,872 pounds of milk and 534 pounds of fat, was priced $100 above the second highest priced animal.

Consigned by Pioneer Farm, Old Lyme, Conn., and purchased by Roger Shaub, Peach Bottom, the animal was due September 15 to Merrymaker.

Up to this point in her show record, she has taken the first junior yearling spot in the 1973 Eastern States, second junior yearling at Maryland in 1973, and the eighth place two-year-old at the Royal Winter Fair in 1974. Her daughter will be consigned this November to the National Pot of Gold sale.

Duke Farms, Somerville, N.J., consigned the second highest priced animal to the sale. "Duke Royal Alexandria," a six-year-old with a production record of 16,059 pounds of milk and 718 pounds of fat, commanded $1100 and was sold to Robert and Florence Robinson, Waynesboro, Pa. The animal was a daughter of Secret Baronet, a bull classified "Very Good."

At $1000, the third priced animal of the sale was Freyhof Javelin Flirt a two-year-old consigned by Frey and Zoellin of Ottsville, Pa. The open heifer is a daughter of W.F. Secret Javelin, a young A.I. bull classified "Very Good" whose first daughters are freshening now. Terry Lee Rhein of Pine Grove, Pa., purchased the animal.

The average for the 31 animals sold was $681, down from last year's $848 average.

For the first time in its history the sale featured a special event - the Pot of Gold sale, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Jersey Cattle Club.

As an incentive of young Jersey breeders, six calves were sold on Saturday with the stipulation that 25 per cent of the gross from their sale would be set aside in the Pot of Gold fund. The money from this fund will be awarded to the three junior members whose calves purchased in this sale make the highest production records in the first lactation, provided they calve before reaching 30 months of age.

"We're doing this so that the junior members have good stock as a foundation for their herds," says Mrs. Helene Dreisbach, who is the head of the advertising and catalog committees and wife of the sale chairman.

"The consigors get less for their animals, but they're willing to do it for a good cause."

The highest priced calf in the Pot of Gold sale went for $560. The calf was consigned to the sale by William and Sue Dietrich, Pipersville, and purchased by Warren J. Fender, of Keymore, Md.

Mrs. Dreisbach figures that, roughly, the junior with the highest producing animal will earn about $300 - enough to pay off some of his initial investment. Second place winner will receive $200 and third, $100.

The Jersey sale also features a second rather unique event. Each year an award is presented to the Jersey cow or heifers who completes the highest record in the year following her purchase at the Pennsylvania State Sale. Plaques are given to both the consignor and the buyer in whose herd the record is made.

This year's award went to Sunset Ridge JFD Laurel with a mature equivalent of 17,333 pounds of milk and an actual record of 14,651. Her pounds of fat were 751 actual. The consignors of this animal to last year's sale were Eugene and Brian Harris, and the buyer, in whose herd she produced the award winning record, was James Kelley.

Rohrbaugh wins York Guernsey shows

YORK - Twelve-year old Darryl Rohrbaugh of New Freedom captured the grand championship banner at the York Fair's Open and 4-H Guernsey shows on Wednesday night. The son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rohrbaugh, Darryl is a member of the Glen Rock 4-H Club. His first-prize cow, Leader's H. Muriel, is a 2-year old daughter of Deep Lake Flash Hannibal.

The Rohrbaugh family operates the well-known Leader Farms, where 60 Guernseys have a rolling herd average of 12,850 pounds of milk and 622 of fat.

Aside from winning the big championship banner, Rohrbaugh also had the best uddered cow and a second place senior yearling.

The reserve championship banner was won by Brian Lehman from Honeycrest Farms, York. Honeycrest's Guernseys won a number of honors at the show, including first place intermediate calf, senior calf, 3-year old, 4-year old, best three females, dairy herd, and female bred and owned by exhibitor.

The Rutter family also won a number of ribbons, including both junior champion spots. Timy Rutter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rutter, York, won the championship ribbon, while his sister and former dairy princess, Cindy, captured the reserve ribbon. Both had the best junior females bred and owned by the exhibitor.

Following are detailed placings of the classes:

Junior Calf

1. Todd Rutter, 2. Timy Rutter, 3. Honeycrest Farm

Agreement to help farm emergency services

WASHINGTON, D.C. - An agreement to avoid conflict and delay in referring farmers to their best source of disaster emergency loans has been reached by the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) and Small Business Administration (SBA), the two federal agencies authorized to make farm emergency loans.

Guidelines on cooperation between the two agencies are contained in a memorandum of understanding signed by FmHA Administrator Gordon Cavanaugh and SBA Administrator A. Vernon Weaver.

The memorandum pledged the two agencies to "cooperate in the use of their respective loan making authorities to complement the activities of each other and ... improve and expand the delivery of financial assistance to the agricultural segment of the country; all with the least possible degree of overlapping, confusing or duplicating activities."

FmHA, a U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) credit agency, administers USDA's programs of disaster emergency loans to farmers. SBA also is authorized under a Congressional act of 1975 (PL 94-305) to classify farms as businesses eligible for regular and emergency SBA loans. The two agencies' programs differ in some respects, including rules of eligibility, loan limits, loan security requirements, and maintenance of loan offices at the local level.

The interagency memorandum of understanding provides for prompt and continuous interchange of information between FmHA and SBA at their national and state or district office levels on areas where each is authorized to make farm disaster emergency loans. Farmers presently or previously served through FmHA will be encouraged to continue to deal with that agency.

A farmer may make initial inquiry about emergency financing to either agency but will be directed for filing of a formal application to the one where, it appears, the applicant can best be served. The farmer will have an application pending only to one agency at a time, but may apply to the second agency if denied a loan by the first one. If during consideration by one agency it develops that the applicant should apply to the other agency, financial and credit data already compiled by the first agency will not have to be recompiled.

Among differences in law and regulations governing disaster loans of the two agencies are those affecting non-U.S. citizens (ineligible for FmHA loans), limits on loan amount and gross income of an eligible farm (none apply in the FmHA program), and a showing that credit is not available from another source (not required by SBA).

Both agencies serve in areas of major disasters declared by the President or agricultural disaster areas designated by the Secretary of Agriculture. Services also may be authorized in other situations by the SBA Administrator or by or by FmHA state directors.

FmHA emergency loans are made through the agency's nationwide system of more than 1,780 county offices. SBA conduucts emergency lending through regional, district and branch offices, including special offices that may be set up in disaster areas.

WHAT'S NEW

FUEL CATALYST

A fuel oil catalyst to save home owners 10 to 23 per cent of their home heating oil this Winter is being introduced by Robaire Company, Wayne, Pa.

During certain periods of oil burner operation, such as stopping and starting, small amounts of soot are frequently deposited on the heater walls and flues. Soot is an extremely effective insulation. As the layers of soot increase in depth, the oil-burner is required to operate for a longer period of time, and burn more fuel, before the heat can penetrate this insulating layer of soot to create hot water or steam. The catalyst, LC-s, helps overcome this condition.

Through a unique process, LC-2 lowers the ignition point of soot so it can now be consumed at normal boiler temperature, (approximately 300 degrees F), instead of the usualy 1100 degrees F. required to "burn off" this accumulated material.

LC-2 also contains a special ingredient for loosening and removing sludge and condensate, (water), from the fuel tank. Another component protects the inside lining of fuel tanks against rusting and pitting.

A half-gallon of LC-2 will normally treat 1,750 gallons of home heating oil.

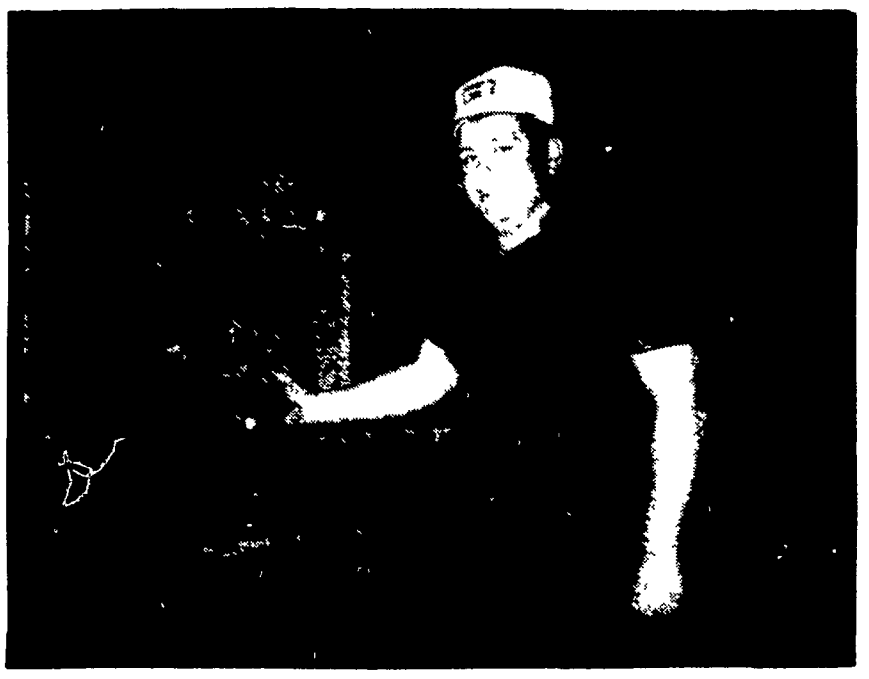
Ensil-Ate Works!

HERE'S PROOF!

Clair Myers & Son Wayne - Galawn Farms
RD6 Dover, PA — York County

"Last year we hosted the Dover Young Farmers for the annual Field Day at our farm. At that time we filled two identical silos with corn silage and treated one silo with Master Mix Ensil-Ate. We sent samples to the lab but we didn't need a lab report to tell us which silage the cows preferred! Our cows definitely preferred the treated silage and milked better. You can bet we are going to treat our silage with Ensil-Ate again this year!"
— Clair Myers

Lynn Wolf - Gerrilynn Farm
RD 1 Abbottstown, PA — York County



"I plan to use Ensil-Ate this year on all my silage. Last year I compared it to another preservative but the cows told me which one they preferred."
— Lynn Wolf

The Ephrata Fair has something for everyone

EPHRATA - The Ephrata Street Fair, Pennsylvania's largest of its kind, officially ushers in its 59th year on Tuesday, September 20 and continues through Saturday, September 24.

The parade, highlighting the five day affair, begins its march through the streets of Ephrata at 7 p.m. on Wednesday evening (rain date, September 22). Drawing over 65,000 viewers, the parade is composed of talented high school bands, a variety of marching and special interest groups, a beautiful array of floats and the lovely Miss Lancaster County Pageant contestants. As was announced last year, the 1977 Honor Band will be the band which receives first prize in 1976. As Honor Band, the Warwick High School Band will present a concert in front of the viewing stand, located on Lake Street.

Visitors of all ages will enjoy the various displays to be found at specific locations throughout the bustling center of activity. Sounds of baby beef, cattle, swine, sheep and poultry will fill the Ephrata Community Park and will become the point of interest during the judging of the livestock. Also on display in "Tent City" will be tobacco, grain and forage. A new innovation this year will be the mini displays by youth groups. Many farm displays will be exhibited for public viewing.

Stemming from the agricultural aspect of the fair are the many contests which draw several thousand spectators. Among these will be the tractor driving, garden tractor pulling, cow milking contest, and the pig chase.

A carnival spirit will prevail on the giant midway throughout the week, complete with rides for children and adults, concession stands, games to test your skills and free entertainment nightly.

On Thursday afternoon, between one and five o'clock, the midway is overtaken by thousands of school age children for what is commonly known as "Kiddies Day". The children are given special reduced rates for rides, including the ferris wheel, the merry-go-round and many others for the daring younger set. It's an enchanting and exciting afternoon for each boy and girl who ventures out to the fair. The Fair Association gives all the children a treat of popsicles and suckers, and a clown is on hand to greet all.

On Saturday, the final day of festivities, thousands of people line the streets to catch a glimpse of the little tots in their fancy costumes and creatively designed floats. The baby parade will be held at two o'clock on Saturday afternoon and is expected, as in past years, to be major attraction of the week.

The climax of the fair will take place at the Ephrata High School auditorium on Saturday evening at 8 p.m. Here the young and talented contestants will compete in the Lancaster County Scholarship Pageant, which is a forerunner to the Miss Pennsylvania Pageant.

The five day event attracts more than 200,000 persons each year.

Premium books and scheduled events can be obtained at local stores in the area.

The fair was inaugurated in 1919, as a homecoming for returned veterans of World War I.

Food on sale

EPHRATA - The Ephrata Area Sertoma Club will have a food stand on East Fulton Street at E. L. Snyder's Warehouse during the Wednesday night Farm Show Parade.

The Sertoma Club bought the mini bus for the Ephrata Area Social Services and helps to maintain it for the use of the elderly and the handicapped. They have also pledged to buy the sauna room and bath for the Recreation Center.

Parade route announced

EPHRATA - The annual parade of the Ephrata Fair will take place on Wednesday, Sept. 21, unless hampered by rain, in which case it will be postponed until Sept. 22. In either case, the parade will assemble at the Ephrata High School at 6:30 p.m. and move at 7 p.m.

The line of march will be from the Ephrata High School on Oak Boulevard to West Fulton Street, west on Fulton Street to Main Street, east on Main Street to Park Avenue, north on Park Avenue to Chestnut Street, east on Chestnut Street to Church Avenue, south on Church Avenue to Locust Street, east on Locust Street to Lincoln Avenue, to East Main Street, west on Main Street to Lake Street, south on Lake Street to East Fulton Street, west on Fulton Street to South State Street, south on State Street to Queen Street, west on Queen Street to disband.

$10.30 milk price set

ALEXANDRIA, Va. - Market Administrator Joseph D. Shine on Monday announced an August 1977 base milk price of $10.30 per hundredweight for the Middle Atlantic Marketing Order and an excess milk price of $8.69. The weighted average August price is $10.13 and the butterfat differential for the month is 11.6 cents. The August base milk price is up six cents from July but is three cents below the August 1976 base price. Order No. 4 prices are announced for 3.5 per cent milk f.o.b. plant location within 55 miles of Philadelphia, and also within 75 miles from the nearer of Washington, or Baltimore. There is a 6-cent direct-delivery differential applicable to producer milk received at plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia.

Shine reported that August producer milk receipts totaled 486.0 million pounds, an increase of 3.2 per cent from July and 5.8 per cent above a year ago. Class I producer milk accounted for 54.12 per cent of total August producer deliveries, compared to 53.03 per cent in July and 54.93 per cent last year. Base milk represented 89.93 per cent of total August production. A total 8,002 dairymen supplied Middle Atlantic Order handlers during the month and the average daily delivery per producer was 1959 pounds, or 6.5 per cent above the August 1976 daily average.

Middle Atlantic Order pool handlers reported Class I in-area milk sales of 7.10 million pounds per day during August. When adjustment for variation in calendar composition is made, August fluid milk sales were up 1.8 per cent from July and 0.9 per cent from last August.

'Dynamite' on top in York 4-H baby beef show

By JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Reporter

York, Pa. - "Dynamite," an 1185-pound hulk of muscular Angus, paraded to the top of the York Fair's 4-H baby Beef competition to win the championship banners for young Jimmy Kohr, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kohr, 971 Church Road, York.

At age 10, Jimmy has been showing in 4-H competition for only two years. He hopes to hold "Dynamite," for the upcoming Farm Show, just a few months away.

Capturing the reserve honors was 12-year-old Joanna Inners, 3 Sherry Drive, York. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Inners, she is in her first year of showing 4-H steers. Her heavyweight ran the scales up to 1225 pounds.

The champion fitter award went to Tim Caldwell of Windsor R1, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Caldwell. Although Tim, in his third year of 4-H, named his steer "Kick," he readily admits that the steer has calmed down and kicks no longer.

Top showmanship trophy was won by experienced steer exhibitor Beverly Brown of Delta. Beverly and her steer, "Chubby," also won second place in the fitting competition.

A special award was presented to 15-year-old Chris Klinedinst of Wrightsville R2. She won top placing in a category for youngsters who fitted their animals completely by themselves with no adult help of any type. Chris has been in 4-H work for four years. Her steer also took first place and reserve awards in the light heavyweight categories.

Judge Dave Brower, Warrington, placed the baby beef entries. Winners in the York Fair 4-H baby beef competition are as follows.

Class 1, Light Weight

1. Robert Bricker, Seven Valleys; 2. Michelle Lehigh, East Berlin; 3. Bill Wise, Spring Grove; 4. Donna Wilson, Glen Rock; 5. Brian Ackworth, Louisberry.

Class 2, Light Weight

1. Brenda Werner, Hanover; 2. Liza Hoover, Mt. Wolf; 3. Walt Smith, Delta; 4. Jon Kinsley, York; 5. Sandy Sueck, Airville; 6. Chris Kinsley, York.

Class 3, Light Weight

1. Tim Beck, Seven Valleys 2. Dawn Musser, Manchester; 3. Karen Sueck, Airville; 4. Tim Hoffman, Dover; 5. Lisa Trimmer, Louisberry.

Champions

Champion light weight, Tim Beck; reserve champion, Brenda Warner.

Class 5, medium weight

1. Tim Caldwell, Windsor; 2. David Wise, Spring

Showers hamper harvesting

HARRISBURG - Although five days were rated suitable for fieldwork during the week ending September 5, frequent afternoon showers limited progress, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service. Commonwealth farm operators rated soil moisture levels as mostly adequate, but high humidity is posing a problem in curing hay and tobacco.

The state's tobacco is now reported at 56 per cent cut, three days behind the 69 per cent cut a year ago at this time. Growers are reporting a crop high in both quantity and quality, but some growers may be delaying harvest in hopes of better weather for curing the leaves.

The wet fields are hindering potato digging which is now rated 30 per cent complete, just ahead of the 28 per cent dug last year. No progress was made in the north last week although vines were being killed. Central counties are one-third done while digging in the south stands at 28 per cent complete.

Corn for grain, at 42 per cent dented is five days ahead of the 30 per cent dented last year at this time. Northern counties show 41 per cent dented, central areas are reporting 45 per cent and the southern operators report denting at 39 per cent. Corn growers are optimistic about the crop.

Corn ensilage is reported at six per cent cut compared to 11 per cent a year ago. Many operators prepared equipment last week to begin cutting of their corn for the silo.

Plowing made little progress last week, and at 35 per cent done, lags last year's 40 per cent by a week. Frequent showers are blamed for holding up operations as operators are ready. Very little barley or wheat has been reported sown.

Despite quality problems operators were making hay last week rather than risk overmaturity. Alfalfa third cutting is now 62 per cent made and the second cutting of clo-tim is at 82 per cent complete. Quality improved last week and now is evenly split between fair and good. The fourth cutting of alfalfa remains stagnant.

Pastures are providing average amounts of feed for this date. Pasture conditions improved in response to last weeks's scattered showers.

Dairy denied service

DUBOIS - Carol Tucker Foreman, assistant secretary of agriculture for food and consumer services, announced that the U.S. Department of Agriculture withdrew dairy grading and acceptance services from Beaver Meadows By-Products Corp., located here, for six months beginning Aug. 28.

According to officials of USDA's Food Safety and Quality Service (FSQS), the firm and its plant manager, Joseph Kirk, Jr., are being denied services because the firm labeled nonofficially graded butter with the official U.S. Grade AA mark. In addition, grading services are denied to any dairy establishment affiliated with Kirk for the next six months.

Beaver Meadows signed a consent order agreeing to the withdrawl after FSQS charged that the firm that the firm had never applied for authorization to display the USDA grade mark on butter nor agreed to conform to regulations governing its use.

York Fair hosts FFA dairy show

YORK - York County's FFA'ers with dairy projects held their annual inter-school competition at the York Fair on Wednesday. Contestants entered the ring with one of four breeds, those being Holsteins, Jerseys, Ayrshires, and Brown Swiss.

In the Holstein contest, by far the largest division of the overall contest, Leonard Greek, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Greek, of Delta owned the top animal. The cow, a 4-year old sired by Milk and Honey Ivanhoe, was shown in his absence by his sister, Patty, who was named champion showman of the entire event.

James Knight, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Knight of Airville, exhibited the reserve grand champion of the show and also the junior champion. Barbara Kilgore, also of Airville, exhibited the reserve junior champion. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Robert Kilgore.

The Jersey show was won by Jeff Rexroth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Rexroth, Airville. Lori Wolford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wolford, Brogue, won the reserve honor.

In Brown Swiss competition, Cathy Arnold of Red Lion won both of the top ribbons with her animals. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Arnold.

The winner in the Ayrshire show was Myron Warner, of Brogue, who had both the grand and reserve grand animals.

The FFA fitting champion over all breeds was 15-year old Bryan Workinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Workinger, Windsor. He also had a first place junior calf in the Holstein show.

More details of the Holstein show follow:

Junior Calf

1. Workinger, 2. Abbe Johnson, Airville.

Intermediate Calf

1. Barbara Kilgore, 2. Jeff Rexroth.

Senior Calf

1. Glenn Crowl.

Junior Yearling

1. Leonard Greek.

Annual meeting is Sept. 20-22

PennAg scores product liability

EPHRATA, Pa. - PennAg Industries Association will hold its 99th annual meeting in Lancaster at the Host Corral on Sept. 20-22. PennAg is a trade group of some 400 Pennsylvania agribusiness firms that deal primarily with farmers.

The convention will get underway with tours and exhibits on Tuesday, Sept. 20, and end on Thursday, Sept. 22, with an address by Homer Luttringer, vice-president for marketing and communications at Sperry New Holland.

Richard Goldberg, a North Dakota feed dealer who is also an attorney, will talk on Wednesday about product liability. Product liability insurance premiums are becoming more and more expensive for feed dealers and other agribusinessmen, and Goldberg is expected to provide some insight into the nature of the problem and its solution.

Also on Wednesday morning, the convention will be hearing from a pair of state senators. Senator Richard A. Snyder, Lancaster, and Senator Franklin L. Kury, Sunbury, will comprise a two-member panel. With panel moderator Donald W. Parke, PennAg's executive vice-president, they will discuss such topics as feed product liability legislation currently under consideration by the Pennsylvania Senate, welfare programs, the state budget and taxes.

Communications is the theme of this year's convention. Les Willson from the DuPont Company will begin Wednesday's program with an address on that topic. Later on Wednesday, Prof. Milton Bergstein, a marketing specialist from Penn State, will talk to the group about the need to communicate.

Joseph LaSala, regional administrator with the Federal Energy Administration in Philadelphia, will try to answer the question, "Is the energy crisis real?", in his Thursday morning address.

He will be followed on the dais by Drs. Wesley R. Kriebel and James R. Bierlein, two Penn State researchers who have been investigating the energy requirements of agribusiness. While much research had been conducted on energy consumption by the farmers who produce food, Kriebel and Bierlein believe that many times more energy is required to get that food from the farm to the consumer. But there's been very little research to date on that subject.

On Thursday morning, the first speaker of the day will be Don Heckler, Merchandising director for the domestic feed division of Central Soya Corp., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

At Wednesday's business luncheon, officers and directors for the coming year will be elected. William E. Ryan, PennAg vice-president and head of the Jesse C. Stewart Co., Pittsburgh, will talk about the association's upcoming centennial.

The Wednesday afternoon program will include the annual meeting of the Buckwheat Institute of America, and a talk on feed manufacturing practices by Lee Boyd of the American Feed Manufacturers Association, Washington, D.C.

New market report available

HARRISBURG - Pennsylvania's Agriculture Secretary Kent D. Shelhamer has announced a new service to Pennsylvania's important ornamental crops industry, the "Philadelphia Ornamental Crops Report." This new feature will contain market information covering certain specialty crops which are moved through the greater Philadelphia wholesale terminal.

Shelhamer said that the service was initiated under a cooperative agreement with the United States Department of Agriculture and would be published on a bi-weekly basis.

Persons desiring to be placed on the mailing list for the report should write the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Foods & Chemistry, Fruit & Vegetable Division, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, Pa., 17120, or call 717-787-5108 and ask for the "Philadelphia Ornamental Crops Report."

Farm population decline accelerates

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The U.S. farm population in 1976 numbered 600,000 fewer than in 1975, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported recently. It now stands at 8.3 million people, about 15 per cent below the 1970 level.

In a report scheduled for release later this month, Economic Research Service demographer Vera J. Banks says that the number of farm residents appeared to be leveling off in the early 1970's, with a low 1.2 per cent a year rate of decline on average from 1970 to 1974. But since 1974, Banks reports, the average annual rate of loss has accelerated to 5.8 per cent.

Even with this recent acceleration, however, the rate of decline over the past seven years has been only 2.7 per cent annually, much lower than the 4.8 per cent annual rate from 1960 to 1970.

While the farm population continues to drop, there has been a recent resurgence in the entire rural population, Banks notes. The population in nonmetro areas, now growing faster than the metro population, climbed 6.6 per cent from 1970 to 1975 compared to the metro growth of 4.1 per cent.

The West has contradicted the national trend in farm population with an increase of 50,000 farm residents since 1970. All other regions have shown farm population declines.

The South, losing more farm residents than any other region in 1976, has lost almost a fourth of its farm residents since 1970. With 2.9 million farm people, the South ranks second in farm population to the North Central Region's 3.8 million.

About one person out of every 26, or 3.9 per cent of the U.S. total population, had a farm residence in 1976, Banks points out. When the number of U.S. farm residents reached its peak in 1916, about one person in three lived on a farm.

Trade of property eliminates tax

By JERRY WEBB
University of Delaware

NEWARK, Del. - In the early days of American agriculture, a farmer who felt hemmed in by too many neighbors could just load up and move west. Plenty of land was available for the taking. That option has long since disappeared, but there is still a fairly painless way to escape some urban pressures. That is to simply trade farms. If handled properly, a trade can be done tax free.

Some time ago I visited one of those traded farms - a fairly large farm near Chestertown, Maryland, where a new swine operation had been set up. I was told that the owner had traded one small farm in the Baltimore-Washington megalopolis for three farms in the land of pleasant living.

It sounded like an excellent trade to this old country boy who grew up in a community where trading horses was common. I once traded 20 bushels of oats for a pretty good old horse and didn't have any tax problems, but I wondered about trading something as large as a farm.

It's perfectly legal in the eyes of the Internal Revenue Service - a farmer can swap one farm for another without the tax burden that goes along with selling a farm.

Section 1031 of the tax law says property held for productive use in a business or for investment property of "like-kind" which is also to be used the same way. As long as the trade involves property of "like-kind", there is no accounting of any gain or loss and virtually no taxes due.

So the Delmarva farmer mentioned above was able to trade a small farm in the midst of suburbia - one that was quite valuable to a developer - for a much larger spread in a more desirable agricultural area.

How was this accomplished? I don't really know the fine details, but in general it went like this: The farmer was approached by an investor who wanted to buy the place. Knowing the tax pitfalls involved in outright selling, the farmer suggested a trade - for land of equal value in an area where he wouldn't mind moving. It then became the buyer's problem to assemble the farms acceptable to the farmer. These were purchased by the investor and traded even up for the one farm in suburbia.

The exchange met the test of "like-kind", so the farmer had no tax burden. He also avoided the problem of selling a farm and then trying to find another one in the short period allowed by the capital gains law. He let the investor do the work. After all, it was the investor who wanted the suburban farm so it was only fair that he arrange the swap.

There are many variations on this farm swap idea with many opportunities for farmers to get much larger acreages, away from crowded, complaining urban neighborhoods. Swapping isn't limited to land. The law just says property - that includes machinery, livestock, fence posts, and many other things. It must be business connected, however. It might be tough to explain the swap of a saddle horse for a snow mobile.

The "like-kind definition is pretty broad and covers a lot of possibilities. There seems to be no problem trading a hog farm for cropland or a vegetable farm for a beef farm. The courts have said it's even o.k. to trade a farm for an apartment house.

Maybe the farm swap offers a retiring farmer a way to divide his holdings. First, trade for as many parcels as needed, then in an orderly fashion transfer these as complete units to the apparent heirs. That might be much more palatable than selling the home place and dividing the money.

Here's a case where good legal advice is needed. And no doubt where farmers need a lot more information than can be presented here. But maybe this will start some of them thinking.

Auction set

LEBANON - A disaster relief auction will be held at the Lebanon Fairgrounds, September 17, sponsored by the Northeast District Churches of the Brethren. The sale will begin at 10 a.m., with breakfast being served from 7 a.m. on.

The sale will offer crafts, antiques, furniture, comforters and quilts, paintings toys, and homemade food. The money raised through the sale will be used to help victims of the Johnstown flood disaster area.

Our Naturmin M42 G minerals out of a mine deposit are doing so good we get them by the car load, and need the railroad siding. Besides getting famous for all kinds of livestock, they are excellent to supply missing elements in the soil for larger healthier crops with less fertilizer. Releases nutrients in the soil. Loosens the ground, and resulting crops are healthier and better for livestock. Takes less feed. Apply on pasture and hay fields also. Use it in the fall for best results next year.

CLEAN ALFALFA WITHOUT SPRAYING plus high yields in the history of our soil conditioners and seed treatments for several years, with very little or no fertilizer except manure. Same for corn and grain. Get started to condition the soil, Fall is best. Dealers are wanted in other areas.

A BETTER GRAIN - Triticale, a cross between wheat and rye is higher protein for feeding and silage. Very vigorous and tall. Made over 60 bu. per acre using only our seed treatments. Seed for sale $6.00 bushel.

In recent trials... Seven veal feeding programs were compared... and you've got the winner!

In total gains, rate of gain and conversion rate, one program stood out above all others. That's the one on which new Agway Veal Pre-Starter, Starter, and Finisher are based.

The group on the winning program started at an initial average weight of 111.1 lbs. And finished at 349.00 lbs. An average gain of 237.9 lbs. With a feed conversion rate of 1.66 pounds of feed per pound of gain.

New Agway Veal Pre-Starter, Starter and Finisher are made from top quality products. From top quality protein, 100% derived from milk products. From 100% animal fat. Because Agway knows that protein quality and fat source are where performance is. As the trials showed . . . quality pays off. Every time.

Every veal grower knows that prime veal depends on the quality and vigor of the calves, on proper housing, feeding management and sanitation. Do all of them right, and the new line-up of Agway Veal Feeds can do a superior job for you.

For more information on a most profitable way to get into a most profitable market, call your local Agway.

1977 farm exports may peak at 24 billion, then decline in 1978

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Farm exports may peak at $24 billion in fiscal 1977 according to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Fiscal year 1977 ends September 30. Farm exports may decline five to 10 per cent from that level during fiscal 1978. Lower export prices for grains, oilseeds and cotton will cause most of the decline, according to Outlook for Agricultural Exports, issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in late August.

Despite the decline in value, export tonnages for fiscal year 1978 may be only slightly under those for 1977. Tonnage for 1977 farm exports may weigh in at just over 100 million metric tons. Increased exports of soybeans and wheat during fiscal 1978 may almost offset declines in feed grains, tobacco, and fats and oils.

Western Europe's imports of U.S. farm products, projected at $8.6 billion for fiscal 1977, are up, gaining one-fifth over the previous year due to the European drought of 1976. Although European grain and forage production is up, the rebuilding of cattle herds and the expansion of the hog sector should sustain a relatively high Western European need for U.S. grains and oilseeds in fiscal year 1978.

Agricultural exports to Asia may total $8.5 billion in fiscal 1977, and nearly $4 billion of the Asian exports is going to Japan. Japan's dollar total may be almost one-fifth above fiscal 1976; however, the value of Japanese farm imports may fall in fiscal 1978 due to reduced prices for grains and soybeans.

Saddle Cinches lists plans

MANHEIM - The Saddle Cinches 4-H Horse and Pony Club of Manheim, Pa. met September 12 to discuss fall plans for the club. The District Horse Show to be held September 17 was discussed. Four members will represent the club.

Among the items reviewed at the meeting included the club's responsibilities at the District Roundup to be the clean-up committee, the plans to buy a horse clippers for 4-H members to use, the purchasing of horse care knowledge textbooks for the 4-H'ers to study during the winter program, and the trail ride set for October 2.

Also the club decided to ride in the Manheim Farm Show Parade and have a stand at the fair, giving pony rides. The club also plans to ride in the Manheim Fair Halloween Parade.

The possibility of a two-day overnight trail ride and retreat were discussed and a date for this event will be picked in the near future.

Members were quizzed on their knowledge of the horse after the meeting.

Next meeting of the club is September 26, at 7 p.m. at the home of Julie Shreiner, Manheim.

U.S. farm economy to be explored

WASHINGTON, D.C. - A panel of top-level national news media representatives will examine the current economic situation in agriculture by interviewing farmers and people in local farm-related businesses over the Agriculture Council of America's "Farm Line." Callers will have the chance to voice their opinions on this important topic by dialing ACA's toll-free number (800-424-9881) on October 5th between noon and 4 p.m. E.D.T. A total of 12 WATS lines will be available to people anywhere in the continental U.S.

Top business, economic and consumer reporters from all across the country have been invited to participate on the panel. This includes representatives for the networks, wire services, major metropolitan dailies and leading magazines.

"With more and more attention being focused on food-related news, we want to give the people who report this news - the chance to hear what's happening at the local level where food production begins," explained ACA Chairman Dale Hendricks, a dairy producer from Bloomfield, Iowa.

The October Farm Line represents ACA's first effort to exclusively involve media members answering the phones. Senators, congressmen, administration officials and consumer and industry leaders have manned the phones in earlier programs.

"After several of us in the farm media took part in the Farm Line last May, we thought it would be an excellent experience for our counterparts in big cities who report agricultural news," remarked Royce Bodiford, a co-chairman of the Media Council and general manager for KGNC-Radio of Amarillo, Texas. "There is no substitute for hearing from those directly involved."

"And with a new farm bill about to become law, it's more critical than ever that the national media understand how farmers are doing," Bodiford added.

A special survey to be conducted in conjunction with this program will address the farm-price-cost situation and what farmers and local businessmen think of the new farm bill.

ACA operates the Farm Line periodically to provide a vehicle for discussion to let people at the local level discuss major agricultural issues with national leaders in Washington, D.C. The program was initiated in 1975 in response to the confusion surrounding the grain sale to the Soviet Union. As a non-political and non-lobbying organization ACA does not advocate any particular position or view; the opinions expressed via the Farm Line are strictly those of the participants. The last Farm Line program was conducted in May as Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland headed up a team of experts on the subject, "Citizen Guidelines for USDA."

The Agriculture Council of America, formed in 1973, is made up of individual farmers and ranchers nationwide, farm and commodity groups and companies that supply the farmer. Its purpose is to improve communications between farmers and consumers.

Crop insurance program announced

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland has announced a pilot crop insurance program under which farmer-elected county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committees will cooperate with the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) in administering the crop insurance program at the county level. The goal of the program is to test the feasibility of operating certain phases of the program through ASC committees, thus providing better service to farmers. Initially, 20 counties in nine states have been selected to participate in the program.

According to Secretary Bergland, the basic provisions of the crop insurance program remain unchanged. However, ASC committees in designated counties will begin to establish farm coverage based on FCIC actuarial data and ASC review of individual farm operations. Also, ASCS county offices will perform general administrative work and become the contact point for FCIC insureds in the county. FCIC will continue to have sole operational responsibility in all other counties where insurance is available.

The pilot program will become operational in the selected counties on Dec. 1 and will be effective for 1978 crops. Farmers in the selected counties who currently have FCIC policies for 1977 crops will continue to deal directly with FCIC until notified differently.

No counties in Pennsylvania or neighboring states are included in the pilot project.

Grant says water rights threatened

WAPAKONETA, Ohio - A move toward federalizing the nation's water poses a serious threat to state and individual rights, Allan Grant said here last night.

Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF), spoke at the annual meeting of the Auglaize County Farm Bureau.

"Nationalization or federalization of water is implied in option papers which suggest that the federal government review state water laws to determine if they promote equity and efficiency," Grant said. "The goal of nationalization becomes more obvious when it is suggested that the federal government puchase water rights through use of eminent domain and reallocate them to the most socially desirable or economically productive use."

Grant took issue with a current water resources policy study ordered by President Carter. The study is under the direction of the Water Resources Council with the assistance of the Office of Management and Budget and the Council on Environmental Quality.

Grant pointed out that water rights are considered a property right throughout the country. History shows, he added, that nothing can goad a man to bitter anger more quickly than a threat to his water rights.

"We support effective planning, and we applaud planning to conserve water," Grant said in reference to the proposals stemming from the policy study.

The farm leader said that water for minimum stream flows and recreational, municipal, industrial, agricultural, and expanding energy demands on water cannot be provided without water planning policies that have a proper balance between conservation and development.

"Zero growth may not be a national goal," Grant warned, "but it will be a reality unless there is careful preparation of water conservation policies that include water development plans."

To provide maximum flexibility in water administration, it is essential that state constitutional provisions and state water laws be respected, the AFBF president declared, adding that irrigation must be recognized as a beneficial use of water.

Grant favored development of water projects to conserve and manage the nation's water resources; to provide adequate reserves for developed agricultural lands; to provide water quality protection and pollution abatement; and to privide water reserves for extended drought cycles.

"In any cost sharing water project," Grant concluded, "increased weight must be given to the 'social values' generated by the project, so that 'socially desirable' uses of water more equitably share the cost with other beneficial uses."

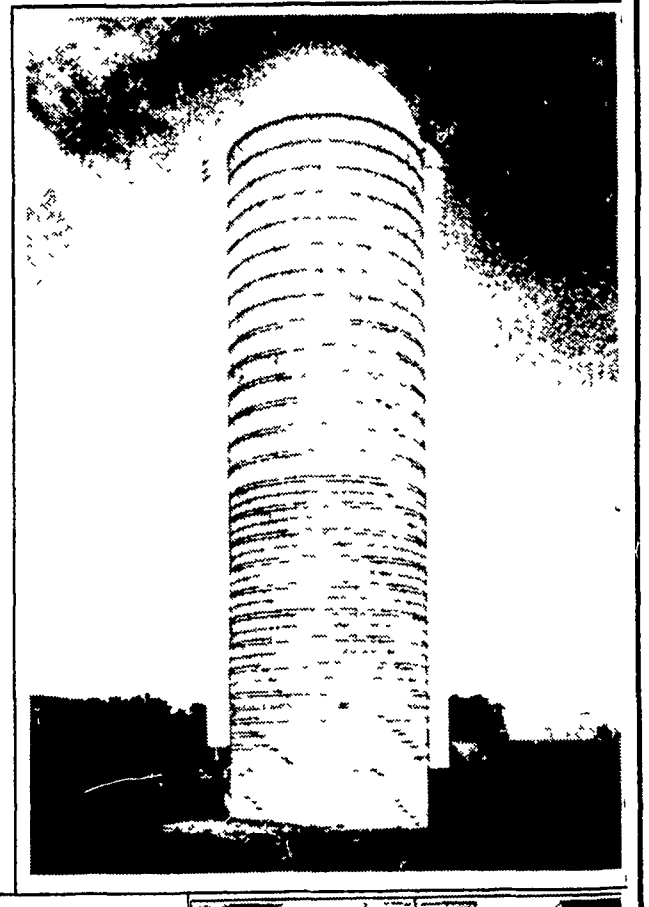
The PROVEN Fickes

MASTER–MATIC SILO SYSTEM



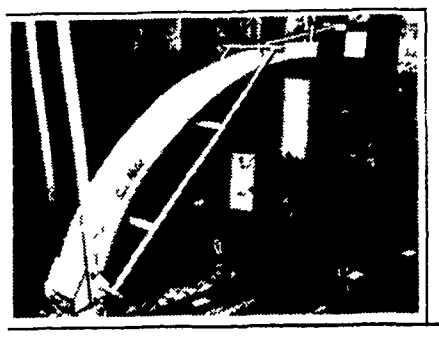
Master-Matic is the proven automatic silage handling system first introduced in the eastern United States by Fickes over a year ago There's no longer any need to enter the silo Once filled, the silo can be unloaded from top to bottom—automatically The Silo-Matic Continuous-door Unloader moves down the continuous doors to unload haylage, corn silage or high moisture corn It operates effectively, efficiently and without mechanical problems

The Fickes-Master-Matic Silo System offers you.

CONVENIENCE—Puts an end to the chore of climbing the silo every few days

TIME-SAVING—Keeps you out of the silo so you can spend your time to more profitable advantage

CLEAN ENTRY CHUTE—Continuous door chute used for unloading Second chute doors remain in place always clean



SILO-MATIC CONTINUOUS-DOOR SILO UNLOADER

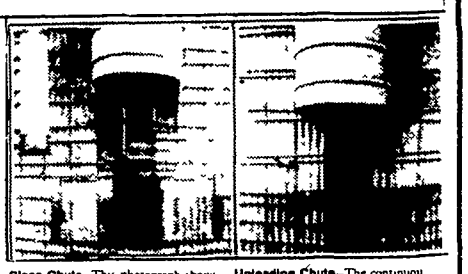
This exclusive unloader design has been in use on continuous door silos for more than a year It has been thoroughly tested and proved under farm-operating conditions with haylage corn silage and high moisture corn The Silo Matic Continuous Door Silo Unloader automatically moves down the silo from door to door The gooseneck stays in perfect alignment with the chute doors and hood remains in ideal position for maximum silage carrying efficiency

There are no springs, ropes, cables or pulleys to adjust since the downward movement of the unloader operates by gravity The electric cable s plugged into a power source at the top of the silo The electric cable automatically uncoils as the unloader moves down the silo

Silo-Matic TRAVELING BELT FEEDER

FAST, HIGH VOLUME CATTLE FEEDING WITHOUT SEPARATION

- Smooth, Slip-Proof, Fixed Speed Drive
- Even Distribution—No Feed Build Up
- Belt Glides on Plywood Trays
- Self Tightening Self-Cleaning Feed Belt
- Low Horsepower Requirements
- No Separation of Mixed Feeds
- Optional Automatic Reversing Switch For Continous Feeding



Clean Chute—This photograph shows the clean chute side of the Fickes silo This system provides clean entry to the silo at all times Doors are refrigerator fit Fickes Swing back hinged doors

Unloading Chute—The continuous door column chute shown here with continuous door covers in closed position for loading silo

CONTINUOUS DOORS—The Fickes Continuous Doors can be placed at almost any location desired in the circumference of the silo They require no special reinforcement The small door (8' wide x 12' long) are wedged tightly against a steel jamb The silo is loaded with doors in place

Livestock part of Montgomery Co. 4-H fair

LANSDALE - Montgomery County's 4-H Fair '77 was a big event this year with hundreds of displays and exhibitors involved. Everything from cavies to cows to horses were shown with the following results.

CAVIES and RABBITS

Over 40 head of rabbits and approximately 20 cavies were shown at the week-long event. Ribbon and trophy awards were presented to the 4-H members following the judging by George Long, Zionsville. The best of show among fancy rabbits was a white rex senior doe owned by Jamie Graybeal, Telford, of the Furry Friends 4-H Club. He also placed his cavie as best of show. The best of show among commercial breeds was won by a Red New Zealand senior buck owned by Debbie Althouse, Trappe 4-H Club.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY 4-H MARKET LAMB SHOW

The market lamb show was another featured event, with Cindy Waltemeyer of Collegeville taking the champion and her sister Karen showing the reserve champion lamb. Hennings Market of Harleysville purchased the champion and the William Secrest family of Coopersburg purchased the reserve champion.

Cindy and Karen are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Waltemyer of Collegeville. They have been active in 4-H for many years, but this marked their first year with a sheep project. Cindy was earlier named Outstanding 4-H Girl for 1977 and is the current Montgomery County Dairy Princess. Karen represented the county on the dairy bowl team at 4-H State Days and has been an active member of the Keystone Dairy Club for several years.

Ten other members of the Green Pasture Sheep Club also sold their lambs that evening. They included: Donald Eisenhauer, Ricky Schwenk, and Irene Landis of Souderton; Nancy Haentze, Kim Blum, Brian Haentze and Kathy Haentze of Harleysville; Scott Rittenhouse of Telford; and Beth Novack and Robert Waltemeyer of Collegeville.

HORSE SHOW and PONY SHOW

The horse show and pony show which ran all day on the Saturday of 4-H Fair week drew nearly 200 horses and riders in the county event. This show was the first leg in series of 4-H

York-Lancaster to celebrate anniversary

LANCASTER - The Continental Congress of 1777 will come to life in Lancaster and York counties September 23 to 25 as Lancaster and York each celebrate its 200th anniversary as the capitol of the nation.

In 1777 the Continental Congress fled Philadelphia when the British military approached the city. First the Congress traveled to Lancaster where it held session for one day, Sept. 27. It journeyed westward to York Town, placing the Susquehanna River between it and the British. For nine months the Congress remained in York.

Celebrations of this historic event begin Sept. 23 at 3:45 p.m. when A reenactment of the Congress' meeting will be held in the Heritage Center Masonic Hall, Lancaster, Pa. Area residents will portray the Congressmen and following the session, they will meet the public in Penn Square. Lancaster Mayor Richard M. Scott will also present a proclamation during this time.

The Congress will then dine at Rock Ford, restored home of Gen. Edward Hand. The program, which includes a reception and tour of the home, is sponsored by the Lancaster County Chapter of Pennsylvania Society of Sons of the Revolution.

The morning of September 24 the Congress leaves Lancaster County Park on horseback in various carriages on its way to York. It will be guarded by a mounted military escort of 12 riders and accompanied by several Conestoga and Colonial freight wagons. All 65 participants will be in colonial costume except the Lancaster County Sheriff's posse which leads the march as it did the wagon train in 1976. A second company of volunteer riders in twentieth century garb is anticipated. Details on how to register and where to join the train will be publicized later.

The Congress' first stop is at 8:10 a.m. in Penn Square for a presentation by the Mayor. The wagon train then leaves the square at 8:25 a.m. while festivities in Lancaster continue with a continental breakfast, entertainment, and Hickory Town open house tour.

On its way to York, the Wagon Train will travel on Pa. Rt. 462 and visit Mountville, Columbia, Wrightsville, and Hallam where special activities are planned before arriving in York on Sept. 25 at 3 p.m.

The highlight of the September 24 events will occur at 3:45 p.m. when some members of Congress will cross the Susquehanna River by ferry from Columbia to Wrightsville.

When the Congress arrives in York, it will convene in the York Colonial Courthouse. Special events are planned for the afternoon including a presentation by Mayor John Kraut.

The highlight of the entire week-end events will be the Continental Congress Ball Sunday evening at the Yorktowne Hotel. The public is invited to attend the affair. Advance ticket registration ($15 per person) is required. One should contact York County Bi-Centennial Commission, C/O York Area Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 1229, York, Pa. 17405.

Small livestock building success at York Fair

By JOANNE SPAHR

YORK - Approximately 1400 birds and waterfowl as well as 390 rabbits filled the small livestock building at the York Fair this year to the delight of children and adults, alike.

Everything from delicately feathered pigeons to hefty, thick plumed Cochins to unusually feathered "fancy" birds were on display for all visitors to see. And, many a person "oohed and ahhed" as they went past the cages of the rabbits, as well.

Norwood Reed, Wrightsville R1, who was responsible for setting up the poultry display, was pleased with this year's turnout.

"This is the largest waterfowl display we've had in a long time," he commented. "The Bantam display is almost double as well." On the other hand, the large bird displays were down this year.

Reed also reported that this year the type of exhibitors changed in the poultry show.

"We have more fanciers," he noted. This is in comparison to show string birds, which according to Reed, are not as top quality as the fancier's birds.

Rudolph Hershey, superintendent of the small livestock building, indicated that the rabbits had equally as much success as the poultry with a higher number of entries this year compared to last Fall.

The buildings were well patronized, both men reported, with an overflow crowd on Sunday in what is one of the biggest poultry buildings in the state of Pennsylvania.

In competition, this season saw a "first" in the rabbit show. A grand champion of all breeds was chosen. That honor went to Leslie Keeney, 26 Pennsylvania Ave., Walkersville, Md. Keeney's animal was an intermediate New Zealand White doe, which is a commercial animal.

According to Keeney, her redeeming characteristics are that she's well developed over the hind quarters and throughout the whole body. She also has a good coat of fur. In rabbit judging of this type, these are are two characteristics the judges look for.

The 11 pound female, who went to the top at her first show, will now go into Keeney's breeding pens.

All tolled, Keeney's doe surpassed 17 other breed champions representing 390 rabbits.

Those other breed champions were:

Kathleen Olasky, Alanta, Pa. best Angora; William Ort, York, Pa., best Checkered Giant' Tanya Liek, Mt. Wolf, Pa., best Std. Chinchilla; Joseph Shutter, Jonestown, Pa., best Giant Chinchilla; Robert Ray, Germantown, Md., best Champagne; Dennis Lentz, Windsor, Pa., best Creme De

Norwood Reed, Wrightsville R1, was responsible for setting up the poultry show at the York Fair this year in which over 1400 birds were entered. He also had the best of breed with his Dewlap Toulouse Goose, which has been a champion seven times this year and a reserve champion once at poultry shows.

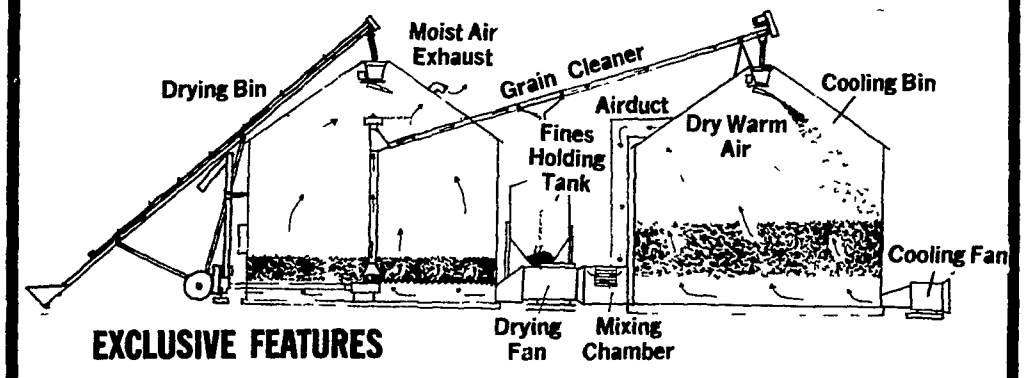
NEW AIR RECYCLING GRAIN DRYING SYSTEM
UP TO 50% FUEL SAVINGS



EXCLUSIVE FEATURES

AIR RECYCLING, uses all the warm air from the cooling bin to help dry the grain in the drying bin. [no energy is wasted].
NO HEAT LOSS, In most dryers, heat passes through a narrow column of grain and is blown into the atmosphere; but with this system all excess heat from drying stage must pass up through a 24" minimum depth of wet grain. Therefore, instead of wasting the heat, it is used in the preheating process.
PREHEATING, grain is not suddenly exposed to high heat like in most dryers, but rather is slowly preheated as it moves down to the final drying stage. This reduces drying stress and produces better grain quality.
NO STIRRING, which means less moving parts and less grain damage.
TAPERED SWEEP AUGER, removes a thin, even layer of dry grain from the drying floor as it travels around the bin.
SURGE CAPACITY, wet grain may be added to the drying bin at any time, as fast as you harvest. [no waiting around to unload].
AUTOMATIC CONTROL PANEL, contains magnetic starters, moisture control, temperature thermostats, time relay, fuses and switches which provide dependable "around the clock" automatic operation; including starting and stopping augers or bucket elevator to move dry grain to cooling bin as fast as it's being dried.
SIMPLE OPERATION, fill bin to over 24" with wet grain and push the button. The Automatic Control Panel does the rest. It will also shut down the entire operation if the wet grain depth reduces to the minimum 24" level. [No babysitting required with this system].
ENCLOSED DESIGNED, bees wings and dry floating particles are trapped in this unique system, thus providing a cleaner operation and environment.
LOWER NOISE LEVEL, the drying fan is enclosed. The air mixing chamber attached to the drying fan serves as a muffler with a built in silencing feature and vacuum control adjustment.
GRAIN CLEANER, and a trash-holding tank are available as an optional feature. This provides cleaner grain and safer storage.
EFFICIENT, both the operating and initial costs are lower. Up to 50% fuel savings. Air drying is also possible at limited moisture levels.
PERFORMANCE WARRANTY, the drying capacity of this system is guaranteed in writing under a Shivvers Performance Warranty. That's how sure we are of this equipment. How can you go wrong with an offer like that?

System is comprised of proven and dependable brand name equipment.

York Fair

Barbara Herr takes title of open class sheep

By JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Reporter

YORK, Pa. - A Suffolk weather won grand champion honors for Barbara Herr of Narvon during the September 11 open class market sheep show at the York Fair.

The reserve award went to an animal exhibited by David Huff for Erdenheim Farm, Lafayette Hill.

Judge for the market sheep exhibit was Bill Keck, a former county agent in Bucks County, and an active livestock breeder.

In the lightweight Cheviot class, David Huff was first; Erdenheim Farms, second and third; David Huff, fourth; and James Caudill, fifth. Erdenheim Farms went on to take first place in the heavyweight class and the breed championship. David Huff won second and third heavyweights, and breed reserve championship.

Nancy Eisenhart. Thomasville, was the lone exhibitor in the Corriedale breed class. She exhibited the first and second lightweight, the first place heavyweight, and the champion and reserve champion animals.

The Dorset classes were mostly a battle of familiar 4-H exhibitors in York County. Laurie Dobrosky, Glen Rock, capped the first and second places in the lightweight division. Other placings were: third, John Muller, Delta; fourth, Tom Flory, Red Lion; fifth, Wendy Tracey, Brodbecks; sixth, Marc Roberson, East Berlin; seventh, John Muller, Delta; eighth, Robert Muller, Delta; ninth, Brian Bankert, Hanover.

Margaret Herr of Narvon captured first place in the Dorset heavyweight category. Others were: second and third David Huff, Lafayette Hill; fourth, Margaret Herr, Narvon; fifth, Sonia Shearer, Abbottstown; sixth and seventh, Erdenheim Farms, Lafayette Hill, eighth and ninth, Tom Flory, Red Lion; tenth and eleventh, Marc Roberson, East Berlin; twelvth, Mike Arendt, Glen Rock.

Barbara Herr, Narvon, won the grand champion trophy for open class market sheep during York Fair exhibitions. The Suffolk wether is destined for competition in the Eastern National show in October where it will be sold after being exhibited.

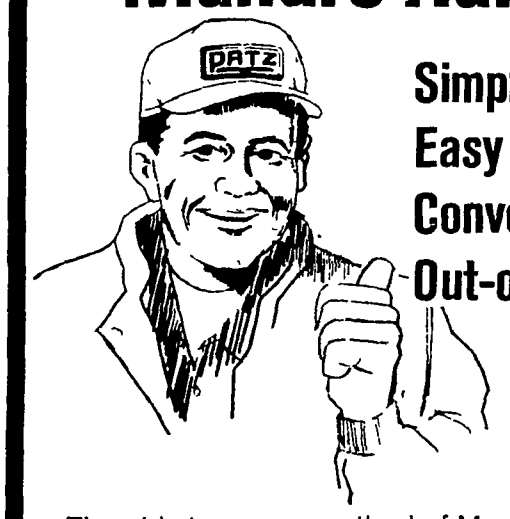
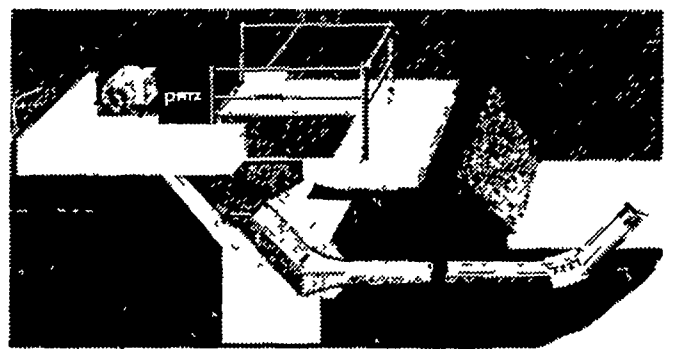
PATZ
Manure Handlers



Simple, Easy and Conveniently Out-of-the Way!

The old strongarm method of Manure Handling gives way to new muscle from PATZ — namely the Slurry Manure Pump and compressed-air Liquid Manure Mover These modern methods of manure movement provide simplicity, rugged construction, operational ease, dependability, plus convenience



Slurry Manure Pump
Slurry or free flowing manure is pumped from a 180 gallon hopper under ground through 12 in PVC pipe to the manure holding area (If bedding is used only fine cut is recommended) Stroke is adjustable and driven by tough roller chain drive/reduction unit Plunger, sleeve, and one-way valves all can be removed for servicing

Liquid Manure Mover
Big 1700 (US) gallon below-ground pressure vessel collects slurry that is moved simply and easily by as little as 10-12 lbs of air pressure through 12 in PVC pipe to manure storage area Simplicity in design, turning swing-away hatch cover, one-way valve at bottom and flapper valve at the discharge end are the only moving parts

Berks farmers taught Johnsongrass control

By LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Berks County Reporter

SINKING SPRING - Berks County farmers had an opportunity for a first hand look on the effectiveness of several herbicides used in the control of Johnsongrass last week. The test plots were donated by Robert Gauker, Sinking Spring, for the trials run by the County Extension Service and ASCS office.

This weed, which has caused much concern in recent years is very hard to control. It was introduced from Europe in the 1800's as a pasture and forage crop by a Colonel William A. Johnson, and is related to sorghum and sudangrass. Johnsongrass spreads by rhizomes or seeds and has rootstocks which store food reserves, making it all the more difficult to eradicate.

James Haldeman, Berks County agent, has been involved with the educational aspects in controlling the weed throughout the County and Henry Bohn, county director of the ASCS has helped with a cost-share program for the control of Johnsongrass.

The herbicides used on the test plots were Roundup, Eradicane, and Asulox. They were applied earlier during the year at recommended specifications.

The Eradicane was applied on May 15 after there was sure to be rhizome activity. The ground was prepared by plowing and discing at least twice to break up the rhizomes. After the application the field was cross-disced. Wayne Marz, Eradicane representative, felt there was an 80 per cent control of the pest on this first application, which went on right before corn was planted in the field.

The spokesman suggested that the product be used for two or three years to get all of the rhizomes and to reduce the seed inventory. After the Eradicane program farmers are adivsed to go to seedling control so the Johnsongrass is less likely to get out of control again. Like other weeds, it is a matter of learning to manage it, Marz explained.

Guy Braxton, representative for Roundup, had his product applied at two quarts per acre mixed with 50 gallons of water.

Roundup works through absorption through the plant tissue and should be applied after the plants are tall. The taller the better, but the height to Henry Bohn, Berks County director for the ASCS office, holds the culprit which has been found in many Pennsylvania fields. It looks much like sorghum, but is actually one of the toughest weeds to get rid of.

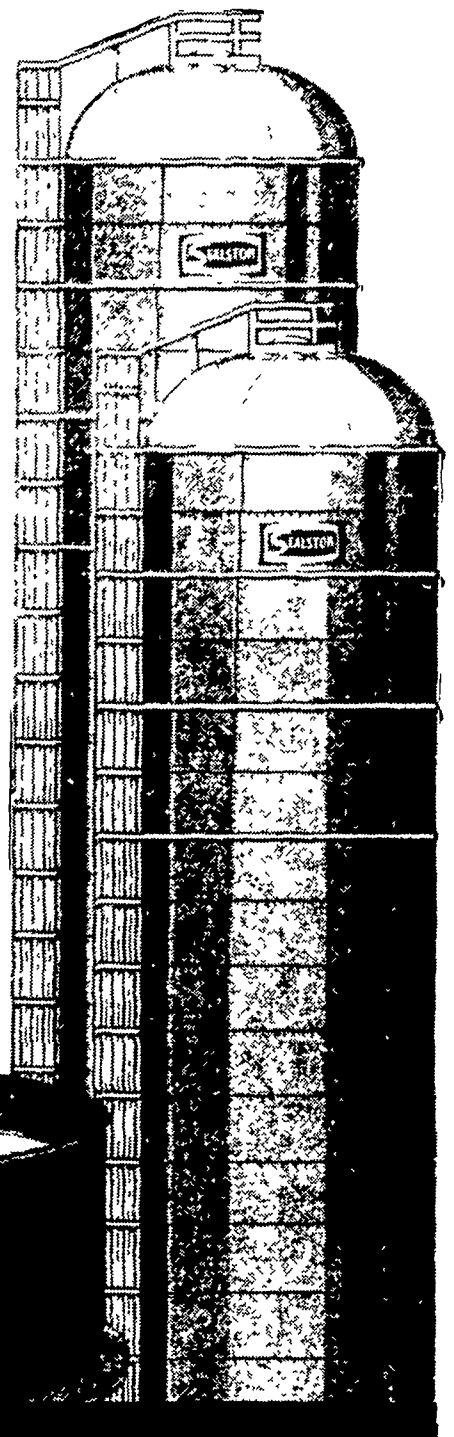
Now you can SEALSTOR® feed for both your livestock and your land.



The Oxygen Limiting SEALSTOR System
For the past 27 years, the makers of Sealstor systems have manufactured thousands of quality glass-fused-to-steel products for agriculture and industry. Today, we offer a complete range of sizes in forage and grain structures. Before you buy any oxygen-limiting, top-loading, bottom-unloading feeding system, check Sealstor's features.
Pound for pound, our fiber-glass roof is stronger than steel It has fewer panels, fewer seams, fewer bolts. It absorbs less heat. The steps are recessed in the roof for safety and the dome shape provides more useable storage space. (Grain and Forage structures — 6,000 to 42,000 bushels)
Our rugged, sweep-arm auger unloader has no costly chains to break. "Short-arming" is unnecessary. Yet you get higher volume, push-button feed delivery.

The SEALSTOR Liquid Manure Control Center
Sealstor offers the widest range of sizes in glass-steel liquid manure storage structures. You can start with a 10' or 15' above-ground height and later expand to a 15' or 20' height. For additional strength, all vertical seams are double-bolted. For more positive containment, more sealant is used.(Liquid Manure storage tanks — 60,000 to 750,000 gallons.)
It's your money. Send for the facts We believe you'll select Sealstor.

Corn Demonstration Plots Yield Wealth

By JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Reporter

DALLASTOWN, Pa. - Corn growers from across the state converged on the Charles and Shirley Hess farm, Dallastown R1, for an in-depth tour of a 22-acre field demonstration plot sponsored by Dekalb AgResearch, Inc.

Over 450 visitors took part in the two-day field exhibit, held September 6 and 7, which included a variety of "Super Plot" sections comparing cultural practices of tillage, pest control, hybridization and variety trials.

The residual systemic action of the wide-range pesticide, Furadan, was the first demonstration inspection on the tour. Three rates had been applied to control strips, one at 10 pounds per acre, one at 15 pounds and the third at 20 pounds. The heaviest rate won out as the most economical, long-term control, and was most successfully applied directly in the row. In-row application allowed the emerging plant roots to absorb the protective chemical immediately, achieving longer protection and utilizing the material while it was still "hot."

No restrictions regulate harvesting Furdan treated field corn for silage; and researchers are anticipating approval of the systemic pesticide for sweet corn by next year. Control is obtained on several costly pests to the corn crop, including flea bettles, armyworms, wire worms, and several types of corn borers.

Several tillage practices were used in setting out the comprehensive test strips. One of the newer methods used the Mellinger subsoiler, which works up the immediate seed-planting area, while not disturbing the soil between the rows. When the machine was first used in the state of Georgia, experimenters there came up with corn yield increases ranging from 15 to 30 bushels to the acre.

Test plot supervisors stuck a tire iron straight down into the soil to the soil to demonstrate ground compactness in the sub-soiler test section. Where the ground had been loosened in the row, the iron was easily sunk in to a depth of about a foot. Between rows, however, the soil was solid and difficult to penetrate. Since the test plot had received only four inches of rain from the May 10 planting date through August 15, researchers credited the innovative tillage method with maximum retention of the scarce Summer moisture.

Conservationists estimate that the equivalent of six inches of topsoil on four million acres is lost annually. Stressing the wise use of this precious resource, the plot supervisors set up side-by-side areas comparing Spring plowing, chisel plowing, disking and no-till.

The Dekalb researchers recommend that the soil acidity level be as nearly correct as possible when planting no-tillage corn, or herbicides will not perform properly. Under a pH level of 6.5, some weeds, notably fall panicum grasses, will not be controlled. Volunteer corn stalks remain a problem in no-till, too.

One comparative test section depicted corn growing results from planting the seed at two depths; one plot was planted at one and one-half inch depth, while the other was put down three inches in the soil. The shallower planting was noticeably taller.

"This is our exotic plant breeding material," explained Dean Edwards, 1625 East Market Street, York, the regional manager for Dekalb AgResearch, Inc. And, exotic it was, with plants ranging from 12 feet tall to knee high, some with striped leaves, some with six ears to the stalk, and some with all leaves but no ears.

Specialists overseeing the planting depths urged farmers to contact their local weather bureaus and obtain the date of the last Spring frost for the past five years. Those dates should be averaged to obtain a general frost-free date, and farmers are advised to then schedule corn planting about two weeks ahead of that average. Another recommendation was to insert thermometers at different levels of the soil early in the morning, and then compare the temperature differences at noon.

Researchers see the main advantage of early planted corn as hitting the most advantageous pollination period. According to tests, the longest day of the year is the most successful time for corn to pollinate. Late Summer weather usually becomes too hot and dry for the best results, as well as being a time of more concentrated insect infestations.

Corn Demonstrations

Hess carefully watched the plots during the season and made an interesting observation concerning results of fertilizer rates on the side-by side tests.

"Where we put high applications of nitrogen, 180 and 270 pounds to the acre equivalents, the corn leaves never rolled up in all the hot dry weather we had," he observed.

"Nitrogen will help stretch the raindrops," was the way one specialist put it. They also noted that the plot receiving fertilizer directly in the corn row tasseled earlier than any of the other sections around it, where band fertilization had been done.

A fascinating part of the demonstration was the genetic material display, or "corn zoo," as one Dekalb representative dubbed the area.

According to Dean Edwards, Dekalb's regional manager, genetic research and the development of hybrids have brought average yields of corn from levels of 20 bushels to today's over-all record production of 85.5 bushels. Use of the "exotics" have enabled hybridists to breed a variety of more desirable characteristics into modern seed.

Tallest corn in the "zoo" was the species "Big Mexico," boasting stems the size of sapling tree trunks. A "Latente Gene" species offers plant breeders genes carrying drought resistance. "Upright Leaf" is just what its name implies, shooting its leaves toward the sun, a characteristic which helps hybrids absorb more growth rays from the sun. Another species labeled "Liguless", shoots leaf after leaf, with no stalk visible. A species of prolific-eared corn sets several kernel-filled cobs per stalk, with plant breeders still searching for the perfect cross to give the corn stronger stalks to hold the extra weight.

One promising single cross in the display carries a high Leaf Area Indes, L.A.I. to bybridists, and more rows and kernels per cow. And, there are dwarf hybrids with excellent standability, but not quite high enough yields to make them profitable.

A look into the future shows scientists developing a strain of corn that will bear the kernels at the top of the stalk, tassel-like, instead of down the plant on ears. Corn bearing in this manner has the potential of two and one-half the yields of present hybrids. Breeders hope to develop it on a shorter stalk, giving it longer standability, and foresee shellers harvesting it like rows of wheat or barley.

Emergency drought plan revised

WASHINGTON, D.C. - A more liberal formula for determining the amount of grant funds, supplementing loans available for improvement of rural community water systems affected by drought, was announced recently by the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

FmHA administers emergency loans and grants under President Carter's drought assistance program to help rural communities having diminished water supplies, resulting from drought conditions, in designated drought areas. Applications for projects approved under the program must be made in time for funds to be obligated by Sept. 30, 1977.

Under the revision, FmHA will apply a formula on grants similar to that used by other federal agencies that help to finance drought emergency water system projects.

In calculating a community's ability to repay an emergency loan for water system improvement, FmHA previously has taken into account existing indebtedness only for water facilities. The new formula lets FmHA take into account the applicant's existing indebtedness for all purposes. This is expected to increase the grant portion of FmHA funding of many projects.

The new regulation also provides that some projects, previously not eligible for grant assistance, may receive FmHA grants of up to 20 per cent of total eligible project development costs, if they are needed to safeguard public health and safety. A larger proportion of grant funds, up to 50 per cent, may be provided if justified through the formula for determining the community's ability to repay a loan.

The announcement said application of the revised formula will be retroactive to May 6, 1977, except where loan and grant funds have been delivered to the borrower. Financing of projects previously approved but not yet funded will be adjusted to the new formula.

In addition to the Sept. 30, 1977 deadline for obligation of funds, the drought emergency program imposes an April 30, 1978 deadline for completion of projects aided from a special appropriation of $150 million in loans and $75 million in grants administered by FmHA.

Berks farmers

spray should be determined by the sprayer capabilities. Everything that was sprayed with Roundup was killed. It was also recommended for use after small grains if the Johnsongrass had time to grow before spraying.

Asulox was also applied to part of the field. Sam Horst, representative for the product, told the area farmers that his product was also systemic and should be applied when the plants are 15 inches in height. Asulox destroys the growth tissues of the plants and takes four to six weeks to see results. This product is selective and will not affect conifers, Kentucky 31 or kill crown vetch or quackgrass.

Horst recommended good thorough coverage with the product and stated that Asulox was a non-cropland product.

YORK - Preston Bankert, Red Lion R3, who owned the grand champion Southdown ewe and ram in open sheep judging at this year's York Fair, is a real sheep and hog showman - he shows four breeds of swine and three breeds of sheep at every fair he attends. So far this season that list has included (along with the York Fair), the Solanco Fair, the Maryland State Fair, the Huntingdon County Fair, the Allentown Fair, and the Montgomery County Fair at Gaithersburg, Md. And, this isn't the first year he's been keeping this schedule, either. He started out about 37 or 38 years ago showing hogs, and making the fair circuit has been in his blood ever since.

In a recent interview, Bankert offered some informative insights into traveling on the show circuit - insights that fair spectators, and reporters, don't often consider.

First of all, Bankert says that, today, a showman has to exhibit several different breeds to "keep his head above water."

With the cost of gasoline, tires, and truck parts, a few animals in one breed just don't make enough money to cover expenses. And, of course, the trucks wear out eventually and new ones are needed.

Last year was Bankert's year to invest in a new vehicle, so he purchased a 31-foot double deck trailer as a portable home for his 45 to 60 hogs and 25 to 35 sheep he hauls to each show, depending on the amount of classes in those shows. That expense, of course, really cut into profits.

Bankert also noted that the sheep and hog breeders don't sell as much breeding stock as they used to.

"The old timers say...that they had nearly every animal sold after each show, and that they had to go home for a whole new string almost every time," explains Bankert, but that's not the story today.

"Now we don't sell as much stock as we used to," he admits. Bankert figures that the reason for the downward sales pattern of breeding stock is due to fewer and fewer farmers and producers visiting the fairs now that the one-time farm events are becoming more and more commercialized.

Preston Bankert, Red Lion R3, and his daughter Michele, prepare their champion Southdown for competition at the York Fair. Southdowns are only one of three sheep breeds Bankert shows, as well as four breeds of swine.

"It used to be that every farmer went to the county fairs," says Bankert, "but, I'd bet that now only about one per cent bother."

But even though the show circuit isn't a real big money maker for Bankert and his family, there are positive aspects that keep him at it year after year.

For one thing, it's in his blood, now.

He started out approximately 37 years ago with about 12 Hampshire swine when "one breed was all you needed." He had good stock, winning almost everything in that one breed. Then, as his expenses grew, he decided on another breed of swine - Yorkshire. Continuing in this pattern, the money from those top winnings was still not sufficent to pay for expenses, so he gradually built up his stock to include Southdown sheep, Hampshire sheep, Suffolks, Spotted Swine, and Landrace.

And while there may be little left-over money, there is still the satisfaction of showing animals that are top quality as well as earning a pile of ribbons to show for it.

"It's also a good opportunity to promote meat and wool," he noted.

Bankert's little daughter Michelle, who also shows sheep, has strung up an exhibit the length of her pens to tell non-farm consumers what it takes to raise and care for an animal as well as the products derived from each.

So, another generation of Bankerts is on its way to becoming avid circuit travelors. Most likely, if you're a sheep or swine enthusiast, you'll see someone from this family at one of the upcoming fairs this season.

LARGE ANIMAL DRESS REVUE

And, if the Montgomery County 4-H'ers weren't involved in horse contests, they were horsing around in others, which was proven by the large animal dress revue held for the first time at the fair.

"Chiquita," a mini-mule owned by Stephanie Jones of Schwenksville, captured the champion ribbon in that event.

"Chiquita" dressed as a Tahitian dancer, displayed her "dancing" talents and bowed to judges Velma Musser, Montgomery County home economist and Delores Shenkle, Collegeville, 4-H leader.

The costume class was open to any 4-H member owning a large animal project. The reserve champion award went to Dana Geyer, Harleysville, and her calf "AMY" decked out as a box of butter.

Receiving special showmanship awards were Beca and Tim Hunt of Gwynedd who, with their horses, were dressed as "Woodstock" and the "Red Baron".

Several other 4-H members who also received blue merit ribbons for their entires ranging from goats to sheep to poinies were: Ralph and Margaret Schoenly of Barto; Christy and Wendy Heffner of Palm; Paul and Ken Griffin of Green Lane; Ashley Jones of Schwenksville; David Novak of Collegeville; and Donna Geyer of Harleysville.

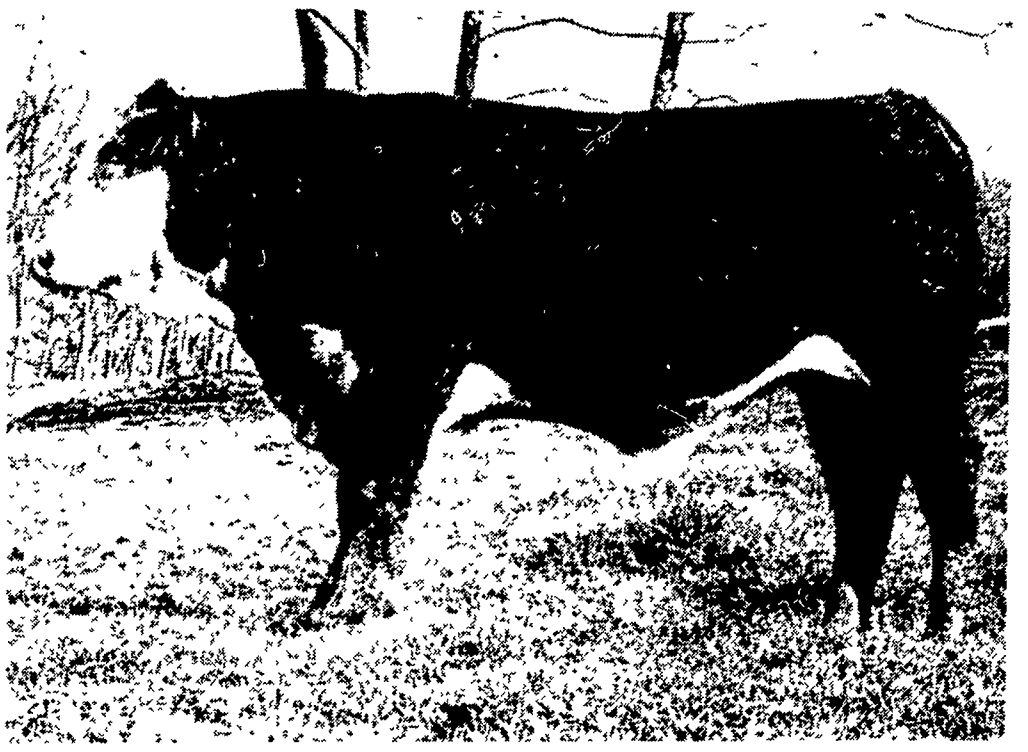
Pigeon Hill farm has top Hereford at the New York State Fair

ABBOTTSTOWN, Pa. - A Hereford bull bred and owned by Pidgeon Hill farm, Abbottstown R1, took the grand champion Hereford trophies on August 31 at the New York State Fair in Syracuse.

"P.H. Northern R.R. 46," the 1200-pound prizewinning bull was born in February, 1976. Earlier this year, he walked off with reserve champion honors in the Hereford Show at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. Bred from a line of champions, "46's" sire, "G.K. Big Northern 424E" was also a Farm Show winner, capping the top prize in both 1976 and 1976.

"The bull carried only one-tenth of an inch of backfat," notes Terry Shearer, farm manager of the Pidgeon Hills operation. "It's checked with sonaray and used at some of these shows as a judging criterion."

Another Hereford bull jointly owned by Pidgeon Hills farm and Blakely Farm, Charlestown, W. Va., was named grand champion over 130 head of Herefords at the West Virginia State Fair, Lewisburg, W.V., during the third week of August.



Grand champion honors at the New York State Fair went to this aged Hereford bull, bred and owned by Pidgeon Hills Farm, Abbottstown R1.

Pesticide deadline is near

LANCASTER - Commercial and private applicators of pesticides are reminded that time is running out for them to complete their certification in order to apply restricted use pesticides in the near future, states Arnold G. Lueck, Lancaster County Agricultural Agent.

Pennsylvania officials in charge of enforcement of the Pa. Pesticides Act have ruled that all pesticides bearing the skull and crossbones and the signal word–DANGEROUS - on the label will be considered as restricted use materials. In order to qualify to buy and use such pesticides both private and commercial applicators must become certified by passing an examination. October 1977, has been designated as the starting time for enforcement.

Commercial pesticide applicators will have the opportunity to take exams at the Farm and Home Center, Lancaster, On September 29 and again on October 13 and 27. Hours are 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon.

Private applicators will include most farmers who will be buying and using the restricted use materials in growing crops and raising livestock and poultry. Certification on a private basis involves self-study and taking the exam in the convenience of the home, stated Lueck.

Further information concerning certification and taking the required exams is available at the Cooperative Extension Service, 1383 Arcadia Road, Lancaster, phone 394-6851.

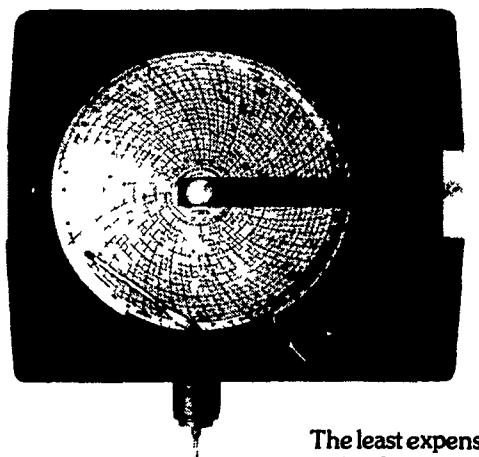
WHO'S MINDING THE MILK?



If you depend upon your milk check for a living, who's minding your milk?

The least expensive, one-shot insurance you can get is the Sentinel — the 10-inch recorder which charts temperature of your milk-cooling or holding tank. Here's what it provides:

- Permanent proof that proper temperature was maintained.
- Record of cooling equipment efficiency.
- Cleaning temperature recording on the same chart.

The Sentinel is also available with provision for actuating an alarm or warning light if pre-set temperature is exceeded.

Remember — if it prevents the loss of only one tank of product, the Sentinel has paid for itself. It minds your milk.

Summer farm labor down

HARRISBURG - Pennsylvania's farm labor force continued to show a decrease in hired workers this Summer, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service. The shift was reflected in a survey conducted during the week of July 10-16, 1977.

The total number of workers on farms in the commonwealth during the survey week was 162,000, a two per cent decline from the comparable survey week last year and 1,000 more than the survey week in 1975.

Family workers increased from 120,000 last year to 123,000 this Summer while hired workers declined from 45,000 to 39,000. This represents a three per cent increase in the family sector and a 13 per cent drop in the number of hired workers from July 1976. Field and livestock workers comprised 32,000 of the 39,000 hired farm workers this July.

The average workweek for Pennsylvania farm operators during the survey period was 42.5 hours. Other unpaid family workers averaged 34.3 hours and hired workers averaged 39.7 hours during the survey week.

Pennsylvania farm wage rates for all methods of pay converted to an hourly rate, averaged $2.40 per hour during the survey week, a seven cent per hour increase from last year's rate of $2.33. Field and livestock workers averaged $2.22, an increase of nine cents from the previous July.

Nationally, the total number of workers on farms July 10-16 was 5,045,500, a decrease of 392,600 from last July. Of that total, family workers and operators totaled 3,186,900, a decline of 187,800. Hired workers declined from 2,063,400 in 1976 to 1,858,600 this July.

U.S. farm wage rates for all methods of pay, converted to an hourly rate averaged $2.77 during the survey week. The average a year ago was $2.53. Hourly workers receiving only wages averaged $2.81 per hour compared to $2.52 a year earlier. Field and livestock workers averaged $2.56 an hour, up 19 cents from the previous July.

WHAT'S NEW

FLEX-AUGER

A system for conveying feed is now being offered by Brock Mfg., Inc. of Milford, Ind. The Brock Flex-Auger is a spring type auger which is centerless and made in one continuous piece. It will move feed up, down, on the level, or around corners. Adaptable to practically all buildings, the Flex-Auger delivery system can handle up to 2400 pounds of feed per hour and deliver it in fresh, dry, clean, condition. The system is ceiling suspended and requires no floor space.

The Brock Flex-Auger adapts well to hog feeding operations by delivering feed from the bin directly to feeders in the building. The drop assembly or single units can be installed in practically any position with the level of feed controlled by adjusting the height of the drop tube. Dairy feeding is more santitary with the Flex-Auger which delivers feed in closed tubes. The feed is handled and stored outside in weather and rodent proof bins.

Brock's Flex-Auger system is adaptable to poultry house use. Conveying tubes, mounted high out of the way, can supply feed to hoppers up to 250 feet away with one power source. The system, with a twin boot can adapt readily to multiple floor poultry houses. Accurately programmed feedings are possible over a 24-hour period with a time clock.

The championship in the Dorset breed was won by Margaret Herr, and David Huff, was awarded the reserve placing.

The open class Hampshire lightweight competition also saw some familiar 4-H competitiors. Pam Jefferis, Delta, placed first, with Chris Waltersdorff of York in second. Third was Linda Waltersdorff, York; fourth, David Huff, Lafayette Hill; fifth and sixth, John Janney of Brodbecks; seventh, Linda Waltersdorff, York; eighth and ninth, Susan Janney, Brodbecks; tenth, Judy Waltersdorff, York.

First place Hampshire heavyweight was exhibited by Christian Herr, Narvon. David Huff, Lafeyette, placed second, Sara Brubaker, Lancaster, was third and fourth, and Pan Jefferis of Delta placed fifth and sixth.

Christian Herr took the Hampshire championship, with David Huff capping the reserve award.

In the Shropshire lightweight division, Terry Floy, Red Lion placed first. Second and third slots were captured by Lisa Dobrosky, Glen Rock, with Mark Ebaugh of Delta in fourth place. Tom Jefferis, Delta, took first place in heavyweights; Terry Flory, Red Lion, was second and Marc Ebaugh, Delta, placed third.

Grand champion Shropshire honors went to Jim Jefferis, with Terry Flory third and fourth, and Pam pionship.

There was a small class of Oxfords, a new breed at the York Fair this year, according to sheep superintendent, Mrs. Richard M. Coons, Red Lion R3.

Susan Janney, Brodbecks, exhibited in the lightweight Oxford division, with David Bixler, Carlisle, showing in the heavyweight category.

Lisa Dobrosky, Glen Rock, took first place in the lightweight Southdown category, and then went on to take the championship as well. Sara Lau of Red Lion won reserve champion awards, and second and third place in the lightweight division.

Suffolk competition wound up in the afternoon sheep events. Troy Ness of Dallastown placed top in the lightweight division. Donna Arendt, Glen Rock, was second; third, Linda Ebaugh, Delta; fourth, Tim Flory, Red Lion; fifth, David Huff, Lafayette Hill; sixth, and Donna Arendt, Glen Rock.

Barbara Herr captured first and second place in the heavyweight Suffolk division, and the two animals went on to win the champion and reserve placings for the breed.

Third and fourth in heavyweight Suffolks was David Huff, Lafayette Hill. Fifth was Jim Jefferis, Delta; sixth, Troy Ness; seventh, Jim Jefferis, Delta; eighth, Erdenheim Farm, Lafayette Hill; ninth, Lisa Dobrosky, Glen Rock; tenth, Tim Flory, Red Lion; eleventh, Troy Ness; twelvth, Donna Arendt, Glen Rock.

The twelve animal team hitch, which had never worked together before, acted as if they had been pulling side by side for years, pulling straight and evenly, and performing a figure eight for the audience.

Skills tested in horse plowing contest

By KENDACE BORRY

SCHAEFFERSTOWN - Light horses, mules, ponies, and oxen were featured at the Horse Plowing Contest held September 10, at the Alexander Schaeffer Farm near Schaefferstown, Lebanon County, Pa. Five plowing contests, a log pulling contest, demonstrations of log jumping, and a twelve head hitch of horses and mules performed throughout the day. Also featured was a horse working a treadmill and a horse shoeing demonstration.

Classes included in the event were: two and three horse walking plow; two way walking plow; one horse walking plow; horse drawn gang plow; and pony plowing.

Judges for the event were Paul Flinchbaugh, Jonestown, chairman; John High, Myerstown; Ray Sattazahn, Wolmesdorf, and John R. Dubble, Lebanon. Announcer for the day was John Fadley, Somerset, Pa. The judges stated that this was the sixth year for the contest and, as far as they knew, the only one of its kind in the East. They thought the teams entered this year were good, as compared to other years, and although the ground conditions were fair, the soil was a little dry.

Top winners of the day were Everett Wagner, of Lancaster Co., and Jacob Mays, Lebanon Co., who both won two classes throughout the competition of plowing classes.

Other winners of the day included: Paul Waltermyer, Lebanon Co., one first; Richard Troutman, Lebanon Co., one first.; Worth Mc-

In the log pulling, speed and accuracy counted. Here a contestant is seen unhitching one log and hitching the next. This operation had to be repeated four times, with the best time and most accurately placed logs determining the winner.

In the single line 3-pony plowing contest, Richard Troutman, plows with ponies owned by Allan Mays. These ponies, the owner claimed, are used for plowing on the home farm and had plowed 15 acres in the past weeks.

Donald Neidigh, Lebanon, parades his pair of Texas Longhorn oxen over the grounds, demonstrating what the three year old animals can do.

USDA will publish nutritional guidelines

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Foreman recently announced at a press conference that the Department would publish proposed nutritional guidelines for the nation's school lunch program. While she did not go into specific guidelines to be recommended, one states: "Use no more than three eggs per week, per child as a meat/meat alternate or in food preparation."

Attempts during the past week to have this recommendation deleted or revised have been unsuccessful, according to James Fleming, vice president for government relations for the United Egg Producers.

"We were told by the Assistant Secretary's chief aide that Ms. Foreman felt very strongly about the Food and Nutrition Service's new guidelines, and that she was unwilling to make (the egg industry's) requested changes," Fleming said. "The Assistant Secretary was also reported to be very busy and unable to meet with industry representatives on the matter."

At the Sept. 6 press conference, neither cholesterol nor the three egg recommendation was mentioned. The emphasis was placed on recommended revisions in the meal size portions among various age groups of children. Five age groups will be covered, including the pre-school groups ages 1 and 2 in Group 1, and ages 3, 4 and 5 in Group 11. Group 111, ages 6-9 will receive smaller portions in the regular school lunch program; Group IV, ages 9-11, will receive normal portions, and Group V, ages 12 and up, will receive larger portions.

A prepared press release quoted Secretary Bergland: "These proposed regulations represent a major step in our efforts to help schools more adequately meet the nutritional needs of children and to reduce plate waste." It is estimated that 15 per cent of the current food served is wasted. More than 26 million students participate in school lunch daily.

Officials said they would instruct schools to keep sugars and fats low and to offer students unflavored lowfat, skim or buttermilk as an alternative to whole and flavored milk. They said they hoped the new lunch program, which includes recommendations for getting students and citizens involved with meal planning, would serve as an adequate competitor to "junk foods" which compete. However, they are supporting the "Case Amendment" which would outlaw convenience foods sold in public schools. Proposed rules designed to implement the new school lunch program were to be printed in the Federal Register this week, according to the Department. An exact date would not be stated. Following this publication, the public and intestered groups will have 45 days in which to comment on the proposal.

Ms. Foreman said "tentative guidelines" will be drafted following the public comment period and the "tentative" program will be field tested from January to April 1978. Recommendations from field tests will be considered and final rules will be announced prior to the start of the 1978-79 school year, she said.

N.Y. marketing program set

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Agricultural experts in New York will receive $127,000 to implement a direct farmer-to-consumer marketing program in the state, kicking off a nation-wide effort to reduce costs of food distribution, Congressman Fred Richmond (D-N.Y.) announced recently.

New York's allotment for direct marketing constitutes more than a quarter of the total funding of $500,000 by the USDA to establish such programs in six other states. Representative Richmond, chairman of the House Agriculture Subcommittee on Domestic Marketing, Consumer Relations and Nutrition, earlier this year convinced Appropriations Committee members to approve this initial funding for the program, the Farmer-to-Consumer Direct Marketing Act of 1976.

Richmond noted that the program will help farmers identify consumer groups that are interested in co-ops, farmers' markets and "pick-your-own" farms.

Horse plowing

Clure, Lancaster Co., one first; Raymond Smoker, Lancaster Co., two seconds; Aaron Mays, Lebanon Co., one second and one third, and Allen Mays, Lebanon Co., one second.

In the log pulling contest, each of the entrees had to pull, hitch, and unhitch four logs with a team of animals being judged on time and accuracy. Winner of the contest was Charles Linsey, Greencastle, with Aaron Mays placing second, and Jacob Mays taking third in the event.

According to the men participating in the day's activities a good team of mules today is worth approximately $3,000. They also expressed concern over having more young people learning the techniques of knowing how to work with a team of horses and mules.

A special feature of the afternoon was a twelve horse and mule team hitch which had never been worked together before. The animals worked smoothly together, pulling a disk behind them, performing well enough to perform a figure eight, a particularly difficult manuever with so many animals in a relatively small area. The twelve animal team was drivin in turn by Paul Waltermyer, and Allen Mays.

The twelve animals were controlled by two lines of reins which ran back to the driver and were used to make the animals stop on command. To turn the twelve horses and mules, the words gee and ha (pronounced haw) were used. Gee means turn right and haw means turn left.

Two oxen, owned by the Donald Neidigh family of Lebanon, pulled a sleigh over the grounds as another part of the program. The animals were Texas Longhorns, three years old, named Speck and Spot.

The hundreds of spectators which came to see the events lined the fields to watch the horses, mules, and ponies compete and get a close hand look at the way horse plowing is still done. In the plowing, the condition of the horse, control of the teams, penetration and width of the furrow, evenness and depth of the furrow, and straightness of the furrow all counted in determining the winners of the day.

Green Deeres steered clear

THE BUCK - John Deere 4010's were steered clear to victory on two occasions at the Buck Tractor Pulls last week when Coleman Wheatley and Dave Moore won the 5000 and 7000 pound super stock classes, respectively. Both tractors were operated by non-Pennsylvanians, as The Buck Tractor Pulls continues to draw interest from out-of-staters. The track will feature the 1977 PTPA State Championship Pull-Off today (Saturday), beginning at 2 p.m. Rain date is Oct. 1. Located 10 miles south of Lancaster along Route 272, The Buck is home to the only tractor pulling stadium in the country.

At last week's pulls, green John Deeres replaced the usual class winners, the green Deutzes driven by the Stauffer brothers of Lancaster County. Wheatley, of Bethel, Del., piloted his JD 4010 for a distance of 279 feet, one inch, beating the effort of Dale Smoker, Cochranville, by more than 30 feet. Smoker was driving an Allis-Chalmers 180. Third in the class was Carl Bomgardner of Annville with his IH 460.

Dave Moore of Kennedyville, Md. rode his John Deere for a distance of 292 feet, two inches, before the heavy sled brought it to a halt. Marlin Brubaker, Quarryville, placed second with his AC D-21 at 286-1. Wheatley was third at 271-11.

Results of other classes follow:

12,000 pound super stock

1. Tom Middleton, Ridgely, Md., IH 1066, 300; 2. Harry Griest, Coatesville, IH 1456, 280-4; 3. Robert Riggs, Brookville, Md., JD 4320, 278-11.

5000 pound modified

1. Curt Stoltz, Myerstown, 300; 2. Charles Brommer, Columbia. 291-8: 3. Garv Mills, Fallston, Md., 288-6.

9000 pound open

1. Galen Spickler, Elizabethtown, 290-6; 2. Lester Houck, Kinzer, 263-1; 3. Harry Griest, 257.

9000 pound super stock

1. Harry Griest, 250-10; 2. Tom Middleton, 248-10; 3. Marlin Brubaker, Quarryville, AC D-21, 247-6.

7000 pound modifier

1. Les Houck, 239-5; 2. Donald Landis, Berlin, 231-7; 3. Greg Manners, Ringoes, N.J., 230-1.

Poultry handbook offered

UNIVERSITY PARK - Diseases, the cause of most concern in the poultry business, may originate in a flock in three different ways, according to a new "Poultry Health Handbook" published by Penn State.

"Diseases are brought on the farm with new poultry, contamination as a result of carry-over from previous flocks, and are introduced by a lack of proper sanitation," said Dr. L. Dwight Schwartz, Penn State Extension veterinarian and author of the publication.

The handbook is designed to provide poultrymen, servicemen, fieldmen, and hatcherymen with a ready and accessible source of information about poultry diseases and other aspects of poultry health.

"The introductory section includes such information as sanitation, a list of reliable disinfectants, a vaccination program outline, and other facts useful for creating and maintaining sound poultry health programs," Dr. Schwartz points out.

Another section covers the respiratory diseases of poultry regardless of causative agent, but other sections deal with diseases caused by a particular type of agent - virus, bacteria, protozoa, or parasites. Still another section is devoted to miscellaneous poultry diseases.

The book may be purchased for $4.00 plus Pennsylvania sales tax. A person can make a check or money order payable to The Pennsylvania State University and send with name and address to Poultry Health Handbook, Box 6000, University Park, Pa. 16802.

WHAT'S NEW

CENTER PIVOT IRRIGATION SYSTEM

Utah Agricorp has introduced a center pivot irrigation system built specifically for the grower that has small fields or a limited water supply, ordinary single phase electricity, and low growing crops.

According to Ralph Jones, irrigation sales manager for Utah Agricorp, the electric drive center pivot is built especially for the grower that has only 220 volt single phase electricity available for electric power. Other features of the Utah center pivot are aluminum pipe used to reduce the weight per wheel, low power requirement, and low initial investment required to own an automated, low labor requirement center pivot irrigation system.

For further information, contact Ralph Jones at Utah Agricorp, P.O. Box 3369, Logan, Utah, 84321, (801) 752-9494.

Courses offered at Longwood Gardens

KENNETT SQUARE - Registrations are being accepted for three Short Courses offered by Longwood Gardens. Topics are "Needled Evergreens," "Growing Gesneraiads," and "Garden Ornaments and Their Use." Information is available from Short Courses, Longwood Gardens, Kennett Square, Pa., 19348.

"Needled Evergreens" (Section B) meets on Thursday evenings, beginning September 22, 29, October 6, 13, 20, and 27 from seven to nine p.m. William Thomas, Visitor Education Coordinator at Longwood, will introduce participants to 50 conifers useful in home landscapes. An optional outdoor session is scheduled for October 22, from 9:30-11:30 a.m. Students also have free admission to Longwood between classes for further study. The fee for the course is $30.

The fine points of African-violet and related plant culture will be presented in "Groving Gewneriads," a four-session course on October 5, 12, 19, and 26. The morning classes, Section A, meet from 9:30-11 a.m., while Section B meets in the evenings from 7:30-9 p.m. Elizabeth Varley, Longwood grower, will discuss the plants, their upkeep, and propagation.

The third course will be a two-session lecture taught by Everitt L. Miller, Assistant Director of Longwood. "Garden Ornaments and Their Use" will suggest ways to successfully combine ornaments in a garden setting. Illustrative examples have been selected from many different gardens. The course meets on October 6 and 13, from 9:30-11 a.m. The fee is $10.

To register, one should send name, address, and phone number, along with a check or money order made payable to Longwood Gardens, Inc., to Short Courses, Longwood Gardens, Kennett Square, Pa., 19348. A person should send a separate check for each course, and designate the course by title and (if applicable) by section. Registrations are accepted until one week before the class begins. For further information, telephone 215-388-6741, ext. 516.

Reducing program set

YORK - A Safe Slimming program has been developed by nutrition specialists of Penn State. The program is based on behavior modification rather than strict fad type diets.

Behavior modification means that one learns why and when one eats. Once this is done, a person can learn how to avoid these problem areas. Group participation also aids in this process.

Anyone interested in losing weight and willing to start a small diet group is invited to attend a series of training sessions of the use of this program. Leaders will be provided with materials needed for the safe slimming groups.

The training program will be held October 1, 12, 18, and 25 from 9:30 to 2:30 at the 4-H Center near Bair Station.

For more information and to register for the class, contact the Cooperative Extension Service at 717-848-3301 - Ext. 276.

MODERN 125 ACRE DAIRY FARM

SATURDAY, OCT. 1, 1977

1:00 P.M.

Located on the premises at Route 4 Lebanon, South Annville Township, Lebanon County, Penna. Farm is located along US Route 322 East of Fontana. Fontana is approx. 3 miles West of Route 72 and approx. 8 miles East of Hershey, Penna.

This is a highly productive, fertile dairy farm, with approx. 110 acres of tillable limestone soil, 11 acres of which are located on the North side of Route 322. The land contour is level to gentle rolling terrain.

Improvements include a large 2½ story house and large dairy barn along with other outbuildings and improvements.

2 story barn approx. 50' x 110' with 35 comfort stalls and Jamesway hydraulic shuttle gutter cleaner. To rear of barn is large heifer pen and in rear of barn is converted hog house presently used for calves with a second floor designed for chickens. Concrete barnyard with loading ramp and 60' feeding trough for cattle. Corner of barnyard has 22' x 22' open shed for cattle.

Block milkhouse attached to North side of barn with 500 gal. septic tank.

Lots of storage area on second floor of barn which includes a bulk feed bin for first floor. This barn was built new in 1950 with mostly oak construction with an asbestos shingle roof.

10' x 40' silo and 16' x 100' x 6' concrete floor trench silo.

40' x 22' 2 story corn shed with side cribs. Frame construction with a slate roof.

25' x 32' 2 story corn shed with an attached 3 bay implement shed.

40 ton metal corn crib. 1½ story storage shed.

Brick 2½ story brick house built in 1861. First floor features a large kitchen with plenty of cupboard space, paneled family room with toilet facilities, dining and living rooms with hardwood floors. Second floor has 4 large bedrooms and a full bath. House is heated by hand fired Weil-McClain hot water furnace with home heated on both floors. Water supplied by 80' well, storm windows on part of house plus many other features to be found in this lovely country farm house.

Attached to home is a 2 story 4 room summer house with old finished wood trim throughout which could be very easily converted into a second living unit.

Adjoining summer house is an 18' x 24' butcher house with furnace and next to this is a 9' x 9' smokehouse.

A large yard and garden area plus many other old features round out this opportunity to purchase a very nice modern dairy farm in the heart of the Lebanon Valley. This property must be seen to be appreciated. For inspection of property call Earl Funk at 867-1980 or Howard Schwenk at 867-1443.

Terms of the sale to be 10% down with the balance at settlement on or before December 31, 1977. Other conditions on sale day by attorney.
